Husky Indoor Practice Facility

The Washington athletic landscape will take on an impressive new look when the Husky Indoor Practice Facility is completed. The multipurpose building is one of several major new facilities that are currently being added to Washington's growing athletic village.

The Husky Indoor Practice Facility will provide Washington's student-athletes a year-round dedicated training center. A regulation-size artificial turf football field and surrounding track will highlight the building. A netting system will allow the field to be divided for multiple teams to work out simultaneously.

The addition of the Husky Indoor Practice Facility is one of several new venues for Washington's athletic teams. A complete renovation of Hec Edmundson Pavilion will increase the seating capacity from 8,000 to 10,000. The project will also overhaul the building's locker rooms, sports medicine facilities, men's varsity equipment room and concession and restroom areas. A new, two-story Hall of Fame will also be included in the building.

This fall the highly successful Washington men's and women's soccer teams will begin play on a new campus soccer field. Next spring the Husky baseball team will take up residence in a new complex adjacent to the soccer field. The next phase of the area will be the completion of stadiums with plans including seating for up to 3,500 in each facility and a common area that includes concession areas and restrooms. Both sites will have sweeping views of Lake Washington and Mt. Rainier.

Washington's famous Conibear Shellhouse will also undergo a renovation. The scenic lakefront building currently houses the Husky crew teams, the academic services area and the dining hall.

A budget of $56 million has been established to pursue these additions and improvements to Washington's athletic facilities over the next five years. A significant portion of the total will be raised through the Campaign for the Student-Athlete. Once completed, Washington's athletic village of offices, training facilities and competition sites will rank among the finest in the nation.

The 1997 University of Washington Football Media Guide was published by the Media Relations Office, Jim Daves, director. The guide was designed and edited by Jim Daves. Additional editorial contributions by Ryan Church, Sean Moore, Brian Tom, Richard Gonzales, Ryan Wilkerson, Jack Vines, Lisa Bridges and Stacy Nishihara. Special thanks to Karen Chave and Steve Rudman for previous research. This publication was produced entirely by using desktop publishing software and applications on an Apple Macintosh computer system. Printing by Publication Services, Judy Robertson coordinator. Campus photos are courtesy of the UW's Photographic Services' photographers. The media relations office extends its thanks to all members of past sports information staffs that have assisted in compiling information that is an integral part of this guide. Any corrections or additions to the media guide are welcome and should be directed in writing to Jim Daves.

The Cover

The exterior and interior covers were designed and produced by Pacific Trading Cards (Lynnwood, WA). Special thanks to President Michael Cramer, Mike Monson, Rob Hicks and designer Bryan Robinson. Artwork of the Washington players for the cover of this year's guide was provided by Ethan Janson, Frank Ragsdale, Michael Cramer and Joanie Komura. Inside back cover photos provided by UW information services.

Media Information

Fall Practice: Fall practice begins Wednesday, August 13. Practices will tentatively be held twice a day for the first two weeks at 9:25 a.m. and 3:55 p.m. Regular-season practice time is 3:00 p.m. Monday through Thursday. Practices are open to beat media. Video is restricted to the first 30 minutes of practice. Out-of-town media should contact media relations director Jim Daves about access. Media practice passes must be obtained from the Media Relations Office, Room 229, Graves Building.

Interview Policy: Contact the Media Relations Office for ALL interview requests. It is very helpful to have 24 hours notice so that the media relations staff will have ample time to make arrangements with players and coaches. Athletes are typically available before or after practice Monday through Thursday on a first-come, first-serve basis. Athletes are not available for interviews on Friday or on Saturday prior to a game.

Press Credentials: All credentials should be requested from Media Relations Director Jim Daves in writing. Requests should be made at least one week prior to the game. Credentials will be mailed if time permits. Credentials are generally mailed to the opponent SID the week before the game to distribute to visiting media covering the game. Credentials not mailed will be available on gameday from 9 a.m. until noon in the lobby of the Graves Building. After noon they will be left at Will Call at the west side of the stadium. Visiting media should make requests through the visiting Sports Information Director.

Parking: Limited press parking is located in areas designated N-24, E-11 and C-21. The E-11 lot is located on the northwest perimeter of the stadium. The C-21 lot is an underground garage located due west from Husky Stadium, directly across Montlake Boulevard. Parking passes should be requested through the Media Relations Office. Visiting media should make parking requests through the visiting Sports Information Director.

Photographers: Photo passes are available for accredited news media. They should be ordered in the same manner as press credentials. Visiting media should make requests through the visiting Sports Information Director. Photographers may work from the sidelines in accordance with NCAA rules. In no case may a photographer shoot from in front of either team's bench. No tripods are allowed on the field. Passes should be worn in plain sight. Armbands must be picked up prior to kickoff by showing a photo credential at the table located in the west end zone. Failure to adhere to these regulations, or any interference with play, is reason for expulsion. A box lunch will be served to photographers during halftime at the credential table in the west end zone. Freelance photographers will be subject to University licensing regulations for any images portraying Washington student-athletes and registered trademarks.

Press Box Elevator: The press box elevator is located on the lower level of the south side of Husky Stadium. The elevator is used by members of both teams' coaching staffs, media representatives and a limited amount of fans who require an elevator pass. Only accredited media will be allowed access to the elevator and press box. Please arrive at least 90 minutes before kickoff to assure your arrival at the press area well before game time. Media members do have priority elevator use, so be sure to indicate to the elevator attendant that you are a credentialed member of the media.

Services: Quarterly play-by-play accounts, computerized halftime and final statistics, scoring summaries and coaches' quotes will be distributed in the press box, in the postgame interview area and in the Don James Center media workroom following the end of the game. Play-by-play information, statistics, injury updates, etc., will be reported over the internal press box public address system. A light lunch will be served prior to kickoff and at halftime.

Telephones: The Media Relations Department has two telephone lines installed in the press box (543-2230 and 543-2231). These lines are intended for Media Relations use only. If media members require telephones, please call Pat Jones of the University of Washington Telecommunications Department at (206) 543-0133. The Telecommunications Department will arrange to install phone lines at your expense.

Husky Stadium: Husky Stadium is located five miles north of downtown Seattle and approximately 30 minutes north of Sea-Tac Airport. To get to the stadium from downtown Seattle, take I-5 North and take the 520 East (Bellevue/Kirkland) Exit. Take the Montlake Exit and turn left at the stoplight. Husky Stadium is located off Montlake Boulevard, on the right side of the street. Traffic conditions can become congested prior to gametime and media are advised to arrive at Husky Stadium early.

Professional Football Scout Tickets: Professional football scouts should contact the Husky Media Relations Office (543-2230) to purchase tickets for scouting purposes. Pac-10 policy does not permit professional football scouts to be credentialed.

Internet Site: <http://www.washington.edu/huskysports>

Postgame Interviews: The elevator will leave the press box level with eight and four minutes remaining in the game for all members of the media wishing to go to the interview area. The elevator will leave again immediately following the end of the game. Media Relations personnel will escort the media to the interview room (assembly room, stadium tunnel) and will bring athletes to the interview room by request. The visiting Sports Information Director determines postgame interview procedure for the visiting locker room. An overflow lockerroom located near the visiting team lockerroom is used for media interviews.

Postgame Media Work Area: Media members may work in the press box following games, but are advised to use the Don James Center (2nd level, north stands) for filing purposes. The Don James Center is enclosed with plenty of work space, phones to use for filing, restroom facilities and soft drinks are available. Final statistics and coach and player quotes will be available in the work area.

Mondays with Coach Lambright: Coach Jim Lambright holds a press conference each Monday at mid-morning during the season in the Don James Center, beginning Monday, Sept. 1. Every attempt will be made to have the opposing coach available via teleconference hookup prior to Lambright's comments. All members of the media are invited to attend these weekly conferences. The press conference can also be accessed by teleconference. Call the media relations office to acquire the phone number for the teleconference.

NCAA Guidelines and the Media

Media members should be aware of several NCAA rules that apply to student-athletes. If there is ever a question if any media-related activity or event including a Washington student-athlete could be a possible NCAA violation, contact sports information director Jim Daves for an interpretation. Areas of concern include:

- Coaches and University officials cannot make comments on prospective student-athletes until they sign a national letter of intent. A coach cannot comment on a prospective student-athlete who verbally commits to an institution.
- Student-athletes are not allowed to write "Diary" columns for print publications.
- Coaches and athletic staff are not permitted to write guest columns for publications.
- Student-athletes are not permitted to film or video "Diary" stories for broadcast.
- Do not ask student-athletes to list or endorse products.
- Photographers cannot provide student-athletes with photographs or slides. The media relations office offers a similar service for student-athletes to purchase photographs.
- Student-athletes may not be used in advertisements or endorsements of products, including media-related publications.
- Student-athletes are not permitted to conduct interviews for 1-900 services.

HUSKY TRADITION

With four Pac-10 titles, three Rose Bowl appearances and a national championship, Washington has established itself as the preeminent college football program in the west during the decade of the '90s. The Huskies won Pac-10 championships outright in 1990 and 1991 and shared the crown in 1992 and 1995.

Washington's 61-20-1 record (.750) ranks 12th among Division I-A programs and tops among Pac-10 schools. Washington's 43-12-1 league record since 1990 is also the best in the Pac-10.

Washington football is as popular as ever in the Pacific Northwest. Last season the Huskies averaged 71,269 fans per game to rank 12th in the nation in attendance. Washington's average home attendance was 6,909 more than the next highest Pac-10 program. With 67,000 season tickets, Washington has more season ticket holders than the Seattle Mariners, Seahawks and Sonics combined.

Husky players have received numerous awards so far in the '90s. Steve Emtman was named the Lombardi and Outland Trophy winner in 1991 and went on to be the top pick in the NFL draft. Four Huskies, Emtman, Mario Bailey, Lincoln Kennedy and Lawyer Milloy were unanimous All-America selections. A total of 10 Washington players have been named to at least one first-team All-America squad. Washington's 35 first-team all-Pac-10 selections is the most among any league school.

Greg Lewis, Steve Emtman (twice), Mario Bailey, Dave Hoffmann, Napoleon Kaufman and Jason Chorak have all earned Pac-10 player of the year honors this decade. Husky players have won the league's Morris Award three times on offense and three times on defense.

Teams from the NFL have drafted 40 Huskies since 1990, including six first-round picks. In 1995 Washington had six former quarterbacks on NFL rosters, the most of any college program.

The Huskies have also excelled academically. Ten Washington players have received Academic All-America or regional Academic All-America honors this decade. Ed Cunningham was awarded an NCAA postgraduate scholarship in 1991 and Dave Janoski received one in 1996. Jim Nevelle received a National Football Foundation Scholar-Athlete Award scholarship in 1993.

The Huskies enter the 1997 season ranked 17th among NCAA schools in total victories with 585. Washington's all-time winning percentage of .638 is the 13th best mark among active programs. Washington's success is not limited to the decade of the '90s. The Husky program has a rich history and it can be traced back to a strong founding father — a trait common to many of today's top college programs.

What would Michigan have been without Fielding Yost? Imagine Notre Dame if Knute Rockne had actually decided to pursue chemistry instead of the backfield shift. Where would USC be without Howard Jones? The list goes on.

It takes more than a legendary coach to foster success. Outstanding players, dramatic victories, a pinch of luck and the ability to overcome adversity, all fit into the formula.

Washington was unbeatable when Gil Dobie was the head football success of coach. He never lost a contest in his 61-game career at Washington football program can be traced back to one man — Gil Dobie. In the history of sports, Dobie accomplished something at Washington that is truly astonishing. During his nine-year stint as the head coach, Dobie never lost a game. Three times opponents managed to tie the Sun Dodgers (as the Huskies were known at the time), but no team ever pinned a loss on one of Dobie's squads. Washington's teams of that era ran off a streak of 63 games without tasting defeat. That record still stands in the NCAA record books as the all-time unbeaten streak. It is hard to imagine it will ever be surpassed.

Dobie established a tradition that kept rolling for the next three decades. Between the time he headed up the program in 1908, until 1941, the Huskies produced a 194-68-18 record — a winning percentage of .725.

It took a World War to slow down Washington's success on the football field. From 1942 to 1956 the Huskies could only manage a 65-68-7 (.489) record and never won the Pacific Coast Conference Championship. Since 1957, only three men have directed Washington's football program. One is credited with reestablishing the Huskies as a West Coast power. One directed Washington to its first national championship. The third has been associated with the program for over 30 years as a player, assistant coach and head coach.

Winning is only one part of Washington's football tradition. There have been many colorful characters and eventful games played since the first contest on Nov. 28, 1889 at 2:30 in the afternoon before 400 spectators at the old Jackson Street Park.

By 1903 Washington had won its first Pacific Coast Championship and, the following season, the team began to draw the attention of the traditional football powers.

In a showdown with California, the best West Coast team at the time, the Golden Bears made the suggestion to shorten the periods to make it easier on Washington. That thought only served to motivate the Huskies to a 6-6 tie. While not a victory, it served notice another school was ready to join the elite programs of the time. And it was Gil Dobie who put Washington there.

Prior to the 1920s, college football's top teams were principally located along the Eastern Seaboard. But it was during the roaring '20s that stars began to emerge in the nation's heartland and on the West Coast. Knute Rockne built Notre Dame into a national juggernaut. Red Grange was a sensation at Illinois and Stanford had a standout running back named Ernie Nevers. Washington was also producing its first superstar — George Wilson.

Without an outpouring of national attention, Wilson was selected to the same All-America backfield as Grange and Nevers in 1925. It was a sportswriter named Grantland Rice who took notice of Wilson and selected him to the same Collier's Magazine squad as the more-heralded players.

Wilson was the one who led Washington to a 22-0 victory against USC in the first meeting with the Trojans. He also guided the Huskies to Washington's first Rose Bowl appearance. And, it was Wilson who led Washington to a 13-0 win against Nevers and Stanford in 1925 before a record crowd of 35,000.

Wilson was the first in a long line of outstanding Washington players. Take a look at today's NFL rosters and you'll find only a handful of schools that have produced more professional players. Through the years, Washington's rosters have been littered with All-Americans, All-Coast performers and All-Pac-10 picks.

"70,000 screaming, yelling and stomping — that crowd was probably the biggest difference. The acoustics here are amazing, a huge factor. I've been around C-130 transports a lot, and this almost felt like I was on a runway."

What do the names Warren Moon, Steve Pelluer, Hugh Millen, Chris Chandler and Cary Conklin have in common? They are all former Husky signal callers who went on to excel in the NFL.

Then there's the legends like Don Heinrich and Sonny Sixkiller — players who captivated an entire region of the country with their Saturday afternoon exploits. The list goes on and on.

Great games? Washington has played in plenty. There have been 24 bowl game appearances over the years, including 14 in Don James' 18-year tenure at Washington. The Huskies have made 13 showings in the "Grand Daddy of them all" — the Rose Bowl.

The 1960 affair in Pasadena is considered a major turning point in Washington's history. Resurrected under Jim Owens' supervision, Washington's "Purple Gang" won the league title and the unenviable task of facing sixth-ranked Wisconsin in the Rose Bowl. Considered underdogs, the Huskies pinned a 44-8 thrashing on the Badgers. That victory also signaled a switch from the Big Ten's dominance at the annual event.

A decade later an untested sophomore named Sixkiller guided Washington to a surprisingly easy 42-16 victory against Michigan State and went on to etch his name in the Huskies' record books and into the hearts of their fans.

Warren Moon was on hand when the Huskies did the impossible, rallying from a 27-14 deficit with 3:01 to play and Washington State on the doorstep of Washington's endzone to steal a victory in the always-exciting Apple Cup series.

Then, as a senior, Moon led Washington to its first Rose Bowl win in 14 years, again beating the Wolverines.

There was Steve Pelluer hitting eight consecutive passes to rally Washington from 14 points down in the fourth quarter to defeat Michigan 25-24 in 1983 at Husky Stadium. Husky fans will never forget the memorable 1985 Orange Bowl when Washington benefited from a penalty as a result of Oklahoma's Sooner Schooner Conestoga wagon appearing on the field prematurely. The Huskies turned the game around with 14 straight points and a 28-17 victory.

Fans on hand to see Washington's fired-up defense blank USC 31-0 in 1990 will always remember the fever pitch of Husky football that fateful Saturday afternoon in Seattle.

Then there is the entire 1991 season. That year Washington fielded one of the greatest teams in the history of West Coast football. The Huskies went 12-0 and were named national champions.

In 1992, the Huskies ran a winning streak to 22 games and established a school-record 17-game home winning streak in the process.

And consider this, Washington is one of just three teams to have reeled off consecutive winning seasons for the last 20 years. That type of consistent effort on the field has been a trademark of Husky teams.

In 1993, Jim Lambright became the man to continue Washington's winning tradition. He's been a part of the Huskies' winning legacy as an all-coast player, a renowned assistant coach for 24 years, and now as the head coach.

Washington football has another unique element — Husky Stadium. Where else in the country can you boat to a game and have your tailgate party near the shores of Union Bay. Fans can sit in a stadium seat and view Seattle's skyline, Lake Washington or Mt. Rainier.

With a capacity of 72,500, Husky Stadium is also one of the loudest arenas in the nation. Nearly 70 percent of the seats in the dual-deck structure are located between the endzones. Just how intimidating can it be for an opponent?

An ESPN sideline crew registered crowd noise readings of 135 decibels during the 1992 Nebraska game.

Washington's football program has come a long way since its early playing days on the rocky confines of Denny Field. The Husky program is steeped in tradition and history, of colorful figures and courageous exploits. None of it has come easy. But thanks to the dedication of the young men who have donned a Washington uniform, Husky football has become a special part of America's favorite fall pastime.

Warren Moon and Mark Brunnell are two of the many Husky quarterbacks who have gone on to have successful careers in the NFL.

Husky Historical

Here's a look at some of the more interesting aspects of the University of Washington, its athletic history and the Huskies' proud football tradition.

APPLE CUP — The annual battle between Washington and cross-state rival Washington State is known as the Apple Cup. It's interesting to note that, unlike Lord Stanley's Cup, the Apple Cup is not actually a cup. For a look at the history of the series, see page 288 of this guide.

ADDRESSES — Believe it or not, there ARE addresses for Husky Stadium and Hec Edmundson Pavilion. While the University uses a box system for mailing, the exact addresses are: Husky Stadium — 3800 Montlake Boulevard NE & Hec Edmundson Pavilion — 3870 Montlake Boulevard NE.

ASTRO TURF — Washington became the first major college in the country to use AstroTurf as an outdoor surface, covering its stadium in the summer of 1968 when it replaced its old sod field with the new synthetic surface at a cost of $300,000. The advantages of the new surface were said to be a reduction in the number of injuries because of the uniformity of the surface and the fact that the turf would be unharmed by rain. The fifth AstroTurf surface was installed in Husky Stadium during the summer of 1995.

ATTENDANCE — With a capacity of 72,500, Husky Stadium ranks as one of the largest college football venues in the country. Last year Washington ranked 12th nationally in attendance with a total gate of 427,611 and an average of 71,269 per game. The largest crowd for a game at Husky Stadium was 76,125 that turned out for the Army game in 1995. The Huskies have over 67,000 season tickets sold for the 1997 season.

BAND DAY — Band Day is held annually at a Husky home football game. A number of high school bands from across the state participate in the activities. Each band is introduced and plays a tune during pre-game warmups. The high school bands then join the Husky Marching Band for the playing of the national anthem and a halftime show. Band Day is scheduled for the Arizona State game this year on Oct. 4. Band Day originated during the 1950 season.

The Apple Cup Trophy

Husky letterwinners take part in the annual homecoming activities by forming the "Blanket Parade" on the field after the halftime ceremonies.

BAND JAM — Husky fans can get a head start on the Husky Marching Band's halftime performance prior to the start of every home game. The Husky band puts on a "Band Jam" in Hec Edmundson Pavilion one and one half hours prior to kickoff.

BIG W — The Big W Alumni Club is a special interest group of the UW Alumni Association consisting of Husky letterwinners that have completed their athletic eligibility.

BISSELL — For 24 years the Husky Band program was under the guidance of Bill Bissell until he retired in June, 1993. He was responsible for the coordination and direction of all phases of the Husky band and rally squad programs, and the choreography of the colorful halftime shows at all Husky home games. As long as Bissell was leading the Husky Band, you could count on hearing a few renditions of "Louie, Louie" and "Tequila." He was also one of the great showmen among college band directors. Husky football fans watched Bissell's bands recreate the Mount St. Helens eruption, stage horse races and wear outrageous costumes. Bissell, along with former Husky cheerleader Rob Weller, are credited with creating "The Wave" (see The Wave).

BLANKET DRIVE — Part of the festivities at Washington's annual Homecoming Game is the Blanket Drive coordinated by the Big "W" Alumni Club. Last year's effort raised over $19,000 and 10,000 blankets for St. Vincent de Paul Society. The UW Alumni Association earned a silver award from the Council for Advancement and Support of Education for the outstanding public relations effort in promoting the drive.

BLANKET PARADE — Part of the annual homecoming activities at Husky Stadium is the Blanket Parade following the Husky Marching Band's halftime show. Former Husky letterwinners, are allowed onto the field to form a tunnel for the Huskies as they return to the field. Many letterwinners bring along their letter blankets for the activity.

BOB ABEL — Although Washington lost its Husky Stadium dedication game to Dartmouth 28-7 on Nov. 27, 1920, Bob Abel holds the distinction of scoring the first touchdown in the new facility. He grabbed a blocked Dartmouth field goal attempt and raced 63 yards for the score.

BOW DOWN TO WASHINGTON — Washington's fight song 'Bow Down to Washington' was written by Lester Wilson in 1913. Following are the lyrics to the tune, which Husky students and alumni proudly sing at Husky sporting events.

Bow Down to Washington,
Bow Down to Washington,
Mighty Are the Men
Who Wear the Purple and the Gold,
Joyfully We Welcome Them
Within the Victors Fold.
We Will Carve Their Names
In the Hall of Fame
To Preserve the Memory of Our Devotion.
Heaven Help the Foes of Washington;
They're Trembling at the Feet
Of Mighty Washington,
The Boys Are There With Bells,
Their Fighting Blood Excels,
It's Harder to Push Them Over the Line
Than Pass the Dardanelles.
Victory the Cry of Washington...
Leather Lungs Together
With a Rah! Rah! Rah!
And O'er the Land
Our Loyal Band
Will Sing the Glory
Of Washington Forever.

Each season the team's inspirational message is painted above the hallway that leads from the lockerroom to the main stadium tunnel. Only team members know the meaning behind the abbreviation.

BRUCE LEE — While Washington has many alumni who are famous for their athletic exploits, there are also some who have gained fame in the entertainment industry. Among them is martial arts legend and movie star Bruce Lee. The movie "Dragon", which chronicled Lee's life, premiered in Seattle during the spring of 1993.

CANADIANS — Vancouver native Jerome Pathon has the chance to leave a better mark on the Husky program than some of his countrymen did several years ago. In February 1992, engineering students from the University of British Columbia broke into the Graves Building trophy case after hours and removed the 1992 Rose Bowl trophy. After two days of confusion by UW officials and campus police, the trophy turned up north of the border at a party to celebrate the completion of the UBC engineering department's initiation week. The students completed the prank as a part of initiation procedures. The trophy was returned to the university soon after and is now located in a new trophy area in the lobby of the Graves Building. The new trophy case is considered to be "Canadian-proof."

THE CANDIDATE — In the race for postseason football honors, Lincoln Kennedy had timing on his side in 1992. Not only did the Husky All-American offensive tackle share the names of two former presidents, his senior season also came during a Presidential election year. His promotional slogan was, "Could There be a Better Candidate? Lincoln Kennedy for All-American."

CAPTAIN HUSKY — While King Redoubt roams the sidelines as Washington's official mascot, you don't have to go any further than the west (enclosed) endzone to find the Huskies' "unofficial" mascot — Captain Husky. Decked in a purple aviator cap, a full cape and loaded with plenty of props, Captain Husky keeps fans in the "Fun Zone" entertained and into the spirit of the game.

In real life Captain Husky is Barry Erickson, who works in marketing in Seattle.

CENTENNIAL SQUAD — Washington celebrated 100 years of Husky football during the 1990 season. A Washington centennial team was selected by alumni, members of the media and long-time season ticket holders. Here is that team:

Offense

WR	Paul Skansi	'79-82
WR	Lonzell Hill	'83-86
OG	Max Starceovich	'34-36
OG	Chuck Allen	'58-59

CHIEF JOSEPH — On November 20, 1903, Chief Joseph, the famous Nez Perce Indian, made his first visit to Seattle and attended the Washington-Nevada football game. Chief Joseph spent most of the game on the sidelines smoking a cigar. Asked his impressions of the game, which Washington won 2-0, he said, "I saw a lot of white men almost fight today. I do not think this good. This may be all right, but I believe it is not. I feel pleased that Washington won the game. Those men I should think would break their legs and arms, but they did not get mad. I had a good time at the game with my white friends."

CLASSES — Autumn quarter classes at the University of Washington begin Monday, September 29, 1997. The last day of instruction is Wednesday, December 10, with finals being conducted December 11-18.

THE COLLAPSE — No, this does not refer to a team blowing a lead or a late-season failure. The collapse remembered by most people associated with Washington athletics occurred February 25, 1987 during construction of the second deck of the north grandstand at Husky Stadium. The first partially completed section (only about 50 feet wide) toppled because of construction site errors, not stadium design, but no one was injured in the accident. The project, however, was still completed in time for the opening game of the 1987 season.

DAWG BITE — Dawg Bite, the final event of Homecoming Week, is a rain-proof tailgate party held in Hec Edmundson Pavilion prior to the football game. The pre-game Homecoming rally and foodfest, sponsored by the Alumni Association is complete with refreshments, entertainment and UW personalities. This year, Dawg Bite is scheduled for Nov. 8, prior to the Oregon contest. Doors open 2 1/2 hours before kickoff.

DAWG DASH — The Dawg Dash Fun Run and Walk, now in its 12th year, kicks off Husky Homecoming Week. The 6k run winds through the University campus and ends in Hec Edmundson Pavilion. The race is sponsored by the Alumni Association. This year's race is scheduled for Sunday, Nov. 2

DAWG TAGS — Husky fans now can show their school spirit and help students by purchasing new University of Washington License Plates. The new plates feature the official "UW" and the new Husky logo. Of the $30 annual fee for every plate sold, $28 will go to the University of Washington student scholarship fund. For more information, contact your local Vehicle Licensing Agent.

Denny Field was the original campus site for Husky football. The field still exists today on the Washington campus.

DEDICATION GAME—Washington dedicated Husky Stadium on Nov. 27, 1920 against Dartmouth. The Green came away with a 28-7 victory. Interestingly, it marked the fifth time Dartmouth participated in a stadium dedication game.

DENNY FIELD — Washington's only other on-campus stadium site for football was Denny Field, located in the north section of campus near 45th street. Denny Field is occupied today by a grass field and tennis, volleyball and basketball courts for student use. The area is bordered by Hutchinson Hall to the south and dormitories to the north and east.

ENDOWMENT I — When Warren Moon returned to Husky Stadium on August 20, 1994, with the Minnesota Vikings to play against the Seattle Seahawks in a pre-season NFL game, the former Husky quarterback left a mark with the program that will be forever remembered and greatly appreciated. At halftime of the game, Moon presented Washington athletic director Barbara Hedges with a pledge of $150,000 for an endowed scholarship in his name to benefit the Washington football program. A Husky Hall of Fame member since 1984, Moon's next Hall of Fame stop may be in Canton, Ohio where the NFL honors its own all-time greats.

ENDOWMENT II — In 1992 a group of 10 former Washington football players pooled their resources to form the UW Professional Athlete Athletic Scholarship Team. The program is designed to provide UW academic scholarships for inner city high school students in the Seattle and Tacoma area through the University's Office of Minority Affairs. The players involved in the program were: Mario Bailey (Memphis, CFL); Chris Chandler (Houston Oilers); Ed Cunningham (Arizona Cardinals); Donald Jones and Charles Mincy (Minnesota Vikings); Siupeli Malamala (New York Jets); Le-Lo Lang (Buffalo Bills); Greg Lewis (retired); Jeff Pahukoa (Atlanta Falcons) and Aaron Pierce (New York Giants).

FIFTH QUARTER — The fifth quarter is a post-game gathering of contributors in the Hec-Edmundson Pavilion Addition. About 800 to 900 contributors gather for some post-game tailgating that includes the band, a raffle and comments from head coach Jim Lambright.

THE FIRST GAME — Washington won its first football game on December 17, 1892, beating the Seattle Athletic Club 14-0 at Madison Park. J. Harvard Darlington played quarterback, and Frank Atkins, the team's fullback, scored the first touchdown in school history on a five-yard run in the second quarter. Atkins was probably Washington's best all-around athlete. In addition to playing football, Atkins set a number of UW track and field records, including triple jump (41-10), pole vault (7-6 1/2) and high jump (5-1 1/2).

THE FIRST SELLOUT — Washington's first-ever sellout (21,500) at Husky Stadium came October 20, 1923 when the Huskies played Southern California for the first time. As a result of Husky fans snapping up all available tickets, the Seattle P-I's radio station, KFJC, arranged for the first radio broadcast of a UW game. Washington won the game 22-0 as George Wilson scored a touchdown and set up another with a 72-yard kick return.

GIL DOBIE — Legend has it that Gil Dobie, who coached the Huskies to a 58-0-3 record between 1908-1916, was one of the most tyrannical and pessimistic coaches to ever stalk a sideline. It seems everyone, except his players, had a dislike for Dobie's less-than-optimistic attitude. But to Dobie's credit, that pessimism was very calculated. Once, after one of his players had scampered 90 yards for a touchdown, Dobie told the would-be hero, "If you were any good at all you would do it more often."

GOODWIN — The first full-time football coach at Washington was W.B. Goodwin. He took on the task in 1892. Not only was he the first football coach at Washington, he was the first coach for any athletic team at the school. Goodwin was a member of the Eastern College Alumni team that faced Washington in its inaugural game in 1889.

GOVERNOR'S TROPHY — Before they battled for the Apple Cup, starting in 1962, players from Washington and Washington State played for a different trophy in the early years of the series. The Governor's Trophy was originally presented to the victorious team in the annual showdown. The trophy was usually presented by the state's governor — hence the name Governor's Trophy. Lost for decades, it turned up in the fall of 1995 in a Seattle sports memorabilia store. The owners had bought it from a scrap pile that was about to be melted down.

The Governor's Trophy

HAIRBREATH HUSKY — When Seattle Post-Intelligencer artist Bob McCausland first began a Washington football cartoon in 1959, his main character didn't have a name, walked on all fours and looked a little ferocious. That soon changed as his main character, the skinny, upright Hairbreath Husky sporting a booster hat and a large letterman's jacket appeared each week during the football season for the next 22 years. The newspaper carried two Hairbreath cartoons weekly, one before and one after each game. Those cartoons were enjoyed by coaches, team members, fans and even opposing teams until 1981 when the P-I stopped carrying Hairbreath Husky. A collection including 240 of McCausland's best cartoon were published in a 1982 book entitled "Hairbreath Husky."

HALL OF FAME — While Washington does have a Husky Hall of Fame to salute its former student-athletes, a number of Huskies have been inducted into the State's Sports Hall of Fame. The Tacoma Athletic Commission established the State of Washington Sports Hall of Fame in the early 1960s. Membership plaques are displayed in the Tacoma Dome Shanaman Sports Museum. Here's a list of the Husky football players and coaches who have been inducted: Chuck Allen, Enoch Bagshaw, Herman Brix, Jimmie Cain, Chuck Carroll, Gil Dobie, Ray Frankowski, Don Heinrich, Ray Mansfield, Vic Markov, Hugh McElhenny, Paul Schwegler and Jim Owens.

HEC EDMUNDSON PAVILION — Situated just north of Husky Stadium is Hec Edmundson Pavilion, built in 1927, just seven years after the completion of the stadium. The venerable fieldhouse is home to Husky men's and women's basketball, and features an indoor track, field event practice areas, batting cages, a gymnastics training room, weight room, racquet ball courts and the Husky Pool. Hec Edmundson Pavilion was host to the 1949 and 1952 Final Fours.

THE HELMETS — The Huskies wear an all-purple helmet with a gold Block W on both sides. Head coach Jim Lambright made the switch from gold to purple helmets for the 1995 season. He wore a plain purple helmet during his playing days at Washington in the early 1960's and felt that the purple helmets amplify the purple theme in Husky football.

HOMEcoming — Washington will play host to Oregon in this year's Homecoming game Nov. 8. The Huskies all-time Homecoming record stands at 43-35-5. The Huskies defeated Oregon State 42-3 in last year's homecoming contest. The team the Huskies have played most often in the Homecoming game is California. The two teams have met 19 times.

HOME FIELD — Washington's football teams have played at nine different sites in and around Seattle during the 104 years of Husky football before landing permanently in Husky Stadium. Those locations include: 1.) 14th and Jefferson; 2.) 18th and Jackson; 3.) at the old downtown campus where the Metropolitan Theater used to be; 4.) Downtown on Howell Street where the Manhattan Apartments used to be; 5.) In West Seattle; 6.) In Madison Park at the end of the old Madison Street street-car line; 7.) At a YMCA Park that used to be on Jefferson Street; 8.) At a former recreation park in north Seattle; 9.) At Denny Field on the UW campus. When the campus was downtown, the team's practice field was where the Four Seasons Olympic Hotel now stands.

THE HUB — The HUB, which stands for Husky Union Building, is Washington's student union. It is a social, cultural, recreational and service center for students and the University community with dining facilities, University Book Store branch, auditorium, bank branch, ticket office, offices for student organizations, barber shop, meeting rooms, lounges, microcomputer laboratory, ballroom and game rooms.

HUSKIES — The University officially accepted the nickname Huskies for its athletic teams on Feb. 3, 1922. The announcement was made at halftime of the Washington-Washington State basketball game. The nickname was selected by a joint committee of students, coaches, faculty, alumni and businessmen. The old name of "Sun Dodgers" was found unsuited when it met with disapproval of fans and students alike. The name "Huskies" was presented at halftime by football captain-elect Robert Ingram. When Ingram made his speech, large white placards were hoisted in the rooster's section occupied by varsity letterwinners displaying the slogans "The Husky stands for—fight and tenacity—character and courage—endurance and willingness." Other suggested nicknames were Wolves, Malamutes, Tyeys, Vikings, Northmen and Olympics. (Also see Vikings and Sun Dodgers)

HUSKIES-COUGARS — It's hard to believe, but there are six known players who suited up for both Washington and Washington State. Call them Couskies. The six — Jay Stoves, Bill Ward, Tag Christensen, Verne Oliver, Wally Kramer, and Al Akins — all began their college careers at Washington State. During World War II the Navy and Marines transferred their new enlistees to Washington for the equivalent of officer candidate training. Washington State's football program, already depleted by military call-ups, was suspended until 1945. Those events saw those six playing for the Huskies in 1943, after donning the Crimson and Gray of WSU the previous season. Washington went on to the Rose Bowl that season with Akins starting in the backfield, but lost to USC 29-0.

HUSKY HELMET CAR — After every Washington score the Husky Helmet Car makes a parade lap on the track surrounding the field. The Husky Helmet Car is seen frequently around Seattle during numerous community festivals and parades.

HUSKY FEVER — Have you ever been grocery shopping and wondered why Husky Fever logos are displayed on the shelves next to items? The signs indicate that portions of the sales from that product go to support Husky athletics. Started in 1977 in a hopes to increase attendance at Husky Stadium, retailers, food industry manufacturers, and food brokers pledge a portion of their case sales to the Husky Fever Committee which supports Husky athletics. Husky Fever now focuses its attention to scholarship endowments and has been labeled by Sports Illustrated as the most innovative and refreshing promotional idea of its time.

HUSKY SPIRIT — A lifesize bronze statue of a Husky dog named "Husky Spirit" was dedicated on the plaza between Husky Stadium and Hec Edmundson Pavilion in 1996. The statue is a gift to the University from the Big "W" Alumni Club. The statue was sculpted by UW alumna Georgia Gerger, who is well known as the creator of the Pike Place Market Pig.

KING REDOUBT — King Redoubt is the eighth Alaskan Malamute to have served as the Husky mascot. He leads the team out of the tunnel before every home game and wanders the sidelines during the contest accompanied by trainer Kim Cross and several of his children, who act as handlers. The previous mascots were Frosty I (1922-1946), Wasky II (1947-53), Chinook (1959-68), Re-Sundodger (1981-1991). The Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity acquired the handlers. In 1959 Harry Cross, a professor of law at the University, took over the dog handler duties with King Chinook. Chinook's first appearance game that season. Cross' son, Kim, watched the dog on the sidelines.

KOMO — KOMO AM 1000, "Your Husky Station" is the flagship of the Husky Radio Network, providing live broadcasts of every Husky football game, home and away. Play-by-play announcer Bob Rondeau is joined by color analyst Chuck Nelson and sideline reporter Bill Swartz in the station's award-winning coverage of Husky football. Rondeau also handles play-by-play for all Husky men's basketball games on KOMO, while Swartz calls the action on KEZX-AM's coverage of the women's basketball games.

LEGENDS PROGRAM — In 1995 Myles Corrigan, Washington's director of football operations, began the Husky Legends program. The program was designed to recognize and honor all of the athletes who have attended Washington. A cookout is held in the spring for members of the Legends program in conjunction with Washington's annual Spring Fling.

THE LOGO — In 1995, Washington's logo depiction of its Husky mascot was redesigned. The new version of the Husky was drawn by Michael G. Reagan using an Alaskan Malamute named Turbo Carrera as the model for the new image. The new version of the Husky shows a three-quarter profile of the mascot in a pose that is more majestic and regal than the previous version.

LOU GELLERMANN—The public address voice at Husky Stadium since 1985 has belonged to Lou Gellermann, a 1958 UW graduate. Gellermann, whose trademark "Hello Dawg Fans" introduction echoes throughout Husky Stadium each gameday during the fall, was a four-year rower at Washington, and is a member of the Husky Hall of Fame as a part of the 1958 crew which rowed against the Soviets in Moscow.

LOUD—With nearly 70 percent of the 72,500 seats located between the end zones, Husky Stadium can be one of the loudest gridirons in the nation. How loud? During the 1992 Nebraska game, ESPN's sideline crew recorded a decibel reading of 135 during the course of the action.

LUCKY DAWGS—In 1996, members of the Husky football team began the Lucky Dawg program. The program allows youngsters who have been outpatients at Seattle's Children's Hospital or the Fred Hutchinson Cancer Research Center to join the team captains for the coin toss.

THE MOAT—Athletic teams take great pride in protecting their home turf, so what would be better to symbolize that sense of battle in the Huskies' fortress than a moat? The Husky Stadium moat, however, is not constructed outside the stadium to ward off intruders, but inside to catch water runoff. The moat, surrounding three quarters of the stadium between the seats and the running track, was part of the original construction of the stadium in 1920, and was designed to help drain what amounts to 36,000 gallons of water from one inch of rainfall in the massive stadium. Though not designed to capture enemy personnel, the moat did claim one victim in 1992—the Stanford Cardinal tree, which fell in while cavorting prior to the UW-Stanford matchup on Halloween.

MONTLAKE BRIDGE—A popular vantage point for viewing the Windermere Cup/Opening Day crew races, the Montlake Bridge spans the Lake Washington Ship Canal, known as the Montlake Cut, just south of Husky Stadium. The drawbridge opens frequently during boating season, allowing boat travel between Lake Washington and Portage Bay, causing traffic backups on Montlake Boulevard.

MOLDREM—Long-time Seattle artist Stu Moldrem has been providing cartoon drawings for the Washington football program since the 1950s. Every week Moldrem's artwork portrays a Husky senior and some interesting facts about their playing career.

MT. RAINIER—The tallest mountain in the state of Washington, Mt. Rainier, rises to 14,410 feet in elevation, and is visible from the UW campus on a clear day. It is located approximately 90 miles southeast of downtown Seattle. The view from Red Square toward Drumheller Fountain offers a stunning glimpse of the mountain, looking down Rainier Vista. Popular for its many hiking trails, the mountain has also been scaled by former Husky Head Coach Don James, who climbed to the top in 1983.

MT. EVEREST—A little bit of Washington has been to the top of the world, literally. On May 14, 1995, Paul Pfau temporarily raised a Washington flag while at the summit of Mt. Everest. A UW alumni, Pfau was the leader for the 1995 American Mount Everest Expedition.

NATIONAL CHAMPS—Know this first, teams do not win a Division I national championship in football. Teams are voted national champions by a myriad of organizations. Most fans recognize the 1991 season as Washington's first claim to a national title. The Huskies were voted number one in the final CNN/USA Today coaches' poll in addition to several other publications. But, did you know there are two other seasons when the Huskies received the top nod at the end of the year? In 1984, fresh off a win against Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl, The Football News picked the Dawgs over Brigham Young as national champions. In 1960 the Helms Foundation declared Washington its national champion AFTER the Huskies defeated top-ranked Minnesota in the Rose Bowl. At the time, the Helms Foundation was the only organization to select its national champ AFTER the bowl game.

NFL DRAFT—NFL teams have continued to find former Washington players very attractive in the annual college draft, selecting 40 Huskies in the past seven years and signing many more as free agents. Washington had 11 players selected in the 1992 draft, tying the previous high set in 1983. According to 1996 NFL opening-day rosters, Washington had 25 players in the league.

NICHOLS—Ralph Nichols was probably the first gridiron star at Washington. In 1893 he led the "Purple and Gold" in its first intercollegiate game against Stanford. The Indians won handily 40-0. Still, Nichols was impressive enough to catch the eye of Stanford's student manager who offered him a "free ride" if he would consider transferring to the Palo Alto school. That Stanford student manager turned out to be Herbert Hoover, who went on to become the 31st President of the country. Nichols captained the team in 1894 and went on to serve as coach in 1895.

NORTHWEST RIVALS—Since Washington began intercollegiate play in 1889, some of its biggest rivals have been Northwest foes Washington State, Oregon State and Oregon. The Huskies hold an all-time record of 163-81-15 in contests with those schools, maintaining an edge for Northwest bragging rights.

NO. 1 MATCHUPS—Since the Associated Press began its national collegiate football poll in 1936, Washington has faced the top-ranked team on six occasions. Here are the results of those contests:

November 6, 1937	at California	T	0-0
December 2, 1939	at Southern Cal	L	7-9
October 21, 1967	Southern Cal	L	6-23
October 19, 1968	at Southern Cal	L	7-14
October 4, 1969	Ohio State	L	14-41
October 21, 1972	at Southern Cal	L	7-34

In addition to playing against six top ranked teams, Washington has entered 15 games as the top-ranked team itself. Here are the results of those games, in which the Huskies are 13-2:

September 18, 1982	at Arizona	W	23-13
September 25, 1982	Oregon	W	37-21
October 2, 1982	San Diego St.	W	46-25
October 9, 1982	California	W	50-7
October 16, 1982	at Oregon State	W	34-17
October 23, 1982	Texas Tech	W	10-3
October 20, 1984	Oregon	W	17-10
October 27, 1984	Arizona	W	28-12
November 3, 1984	California	W	44-14
November 10, 1984	at Southern Cal	L	7-16
October 3, 1992	Southern Cal	W	17-10
October 10, 1992	California	W	35-16
October 17, 1992	at Oregon	W	24-3
October 24, 1992	Pacific	W	31-7
November 7, 1992	at Arizona	L	3-16

Reggie Davis signs an autograph for a young Washington Fan at the team's annual Picture Day at Husky Stadium. This year's event is Aug. 16.

NO. 1 — The Husky football team was the first Washington intercollegiate athletic team to be ranked No. 1 in a major sport poll during the 1982 season. The Husky softball team joined that elite group in 1996 following a doubleheader victory against top-ranked Arizona. The Huskies held the top ranking until they lost to Arizona in the finals of the NCAA championships.

OKTOBERFEST — Oktoberfest, a German festival, is held prior to a Husky home football game in Hec Edmundson Pavilion each season. Sponsored by the Young Alumni Club, it has become a Husky pre-game tradition. The 17th annual Oktoberfest celebration is scheduled for Oct. 45, prior to the Arizona State contest.

PEGGY WATSON — Interviews with head coach Jim Lambright can be made through the sports information office or scheduled with Peggy Watson in the football office at (206) 543-2223.

THE PENALTY — Early in the fourth quarter of the 1985 Orange Bowl, Washington was involved in one of the strangest spectacles in college football history. After Tim Lashar kicked a 22-yard field goal to give Oklahoma a 17-14 lead, a penalty was called on the Sooners which nullified the score. The penalty was on Oklahoma's mascot, the Sooner Schooner, a Conestoga wagon powered by two tiny ponies. The Sooner Schooner's driver, Rex Harris, apparently did not see the flag and charged on the field for a brief celebration. The officials promptly called a 15-yard unsportsmanlike conduct penalty on the Sooner Schooner and tacked it on the other penalty. The 20-yard setback made Lashar's next attempt a 42-yarder, which was blocked by Washington's Tim Peoples. Inspired by the momentum swing, Washington went on to score two touchdowns in less than 60 seconds around the five-minute mark, and won the game, 28-17.

PHOTOGRAPHERS — Bruce Terami and Joanie Komura have become just as much a fixture to Husky football as anyone else in the athletic department, combining for 44 years of service by taking photographs at Husky football games and other Husky sporting events. Terami started shooting for the athletic department in 1967 at Husky football games. Komura started shooting pictures for the media relations office 14 years ago, added men's soccer to her agenda in 1986 and has since expanded to covering all Husky sporting events. Ethan Janson, a grad student working on his degree in dentistry, is the youngster in the photo corps as he enters his fourth year of shooting the Huskies in 1997.

PICTURE DAY — Husky fans have an opportunity to meet the players, get autographs and take pictures at the annual Picture Day. This year's event is scheduled for Saturday, August 16 at Husky Stadium. The Huskies take their annual team photo at this event. Media are welcome, but this event is primarily intended as an opportunity for the fans to meet their favorite players. The event usually attracts several thousand fans.

PMS COLORS — The PMS numbers for the Huskies' colors are 124 (gold) and 267 (purple). Among Division I institutions, only East Carolina and Louisiana State University have the same specific color combination.

POLLS — Here's a look at some of the breakdowns when Washington plays a ranked opponent, or the Huskies are nationally ranked going into a contest. All results are compiled using the Associated Press weekly college football rankings.

UW's record while being ranked: 173-66-5 (.719)
UW's record against ranked teams: 60-99-7 (.383)
UW's record against top-10 teams: 18-56-3 (.253)
UW's record against number 1 teams: 0-5-1 (.083)
Jim Lambright's record while being ranked: 26-14-1 (.646)
Jim Lambright's record against ranked teams: 6-9-1 (.406)

POPULATION — In 1993 Seattle boasted a population of 527,700. King County listed a population base of 1,587,700. The neighboring counties of Pierce and Snohomish had a combined population of 1,148,600.

PRESS BOX — The Husky Stadium press box is suspended from the roof of the south upper deck, making it susceptible to the shaking and rumbling caused by cheering fans in the seats below. Television replays of exciting plays in the stadium often display this shaking through unsteady camera shots. First-time visitors to the press box are warned to be prepared for any weather condition. It is also a good idea to bring a pair of binoculars.

PRESS CONFERENCES — Jim Lambright will hold his weekly press conference every Monday around during the 1997 season. Teleconference participation can also be arranged by calling the UW Media Relations Office at (206) 543-2230. An attempt will also be made to arrange a teleconference with the visiting coach. A buffet lunch will be served and several Husky players will be available following Lambright's comments.

PURPLE AND GOLD — Washington's school colors, Purple and Gold, were adopted in 1892 by vote of a student assembly on the original downtown Seattle campus. One patriotic group favored Red, White and Blue as the University's colors, reasoning that "since the school was named after the father of our country, our national colors should be the school's colors." The opposing faction argued that national colors should not be degraded for such everyday use. The debate was ended when a young English instructor, Miss Frazier, stood and read the following excerpt from Lord Byron's "Destruction of Sennacherib."

"The Assyrian come down like the wolf on the fold,
And his cohorts were gleaming in purple and gold;
And the sheen of their spears was like stars on the sea,
And the blue wave rolls nightly on deep Galilee."

THE PURPLE GANG — There was no series of teams in Washington's first century of football that was more permanently fixed in Husky football lore than the Purple Gang that Jim Owens unleashed on the Pacific slope in 1959 and 1960. Led by a one-eyed quarterback, Bob Schloredt, and a defense that was strictly for "Adults Only," the Purple Gang became Washington's first back-to-back Rose Bowl champions and sparked a renaissance in West Coast football that lasts until the present day. The two teams combined for a 20-2 record. The 1959 team became the only entire football team inducted into the Husky Hall of Fame in 1994. Individuals inducted before then were Schloredt, Roy McKasson, George Fleming and Don McKeta.

RAIN — Sorry to destroy the myth, but Seattle is far from being the rain capital of the nation. While Seattle does experience frequent showers, its total annual rainfall ranks only 44th in the United States, at about 36 inches. Compare that with Alaska's Capital City, Juneau, which receives 120 inches a year, or Ketchikan, Ak., which soaks up 169 inches in an average year. But, Seattle will claim the title of being the home of Grunge Rock, Starbucks, Microsoft, Boeing ...

REAGAN, MICHAEL — Michael Reagan has been a fixture on the Washington athletic scene for his artistic contributions. He is the University's director of design, graphic services and forms management. His previous works have included prints commemorating Washington's Pac-10 championships, former head coach Don James and the centennial poster celebrating 100 years of Husky football. Reagan has done numerous pieces of art for professional sports teams and individual players. His artistic contributions to charity events have accounted for thousands of dollars in support.

RECORD DAY — On November 25, 1950, Washington's Hugh McElhenny and Don Heinrich had a record day during a 52-21 victory over Washington State. McElhenny romped for an all-time school record 296 yards and scored a modern-day record five touchdowns. Heinrich set a then national completion record with his 134th of the season. How Heinrich's record came about constitutes an intriguing piece of Husky lore. With Heinrich one completion away from breaking the record, Washington State had the ball with time running out. So the Huskies decided to let the Cougars score so Washington could get the ball and give it to Heinrich. On the next play, WSU's Dick Gambold tossed a 21-yard touchdown while Husky defensive back Dick Sprague did nothing to stop it. On the subsequent Washington series, Heinrich completed a pass to get the record and moments later McElhenny got loose for an 84-yard touchdown run to break the then single-season conference record of 1,010 rushing yards.

RED SQUARE — The well-traveled Central Plaza of the University is known on campus as Red Square because of its red brick paving. The site of the annual homecoming pep rally, Red Square borders the Administration Building, Suzzallo Library, Odegaard Undergraduate Library, Kane Hall and Meany Hall. The red brick expanse forms the roof of a 1,000-car underground parking garage built in 1971.

RICK HUEGLI — Washington's strength program is one of the tops in the country, largely because of the work of Rick Huegli. Huegli, the UW strength coach, was honored in 1992 as Strength Coach of the Year by the National Strength and Conditioning Association. Along with assistant Bill Gillespie, Huegli is responsible for coordinating the conditioning and strength programs not only for the football team, but for the rest of the athletes in Washington's 23 intercollegiate sports.

THE ROUT — Enjoying a 30-pound weight advantage per man, Washington recorded its biggest win in school history on October 25, 1919 with a 120-0 drubbing of Whitman before 5,000 spectators at Denny Field. Washington sprinted to a school record 19 touchdowns, seven of which were scored by halfback Ervin Dailey. On his TDs alone, Dailey amassed 350 yards rushing, which would have been a school record if official statistics had been kept. The game featured one notable amusement: In the second half, Washington's Gus Pope somehow tore a huge hole in his pants and the rout had to be put on hold while trainer Hec Edmundson hurried on the field to stitch the tackle's trousers back together.

SENIOR SALUTE — Washington annually salutes its senior class at the final home game of the season. The Huskies take the field first and form a tunnel for the seniors to run into Husky Stadium for the last time.

THE SNEAKERS GAME — After the 1932 season, Washington coach Jimmy Phelan accepted a challenge by the West Seattle Athletic Club Yellow Jackets, an assortment of former collegians and semi-pros, to play a "City Championship" game for charity. The day before the game, Phelan noticed during a workout, that freezing temperatures had turned the field practically into an ice rink. Phelan quickly purchased three dozen tennis shoes for his players to wear the next day. With the Yellowjackets slip-sliding all over, Washington scored touchdowns in bunches. In an attempt to keep their feet beneath them, all but three West Seattle players were playing without shoes on the frozen ground. It didn't help as Washington won 66-0.

SONNY SIXKILLER — The popularity of former Husky All-America quarterback Sonny Sixkiller was so great that a local radio disc jockey wrote a song called "The Ballad of Sonny Sixkiller" that remained on the charts in Seattle for weeks in 1971.

A sampling of the lyrics follows:

He was born one morning 'neath the sun and the heat.

The proud grandson of an Indian chief.

The Cherokee tribe from which he came

Sonny Sixkiller.

He grew up strong into a proud young man.

Determined breed, he left his land.

Put down his arrows, hung up his shield.

Sonny Sixkiller.

- "The Ballad of Sonny Sixkiller"

Thunder Tummy Records (BMI)

SPORTS ILLUSTRATED — Two players in Husky history have been honored with an appearance on the cover of Sports Illustrated while at Washington: quarterbacks Sonny Sixkiller and Bob Schloredt. Sixkiller graced the cover October 4, 1971 during his junior year, while Schloredt appeared as a senior October 3, 1960.

SPRING GAME — The Purple & White Game, the annual scrimmage that signals a close to the spring practice season, is scheduled for April 25 in 1998.

THE STREAK — Washington has its place etched in the college record books in one category that may never be overtaken. From the last game of the 1907 season, until the 1917 campaign, Washington never lost a game during a 63-game stretch, winning 59 and recording four ties. The Sun Dodgers, as they were known at the time, tied Idaho 0-0 in the final game of 1907 and did not taste defeat until California toppled Washington 27-0 in 1917. During that run, Washington also pieced together a 39-game winning streak, the second longest in NCAA history.

STUDENT-ATHLETE SERVICES — The term student-athlete is taken seriously at Washington. To lend the necessary support for its student-athletes, Washington offers the Student-Athlete Services department. Located in the Conibear Shellhouse, Student-Athlete Academic Services has an annual budget of over $600,000. Student-Athlete Services offers one-on-one tutoring, group study tables, computer stations and self-help courses. A large full-time and tutorial staff offer a full range of academic support.

SUN DODGERS — Washington's teams were called Sun Dodgers starting in November of 1919. The nickname originated when a college magazine of the same name was banned from campus and, in protest, students adopted the name for their teams. But the Sun Dodgers did not do much for the Northwest's image, so a committee set out in 1921 to pick a new nickname. The decision came down to Malamutes and Huskies. The committee felt those were appropriate because of Seattle's nearness to the Alaskan frontier. The Husky was voted the most appropriate. (See Huskies and Vikings)

SUNNY BOY — Before the 1920's, Washington's football mascot was a three-and-a-half foot wooden statue named Sunny Boy, a sculptured replica of the happy-faced character, Sunny, who appeared in the University's humor magazine Sun Dodger. Maurice S. Holcomb, the artist who conceived Sunny, said the statue was meant to be a symbol of "Joe College" - books under one arm, a football under the other. But when Washington changed its mascot in 1923, Sunny Boy disappeared and was not discovered until 23 years later in South Bend, Ind. The statue had been removed from the trophy room of a university fraternity house as a prank and shipped to South Bend by the prankster to keep it in hiding. It was returned in 1948 and presented to UW officials at the Notre Dame game and has resided ever since at the UW Alumni Association. However, Sunny Boy was abducted again in the spring of 1994 in what was believed to be a fraternity prank. He was found a couple of days later in Issaquah and once again is back at the Alumni Association.

TAILGATING, HUSKY STYLE — While Husky Stadium fans enjoy the event of tailgating like those at other stadiums, the fans at Washington add a unique element not found elsewhere — tailgating by boat. The stadium's location on the shores of Lake Washington makes it easily accessible by boat from all over the Seattle area, and encourages many fans to use the water to travel to and from games. Members of the Husky crew team ferry fans to and from the shore to catch the action, or a ride home.

TARZAN — Sure, Johnny Weismuller made the role famous, but did you know a Husky was one of the actors who played the famous ape-man? Herman Brix, an outstanding Washington tackle, played Tarzan in the movies during the 1920s. He appeared in a total of 75 movies during his acting career including "Treasure of Sierra Madre" with Humphrey Bogart. Brix was also an outstanding track athlete at Washington, winning the national shot put title in 1927, later setting a world record in the event and eventually earning a silver medal at the 1928 Olympic Games.

TEAM ROOM — After each Husky home game, Coach Jim Lambright will meet with his players in the team room, located midway up the tunnel that leads into Husky Stadium. He addresses the media in the same area once the team has cleared the room. Members of the UW Media Relations staff will be available to bring requested Husky players to the team room.

THIRD QUARTER SALUTE — The 1997 season will mark the third consecutive year Washington has recognized its past football heroes during an in-game ceremony. At the break between the third and fourth quarters a former Husky "legend" is reintroduced to the crowd at Husky Stadium.

TICKETS — Tickets for Washington's 1997 home games range from $28 for the San Diego State and Arizona State games to $30 for the USC and Oregon games to $32 for the Nebraska and Washington State games.

THE TUNNEL — The tunnel in Husky Stadium's northwest corner leads to the home and visitors' lockerroom. The Huskies' team assembly room is located halfway up the tunnel. That area also serves as the postgame media interview room. A colorful display of Washington's bowl heritage is displayed at the top of the tunnel near the Husky lockerroom.

THE TOTEM — At one time a totem stood proudly in Husky Stadium at the top of the west endzone stands where the current scoreboard is located. The totem, appropriately named "Tyee," was designed by then assistant superintendent of building and grounds, C. Ken Weidner. The totem, dedicated in 1938, was a composite of totem symbols to represent the spirit of the Husky and Washington. Each part of the totem had a significance of its own. The disks on the hat showed rank and prestige, and the three rings adorning "Tyee" represented the three football championships won by Washington in 1916, 1925 and 1937. An additional disk was to be added for each time the Huskies won the Pacific Coast Conference championship. Chief Lobehan of the Muckleshoot Tribe was on hand for the dedication during halftime of the Idaho game.

THE TURNAROUND — Washington is believed to hold the record for the greatest collegiate comeback of all-time—only this comeback took a year to make. In 1973, the Oregon Ducks held the Huskies offense to 102 total yards, intercepted six passes, and recovered three Husky fumbles en route to a lopsided 58-0 victory in Eugene. The following year, Washington exacted its revenge by rolling up 508 total yards and scoring a school record nine touchdowns while holding the Ducks to only 55 total yards in a 66-0 landslide victory at Husky Stadium. Not only are the 66 points a modern school record, but the swing of 124 total points is believed to be the largest in consecutive games of a series by any team.

Former Husky Herman Brix played Tarzan in the movies in the 1920s. A standout shot putter, Brix won a silver medal in the event at the 1928 Olympic Games.

U-DUB — Written often as UW or U of W, the most common way for Washingtonians to refer to the University of Washington is 'U-Dub' or, even simpler, just 'The U.'

UNIFORMS — Washington's home uniform features purple jerseys, gold pants, white shoes and purple helmets with a gold W and purple face mask. The road uniform features white jerseys and purple pants with the same helmet and shoe combination. The purple pants were introduced in 1989, ironically for a home game, worn with the purple jerseys. The Huskies faced Colorado with all-purple uniforms and lost 45-28. The combination was not used again, but the team continued to wear purple pants on the road with white jerseys, replacing the gold pants.

VANNA WHITE — Wheel of Fortune co-host Vanna White was on hand for the 1995 Army game at Husky Stadium as part of a promotion for a series of the show's episodes taped in Seattle. White helped out with the coin toss and led the crowd of over 76,000 in a taping of the opening for the show.

VIKINGS — The Washington Vikings? Believe it or not, for a very short period in 1922, Washington's athletic teams were nicknamed the Vikings. The name came about when students were suggesting a change from the nickname "Sun Dodgers" that had been in existence since November of 1919. While no progress was being made on the name change, athletic officials adopted Vikings during the semester break in December of 1921. When the students returned to campus, they immediately protested the name change. By February of 1922 the name Huskies was adopted. (See Huskies and Sun Dodgers)

WASHINGTON WARM-UPS — When the Huskies hit the road, their fans always follow with great support and the Alumni Association sponsors pre-game rallies called Washington Warm-Ups at all Husky away games. The tailgating includes refreshments, entertainment and an opportunity to gather with numerous Husky fans.

THE WAVE — Despite claims by others, the Wave can trace its origin back to Husky Stadium. It was October 31, 1981 when former cheerleader Rob Weller (yes, the same Rob Weller who once co-hosted Entertainment Tonight) was back on the sidelines and instructed the Washington crowd to start in one section and make a human wave that rolled around Husky Stadium. The original Wave saw Husky fans remain standing until the a full circle was completed in the stadium. Weller's original idea — working with former Husky band director Bill Bissell — was to have the crowd stand rapidly from the lowest seats to the highest. But they could not effectively coordinate the attempts. The Wave is believed to have started in the third quarter as the Huskies reeled off 28 points en route to a 42-31 win over the John Elway led Stanford team.

WELKE, WALTER — Before Bill Bissell's name was synonymous with the Husky Band, Walter Welke established himself as the Father of the Washington band. Up until Welke took over as band director in 1929, the ROTC band performed at football games. Welke inherited a unit of 26 persons and increased that number to 120 by 1941, before the war decreased the number of members and forced him to rebuild again. The 1956 season marked the last year Welke was at the helm, but he established a foundation that has made Washington's band one of the best for many years to follow. Bill Cole took over as director of the band starting in the 1957 season.

WIN STREAK — A lesser-known fact about Washington's football history is the 39-game winning streak coach Gil Dobie's teams compiled from 1908-1914. The Sun Dodgers, as they were known at the time, outscored their opponents 1,331 to 73. That is an average of 34-2. Washington managed 26 shutouts during the streak and even kept Oregon State off the scoreboard when the Beavers managed a 0-0 tie to end Washington's run. The streak broke the previous mark set by Yale from 1890-93 and stood until Oklahoma reeled off 47 straight wins from 1953-57.

Huskies on the Airwaves

KOMO Network

Washington's football games are broadcast live over radio station KOMO, AM-1000, part of the Athletic Department's multi-million dollar radio package. KOMO's radio network includes stations throughout the state of Washington and in Alaska and Oregon.

The KOMO radio broadcast team is a veteran, respected group of three individuals. Bob Rondeau, a well-known KOMO sports reporter, provides the play-by-play description of all Husky games, with former All-American Husky place kicker Chuck Nelson providing analysis and color commentary. Sideline reports are provided by KOMO radio's witty sports director, Bill Swartz.

ABC Sports

As part of the package between ABC Sports and the Pacific-10 Conference, Washington will make at least three appearances on that network this season. The Huskies' games against Brigham Young, Nebraska and USC will be broadcast by ABC Sports.

Fox Sports

Fox Sports Northwest enters its ninth year of extensive coverage of Pac-10 football, and the eighth year of expanded Husky coverage in 1997. The foundation of this coverage includes a Sunday evening replay of each Husky game. Fox Sports Northwest serves 1.9 million households in Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana and Alaska.

Fox Sports Northwest is the regional partner for the Fox Sports Network's live Pac-10 game of the week. These live games air at either 3:30 p.m. or 7 p.m. starting Aug. 30.

With 48 returning lettermen, including eight starters on both offense and defense, the 1997 Washington football team should be one of the favorites in the race for the Pac-10 Conference's Rose Bowl berth. Even with that many veteran players returning, fifth-year Husky coach Jim Lambright knows the polls and predictions will hold no weight when his team opens a rugged schedule against Brigham Young on Sept. 6.

"We do have some excellent leaders and big-play type of players on both sides of the ball," Lambright says. "High national ratings tend to reflect that as opposed to focusing on a team's depth. In the early '90s, when we worked our way up to a national championship, I know having solid depth across the board was the biggest change in the program."

Gone are three defensive starters, four offensive starters and two veteran kickers who helped the Huskies to 30 victories and a pair of bowl appearances over the past four years. While immediate replacements are ready to step in for several of the departed veterans, young players are prepping an inside linebacker corps and finding a consistency in the kicking game are a concern.

For the first time since he took over as head coach in 1993, Lambright will have a large group of veteran seniors to provide leadership. The roster includes 17 lettermen who are seniors. Over half of the returning seniors.

Coming off a 9-3 showing in 1996, including a 7-1 record and second-place finish in the Pac-10, the expectations will be high for the Huskies. Strongside linebacker Jason Chorak, an All-American and the Pac-10's defensive player of the year, headlines the defense while junior offensive guard Benji Olson, a first-team AP All-American selection last season, anchors the offense. Tony Parrish, at free safety, and Olin Kreutz, at center, garnered All-Pac-10 honors in '96 and have been named to several preseason All-America teams. Sophomore quarterback Brock Huard is back after recording the best passing season of any UW freshman quarterback. Rashaan Shehee has recovered from a foot/heel injury and could become Washington's fourth 1,000-yard running back this decade.

"This is why the team has worked hard and set its goals high," Lambright says. "We've asked this team, 'Isn't this where you want to be? Don't you want to be considered a national power? Don't you want to see how many Rose Bowls you can go to?' They have to understand they are only a part of what they have created. You can't be uncomfortable in this role. And, through work ethic, they can control a lot of their own success."

A first-team AP All-American, Benji Olson is one of the few offensive linemen to receive the honor as just a sophomore.

The Offense

Washington's offense features 25 letterwinners and eight players who started at least five games last season. All the ingredients are present for the Huskies to again be an explosive unit. Last season Washington scored 370 points (33.64 ppg.), the fourth highest total in Husky history. For the second consecutive season, the Huskies scored at least 20 points in all of their regular season games.

Washington managed to score 82 percent of the time it reached the opponent's red zone, including 34 touchdowns in 50 chances inside the 20-yard line. The Huskies averaged 218.9 rushing yards per game to compliment 192.6 passing yards per outing. Washington improved dramatically in third-down conversions, converting 49.7 percent (92 of 185) of the time. In 1995 the Huskies struggled in that department with a 39.1 percent third-down conversion rate.

Jon Minter	6-5	195	So.	6	1	0	8	0

Note: Career statistics listed.

With the departure of Dillon, more of the offensive responsibilities will rest on the shoulders of incumbent sophomore quarterback Brock Huard. The younger brother of Damon Huard, UW's career passing leader, Huard stepped into the starting role for nine games, including the Holiday Bowl, last season.

In the season opener at Arizona State, and with Washington trailing 42-21 midway through the fourth quarter, Huard was inserted into the lineup. In just four minutes he guided the Huskies to three touchdowns. He scrambled for one score and tossed a 67-yard pass to Gerald Harris for another in a game the Sun Devils rallied to win 45-42.

After starter Shane Fortney's injured his knee (late in the second game of the year vs. BYU), Huard went on to start in nine games, guiding the Huskies to a 7-2 record in those contests. His passing total of 1,678 yards was the most ever by a UW freshman quarterback. In his first start, against Arizona, Huard became the first Husky freshman quarterback to throw for 300 yards (311 total) in a game. He threw for four scores against Oregon State and finished the season by throwing only one interception (vs. Colorado in the Holiday Bowl) in his final 122 passing attempts.

"He's a winner," Lambright says of Huard. "He has a winner's personality to him. He's willing to work with that high level of intensity that it takes for a person in that role to come in and make a team better because of his presence and because of the decisions he makes. He's bright and, as a result, has become more of a student of the game and is capable of making more decisions at the line of scrimmage. He's trained himself for this role for a long time."

Fortney's decision to transfer to Northern Iowa last spring left Washington with only one other quarterback – sophomore Jon Minter – who has seen significant playing time. Minter appeared in two games last year and attempted only six passes.

"Jon came along like you would expect him to in the spring," Lambright says. "Every day he began to get a better grasp of the offense and what the defense was trying to do."

A pair of highly touted incoming freshmen quarterbacks, J.K. Scott and Marques Tuiasosopo, could factor into the quarterback depth chart this fall. Scott was tabbed as one recruiting publication's farwest offensive player of the year after throwing for 3,011 yards last fall. Tuiasosopo, a solid scrambler and thrower, was the state of Washington's Gatorade player of the year.

"With Corey gone I think you're going to see the quarterback position having a more important role," Lambright says. "They are going to have to make more critical decisions a larger part of the time. We're going to try and put the ball in their hands and ask them to make more big plays."

Tailbacks

	Ht.	Wt.	Yr.	TC	Yds.	Avg.	TD
Jason Harris	6-0	205	Jr.	35	106	3.0	0
Maurice Shaw	5-11	215	So.	19	118	6.2	0
Rashaan Shehee	5-11	210	Sr.	245	1288	5.3	19

Note: Career statistics listed.

Washington's running game has been a consistent strong point for the program during the 1990s and, with the return of a healthy Rashaan Shehee, that tradition should continue in 1997. Washington will miss Corey Dillon's punishing running style (1,555 yards), especially in short-yardage and red-zone situations, but Shehee has proven to be a breakaway threat in his own right.

After entering the season opener last year with a slight hamstring injury, Shehee was back to his old form against Brigham Young, running for 131 yards and a pair of scores against the Cougars. An off-the-field injury to his heel/ankle after the third game of the season forced him to the sidelines. He managed eight carries against Notre Dame, and came back to see limited time as a receiver in the Holiday Bowl against Colorado.

As a sophomore in 1995, Shehee burst on the scene with 171 yards and two scores in his first start against Notre Dame. Shehee finished the year with 957 yards and scored 15 TDs — averaging 121.6 yards per game in seven starts. The shifty Shehee is an excellent receiver, with 29 receptions in his last 15 games.

"Rashaan is running full speed right now and is the natural number one," Lambright says. "He has no problems with the foot or ankle. As a result, he's run in the 4.3s in the 40 in the off-season. Anyone who is doing that is pretty healthy. Rashaan, because of his vision and the fact he tends to run more with his eyes and less with his power, can give you more opportunities to break a play. He's going to make a lot of things happen on your offense."

Fullback Mike Reed also has experience in Washington's one-back sets.

Sophomore Maurice Shaw could show up more often in the backfield in 1997. Shaw played in all 11 games in 1996 as a true freshman, primarily on special teams. He made the most of his time at tailback, rushing for 100 yards on 14 carries against San Jose State. A pulled hamstring kept Shaw out of spring drills.

The Huskies signed four top-flight high school running backs during the recruiting period in Adam Tate, Art Gipson, Jabari Johnson and Albert Tuipulotu. Lambright does not rule out playing a freshman in the backfield in the fall.

"This definitely is a year to build on the confidence and successes of our running game from last year," Lambright says. "You take the success that the tailback had, and look at the number of returning linemen, it's a great base going into the spring."

With the emergence of the H-back in the Husky offense, the fullback position was not as visible last season. Washington has three players capable of filling the role. When not being used at tailback, Reed can give the Huskies a versatile player at the fullback slot.

Reed is the most experienced running back besides Shehee. Last season Reed carried the ball 42 times for 106 yards and one score. His biggest play was actually a reception. In overtime against Washington State, Reed turned a screen pass into a 16-yard gain to set up the Huskies' winning touchdown. Reed's size, 6-0 and 215 pounds, allows him to play as a single back or fullback in Washington's offensive scheme.

Junior George Keiaho saw more time at the position last season when Reed switched to tailback. At 5-9 and 230 pounds, Keiaho can be a very effective blocker in short yardage situations. Anthony Hicks, who played in nine games last season as a true freshman, should push for more playing time at the position. Hicks averaged nine yards per rush on his three carries last season, including a 20-yard scoring run against San Jose State.

Washington's diverse offense will feature pass receivers at four different positions, in addition to the running backs. The Huskies have the potential to have their best aerial attack since the 1991 squad which won the national championship.

Spearheading a veteran group of returnees is senior split end Jerome Pathon. A transfer from Acadia University in Nova Scotia, he led Washington last season with 41 receptions and seven scores. Pathon is gifted with excellent speed and soft hands. He has made a number of dramatic, diving and leaping receptions during his two-year career with the Huskies. Pathon is a double-threat as a kick returner. He averaged 12.1 yards on punt returns and 29.1 yards on kickoff returns in 1996. Against Colorado in the Holiday Bowl, he returned a kickoff 86 yards for a touchdown.

Jerome Pathon led the Huskies last season with 41 receptions.

"Jerome could be the type of receiver this year that really makes great things happen," Lambright says. "The return against Colorado sent the message that he's of that quality. Hopefully, he realizes that he can do that against anybody. What he has to fulfill, as his destiny this year, is playing to that level in every game."

Pathon will have a trio of Husky newcomers behind him on the depth chart. Manny Austin and Dajuan Hawkins are redshirt freshmen while Marvin Kasim is a transfer who also redshirted last season. Austin (6-1) and Hawkins (6-5) give the Huskies a much taller pair of receivers at split end while Kasim has worked hard in the weight room to regain his sprinter's speed that made him a top Seattle high school prospect.

On the other side of the line of scrimmage, the Huskies have another veteran receiver returning at flanker. Senior Fred Coleman has started 16 games over the past two years and figures to take over the position on a full-time basis following the graduation of Dave Janoski.

Coleman, who has also played an ankle injury, but still caught more he hauled in 32 receptions. A pair of letterwinners, DeSaussure, enter Coleman.

The H-back position made Husky football last year. Cam the job exclusively and proved to be prior blocker. He caught only four and the position could be much more area this year.

The Huskies will use a variety of players, from a variety of positions, to diversify the H-back in 1997. During the Holiday Bowl practices, whip linebacker Reggie Davis was moved into the position. An option quarterback in high school, Davis had a tendency to come up with big plays on defense and special teams that the coaching staff hopes he can bring to the offense. As a linebacker he caused two fumbles, recovered four fumbles and intercepted two passes in 19 games.

"Reggie Davis is a great example of a player you don't want to over coach," Lambright says. "You want to find a spot where the player is a natural, and for him, that is as an offensive player. On defense, he was robotic. He had all this natural ability, but it didn't flow. He's such a great example of looking for a place for a player with a lot of ability. He is so much more at home at the H-back, tight end position."

Devon Johnson and Joe Jarzynka are two other players that will see time in the H-back slot. Johnson, a 6-3, 215-pound redshirt freshman, can be a blocker or receiver while the 5-7, 165-pound Jarzynka figures in three- and four-receiver sets.

A walkon, Jarzynka earned his playing time last year on special teams where he returned 12 kickoffs and six punts. A favorite of Husky fans, Jarzynka was also used in multi-receiver set situations but did not record a pass reception.

"The tight end position, the fullback and the H-back positions are your really fun positions in this offense," Lambright says. "You can look for matchups. You can put big bodies in motion or you can have smaller bodies out there that can create mismatches because of their speed."

Tight end is again a deep and talented position for Washington. Cameron Cleeland, the starter last season, has the size and strength (6-4, 265) to be a powerful blocker on the corner, coupled with the soft hands to pull in 23 receptions last season. Cleeland averaged 15.4 yards per reception and converted three catches into scores.

"He (Cleeland) truly is half of a tackle and half of a tight end," Lambright says. "He's very capable of making big plays. His level of toughness has really risen and that's allowed us to do a lot of different things with him. That's exactly what you want in that spot."

Jeremy Brigham gives the Huskies another senior letterman at the tight end position. He played in 11 games last season and caught four passes. Sophomore Anthony Mizin and redshirt freshman Kevin Cooper are a pair of younger players waiting for their turn at tight end.

Four of five starters return to Washington's offensive line that helped the Huskies rush for 2,400 yards last year while surrendering only 16 quarterback sacks (second best in the Pac-10). Bob Sapp, the 1996 Morris Trophy winner (Pac-10's top offensive lineman) is the only loss from the unit.

Strongside guard Benji Olson is the leader of the Huskies' "Guard Dawgs." A starter in every game he has played, Olson joined some elite company in 1996 when he was named a first-team All-American as a sophomore. The Associated Press, The Sporting News and the Football News all bestowed first-team honors on the 6-4, 310 lineman.

"We kid him a lot about it, but he truly is a road grader," Lambricht says. "He shifts it down and just plows a little deeper hole. He has the ability to move whoever is there. He's an excellent cornerstone for the offense."

Playing alongside Olson at the center position, Olin Kreutz parlayed his first season as a starter into first-team All-Pac-10 honors in 1996. The 6-4, 290-pound junior has demonstrated an excellent job of making the proper blocking calls on the line of scrimmage.

"Olin's athletic ability and his footwork really make him an outstanding center," Lambricht says. "There are not too many out there who are better. He is bright enough to make all of the calls and run the offensive front. He gives us great stability in a really key position."

Weakside tackle Tony Coats and strongside tackle Mostafa Sobhi round out the returning starters on the offensive line. A candidate for Academic All-America honors, Coats missed the BYU and Arizona games last season because of a knee injury. Injuries also cost Sobhi playing time. Elbow and arm problems kept him out of the final six games of the year and the Holiday Bowl.

The pool of backup players for the offensive line is deep and filled with players who have seen ample playing time.

Aaron Dalan, a massive 6-7, 310-pound tackle, has backed up both positions and started twice last season. Ben Kadletz (6-2, 290) has played both center and guard and was called on as a starter twice last year. Dominic Daste (6-3, 305) was a reserve in eight games as a true freshman last season. A broken ankle ended his season prematurely and he will miss spring drills due to the injury.

Redshirt freshman Elliot Silvers (6-6, 310) and freshman Chad Ward (6-5, 310) will backup the tackles. Ward did not enroll at Washington until the spring quarter of 1996 while rehabilitating an Achilles tendon injury he suffered in high school. Lambricht anticipates him playing as a first-year freshman.

Brad Hutt (6-3, 275), a transfer redshirt freshman Zach McCall (6-5, dates for the weakside guard spot. Phillips (6-4, 300) and redshirt freshman Fraize (6-4, 275) add depth at the guard position. Junior Dave Dawson (6-3, 260) will join the centers in the with senior Petrocelli Kesi (6-4, 325).

"You're looking at a much better team situation with as many returning players as we have on the offensive line," Lambricht says. "If we're going to be as good as possible, these guys are going to have to be the best. There are a bunch of other positions that will have to have good years, but the offensive line will have to have a great year."

The Defense

Washington's departed inside linebackers — Ink Aleaga and John Fiala — combined for 80 games, 50 starts, 509 tackles, 10 fumble recoveries and seven interceptions during their Husky careers. No position will be harder for the Huskies to fill. Doubling the challenge is the fact two sophomores and two redshirt freshmen will compete this spring for the key positions in Washington's defensive scheme.

However, eight returning starters and a large number of experienced backups will take some of the pressure off of the middle of the Husky defense.

Last season the Huskies did not have a single starter returning to their same position in the secondary. This year all four starters are back. Up front, the defensive line that was young and experienced a year ago, is suddenly a seasoned group. After surrendering 397 rushing yards to Notre Dame at mid season, the Huskies' defense held its last seven opponents (including Colorado in the Holiday Bowl) to an average of 56 rushing yards per game. "That," says Lambricht, "is a credit to young players growing up and making big plays."

Senior strongside linebacker Jason Chorak is the leader of Washington's pressure defense. Last season the Pac-10 coaches voted him the league's defensive player of the year and The Associated Press, The Sporting News and The Football News honored him as an All-American.

Chorak (6-4, 255) was a one-man wrecking crew for opposing quarterbacks. He racked up 14.5 sacks and totaled 22 tackles for loss — both UW single-season records. Blessed with good speed, instincts and quick hands, Chorak could have an even bigger season in 1997.

"If Jason Chorak learns half of the lessons that were there for him last year, he will be able to increase his sack totals, just by making plays he missed last year," Lambricht says. "The way he is working now, he's looking to be a leader, to be stronger, to be a more physical player. It's a role he is enjoying."

Jeremiah Pharms, who started as a strongside linebacker last season before a broken thumb forced him to redshirt the season, has moved to inside linebacker. Chris Lang returns as the backup at the position after playing in seven games last season.

Jerry Jensen had 11.5 tackles for loss from his whip linebacker position in '96.

While Chorak's emergence gave the Huskies a much needed pass rusher, Jerry Jensen's move from inside linebacker to whip linebacker went a long way to shore up Washington's rushing defense. Jensen was involved in 53 tackles last season and finished second on the team to Chorak with 11.5 tackles for loss and seven sacks.

"Jerry is moving toward being a leader on the team," Lambricht says. "He gives us a lot of experience and a level of confidence at that position we haven't had for a few years. He's also another way to take the pressure off the young guys by using him more on end rush situations."

Todd Johnson emerged from spring drills as one of the most improved players on the team. His special teams play has not gone unnoticed by the coaching staff. Kai Bynum, one of seven true freshmen to play last year, will move from inside linebacker to the whip position. Migraine headaches forced him to miss spring drills.

Sophomore defensive tackle Mac Tuiaea (6-6, 285), senior nose tackle Sekou Wiggs (6-4, 270) and senior defensive end Chris Campbell (6-2, 240) head into the season as the starters on the defensive line along with Chorak. Gone is senior David Richie, a two-year starter at defensive tackle.

Considered by some critics as too small for his position, Campbell showed marked improvement during the season. A former inside linebacker, he accumulated 24 tackles and was third on the team with 10 tackles for loss. His sack in overtime helped the Huskies defeat Washington State in the annual Apple Cup.

Junior Josh Smith (6-2, 255), who appeared in 10 games last season, returns as the backup behind Campbell.

freshman T.J. Jackson (6-3, 275) will see his first playing time at the position this year.

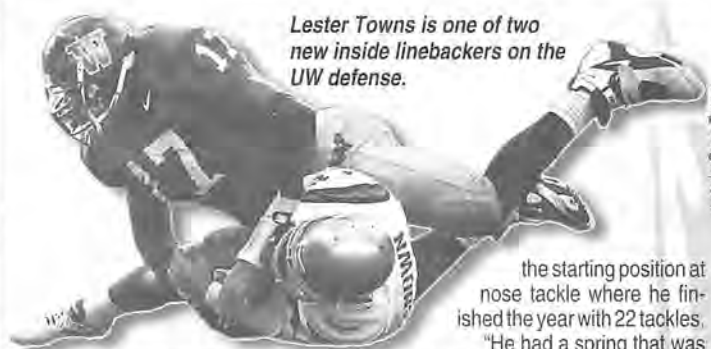

Only Campbell has appeared in more games than Wiggs, who started five times at defensive tackle as a sophomore. Wiggs was the backup at nose tackle last season when he returned to the lineup. Wiggs missed the first three games while recovering from a broken jaw.

Behind him at the position is Connell (6-5, 285), who was also slowed by injuries last season. He did play in five games and is coming off an impressive spring performance.

the starting position at nose tackle where he finished the year with 22 tackles. "He had a spring that was less than spectacular last year," Lambricht says. "He went home over the summer and really worked hard and came back here ready to play. He was really impressive."

Jabari Issa, one of seven true freshmen to play last season, appeared in 10 games last season as a defensive tackle to earn his first letter. A year in the Husky weightroom is expected to pay huge dividends for the 6-6, 290-pound sophomore.

"The defensive line is going to have to do a better job early in the season to protect those young inside linebackers," Lambricht says. "Last year, it was just the opposite. They had an experienced pair of players behind them, protecting them."

Sophomores Lester Towns (6-3, 240) and Marques Hairston (6-2, 225) enter the season as Washington's new inside linebacker duo. Both played in every game last season as the backups to Aleaga and Fiala. Towns started twice when Fiala was slowed by a knee injury and was the third man in the linebacker rotation. He finished the season with 38 tackles, including 4.5 for lost yardage.

Towns has the speed and size to make him a standout at the position. Towns caused three fumbles last year, created a safety at Oregon and made some impressive open field tackles on special teams.

Hairston moved from safety to linebacker last year and put in the work in the weightroom to improve his abilities at the position. He picked up 10 tackles in his rookie season.

Jeff Johnson (6-2, 218) missed last season due to a shoulder injury but will return at linebacker this spring. He'll join redshirt freshmen Chris Waddell (6-1, 210) and Pharms (6-1, 225) at the position. Senior Gary Shavey (6-2, 215) also returns at the position.

"We have several really good athletes for those two spots," Lambricht says. "In terms of raw athletic ability and foot speed, we're improved at the position. I felt by the end of spring Lester and Marques had made the progress you would expect them to in 15 practices. They began to develop their leadership qualities and the ability to control the defense."

Washington's secondary was probably the most pleasant surprise during the 1996 season. Cornerbacks Mel Miller and Jermaine Smith played like savvy veterans instead of the inexperienced redshirt freshmen that they were. Tony Parrish made a successful transition from roverback to fill the shoes of All-American free safety Lawyer Milloy and Nigel Burton emerged from Pacific's defunct program to fill in the roverback role.

The return of all of those players is enhanced by a larger group of reserves that the area lacked last season. If the secondary can improve, it will be in the area of "big plays" according to Lambricht. What he is looking for is more interceptions.

Last season Washington's defensive backs accounted for seven of the team's 10 interceptions. That was the fewest interceptions by a Husky team since 1938.

The free safety in Washington's defense almost takes on the role of another linebacker. Parrish, an All-Pac-10 selection last year, is the team's leading returning tackler with 71 stops. He will often play on the line of scrimmage as an eighth lineman. To his credit, he has the hitting ability to play up front and the athleticism to drop into pass coverage. Last season Parrish led the team by breaking up eight passes. He recorded two interceptions, including one he returned 45 yards for a score.

"Tony has to have a big year," Lambright says. "He has to intercept more passes. He has to make some of the plays he came close on last year, in terms of turning the ball over."

Juniors Brendan Jones and Chad Wolfe both return as backups to Parrish. Redshirt freshman Curtis Williams will also be tried at the position.

Kyle Roberts	5-11	190	Sr.	11-3	17	4.5-12.5	0-0

Note: Career statistics listed.

Burton, a junior, started eight times at roverback last season and moved to cornerback for the UCLA and Oregon games when Smith was sidelined with an injury. Burton finished the season with 55 tackles and his quickness allowed the coaching staff to blitz him more often in the second half of the season.

"Nigel is just a great effort and intensity guy," Lambright says. "He's good enough to also be a backup at cornerback or free safety. We got so much out of him. He teams up very nicely with Tony to give us some experience at those positions."

With senior Kyle Roberts sidelined during last spring following shoulder surgery, the Huskies moved cornerback Alex Hollowell to roverback. Hollowell appeared in all 11 games last season and accounted for 10 tackles.

"That position has more emphasis on pass coverage," Lambright says, "so this is a way to have Alex on the field."

More experienced players will allow the Huskies to add another dimension to the secondary.

"The four receiver schemes really hurt us at times last year," Lambright says. "We have to have better answers for them. By moving some players around, we'll add the nickel and dime coverage schemes."

Tony Parrish prospered at free safety last season, intercepting a pair of passes, recording 71 tackles, breaking up eight passes and recovering four fumbles.

There may not have been a better pair of redshirt freshmen cornerbacks anywhere else in the nation than the tandem of Miller and Smith. Their steady play helped the defense to sack opposing quarterbacks 46 times during the season. They accounted for only four interceptions, but they combined to break up 16 pass attempts.

"We'll expect both corners to increase the number of big plays they make and to decrease the number of big plays they gave up," Lambright says. "Both are capable of learning from their redshirt freshman year where they played every bit as good as any of us expected them to. With the exception of some games, where we could have helped them by having a nickel or dime scheme in place, I felt that through the season they played to a really high level."

Redshirt freshman Toure Butler is the most likely backup at cornerback. He was slated as a backup at the position last fall before technicalities with the NCAA Clearinghouse forced him to miss so much practice the coaches opted to redshirt him. Transfer Brian McIntosh is eligible this season after transferring from Western Washington. The Huskies could play several incoming freshmen at cornerback this fall.

"Toure gives us a third cornerback and allows us to play some nickel and dime packages," Lambright says. "With Kyle Roberts back, we'll be able to enhance that even more."

Mel Miller had three interceptions as a freshman in 1996.

Washington lost a pair of players that handled the majority of the kicking duties the past three seasons in place kicker John Wales and punter Geoff Prince. Wales kicked 36 field goals and accounted for 193 points during his career. Prince averaged 38.1 yards on 118 career punts.

Senior Hamid Sarshar is the only returning punter with game experience. He averaged 35.3 yards per kick on 40 punts last season. Walkon Ryan Chicoine came out of spring drills as the leader among the returning punters. Junior college transfer Sean O'Laughlin will compete for the position in the fall.

Sophomore Randy Jones is the only returning placekicker with playing time. He handled all of the PATs in last season's San Jose State game, split the kickoff duties with Wales, and attempted one field goal in the Holiday Bowl.

The Schedule

Washington will once again face a challenging non-conference schedule to compliment its eight Pac-10 Conference games. Washington opens the season at Brigham Young (14-1, Cotton Bowl Champions) before playing host to San Diego State (8-3) and Nebraska (11-2, Orange Bowl Champions) at Husky Stadium. This season the Huskies do not face Stanford in the Pac-10 schedule. Washington has home Pac-10 games against Arizona State (11-1, Rose Bowl), USC (6-6), Oregon (6-5) and the annual Apple Cup contest with Washington State (5-6). The Huskies go on the road to face California (6-6, Aloha Bowl), Arizona (5-6), Oregon State (2-9) and UCLA (5-6).

Chris Campbell's first taste of recruiting was a case of mistaken identity. As a sophomore at Lynnwood High School, a senior with the same uniform number was being recruited by Idaho. The senior played the first half, but was injured and did not return for the second half. His replacement was Campbell, who played so well that the recruiters were remarkably impressed that their recruit had gotten faster and bigger since the first half.

Seattle's two big hitters met last spring when Jason Chorak threw out the first pitch during "Huskies Night" at a Seattle Mariners game.

THE COACHES

Jim Lambright Head Coach

In his first four years as the head football coach at the University of Washington, Jim Lambright has won more games (30) than any of his predecessors. He has directed the Huskies to the Sun Bowl and Holiday Bowl, won a Pac-10 title (1995), defeated every team in the Pac-10 and won the Apple Cup three times.

What's next? Logically, Lambright would like to coach his beloved Huskies in the Rose Bowl. Lambright has already been there as a Washington player and assistant coach. If he can complete the cycle, he'll become the sixth Husky coach to guide his team to the New Year's Day Classic.

In four years at Washington, Lambright has compiled an overall record of 30-15-1 (.663), including a 13-2-1 mark in Pac-10 play over the past two seasons. Last year's team posted Washington's 20th consecutive winning season, the second longest current streak among Division I programs.

A pupil of legendary Husky coaches Jim Owens and Don James, keeping the winning tradition they established was not an easy task for Lambright, even with his long-time association to the program.

Few head coaches have ever had to make the transition Lambright did when he took over as the Huskies' coach. On August 22, 1993, just two weeks prior to the season opener against Stanford, Lambright was named Washington's head coach when James announced his retirement in protest of Pac-10 sanctions against the Husky program.

Following a squad meeting where James announced his decision to the team and turned over the coaching mantle, Lambright quickly rallied a Husky squad that was in a state of shock. Faced with the challenge of coaching the inside linebackers, serving as defensive coordinator and also overseeing the program, Lambright set up residence in his Graves' Building office. Over the next two weeks Lambright was awarded a four-year contract, the players were counseled and a gameplan was put into place. The results — no players transferred and the Huskies banded together to hand the 15th-ranked Cardinal a 31-14 thrashing before a national television audience.

In the postgame meeting as Lambright tried to address his team following the victory his words were drowned out by the players chanting his nickname — "Lambo! Lambo! Lambo!"

In a short time span, during remarkable circumstances, the transition had been completed from the close of the James era of Husky football to a new beginning with Jim Lambright.

Lambright led the Huskies to a 7-4 finish in 1993 and a 5-3 mark in Pac-10 play. He accomplished that despite not filling his own position on the coaching staff during the season and losing tight ends coach Myles Corrigan midway through the year to heart surgery. The seven wins represented the most ever by a first-year coach at Washington. Lambright's hiring made him the fourth Husky coach who is a UW alumni.

In 1994 Washington again finished 7-4 and compiled a 4-4 record in conference play. Lambright's first bowl appearance was the reward for a 7-4-1 record in 1995. The Huskies posted a 6-1-1 record in Pac-10 play and received a bid to the Sun Bowl. Last year the Huskies finished second in the Pac-10 with a 7-1 mark and received an invitation to play Colorado in the Holiday Bowl. The Huskies finished the season 9-3 and ranked 16th in the Associated Press poll, the highest finish in Lambright's tenure.

The 1997 season will be the 29th for Lambright at Washington and fifth as the Huskies' head coach. Prior to taking over the head coaching position, Lambright served as the assistant head coach for six years and defensive coordinator for 16 years. He started his coaching stint with the Huskies under head coach Jim Owens in 1969. Lambright's tenure with Washington is one of the longest of any current coach with one school.

Lambright began his coaching career in 1965 as an assistant coach at Fife (Wash.) High School, and was an assistant coach at Shoreline Community College from 1966 through 1969, just prior to beginning his long association with Washington.

The Everett, Wash., native was a four-sport letterman at Everett High School. He attended Washington and played football for the Huskies, earning two letters as an 180-pound defensive end (1963-64). Under Owens, Lambright played fullback, halfback, wide receiver, tight end, defensive end and linebacker. He graduated with a bachelor of arts degree in education and physical education in 1965 after earning all-conference and All-Coast honors in 1964. His 1964 accolades included the Huskies' Guy Flaherty Most Inspirational Award and being named The Everett Herald's Man of the Year in Sports.

As the defensive coordinator, Lambright's defenses have ranked high among conference statistical leaders and all but one finished in the top half of the Pac-10 total defense statistics each year. The 1991 Huskies were second in the nation in rushing defense (67.1), total defense (237.1), scoring defense (9.2) and turnover margin (+1.73) and led the Pac-10 in virtually every defensive category.

Lambright implemented the "attack style" defense in 1990 that created havoc for opposing offenses. That style of play was a key factor in

As a player, assistant coach and head coach, Jim Lambright has been a part of 363 games during his association with Washington. The Huskies are 215-106-3 (.668) since Lambright joined the coaching staff in 1969. If you include Washington's four-year record during the time he was a student, Lambright's all-time record as a Husky is 237-120-6 (.661). If you add it all up, Lambright has been a part of 363 of Washington's 956 games — roughly 38 percent of the school's football games.

Washington's march to a perfect season and the national championship in 1991. Numerous coaching staffs from across the country have visited the Husky coaching staff in recent years to learn the defensive strategy.

A handful of his former players earned All-America accolades at Washington. Ray Horton, Mark Stewart, Tony Caldwell, Ron Holmes, Reggie Rogers, Tim Peoples, Steve Emtman and Dave Hoffmann were all defensive players under Lambright who were named a first-team All-American. Emtman was selected the 1991 Lombardi Trophy and Outland Trophy winner.

Several of Lambright's defensive players — Fletcher Jenkins, Ron Holmes, Reggie Rogers, Steve Emtman and D'Marco Farr — were voted by their Pac-10 peers as the Morris Award winner, honoring the top defensive lineman in the league. No less than 16 of the linebackers he has coached achieved first-team All-Pac-10 honors. A total of 17 of Lambright's former linebackers have been drafted by NFL teams.

Lambright is the fourth Washington alumnus to coach the Husky football team. Ralph Nichols (1895-96, 1898) was the first, compiling a 7-4-1 record. Enoch Bagshaw (Class of 1907) was the most successful, going 63-22-6 from 1921-29, and guiding the Huskies to their first two Rose Bowl appearances (1924, 1926). John Cherberg (Class of 1933) compiled a 10-18-2 record from 1953-55.

Lambright is 55 years old. He and his wife, Lynne, live in neighboring Marysville. His mother, Eloise, is a longtime Washingtonian who attends all the games. The Lambrights' children: Kris and Eric Lambright, Brent, Brad and Bart Mackie and Regan Campbell, all live in the immediate area with their families. Jim's sister, Sue, is also nearby to lend family support.

The Jim Lambright Medical Foundation

In the spring of 1997, Husky football coach Jim Lambright formed the Jim Lambright Medical Foundation, a nonprofit, volunteer corporation that funds research projects that can lead to a treatment for Niemann-Pick Type C Disease. NP-C is a genetic disorder that usually affects adults and children by interfering with their ability to metabolize cholesterol. It is progressive, degenerative and always — until a cure is found — fatal.

"The adult form of the disease has been diagnosed in my two sons — Brad and Bart — both of whom are over 30 years old," Lambright says. The long-term prognosis for them is not promising without a breakthrough in medical research."

The Foundation's purpose is to speed the search for a cure by funding research and promoting worldwide interaction working on NP-C and related diseases involving the metabolism of cholesterol.

Niemann-Pick Type C Disease is a genetic lipid storage disorder. Adults and children with NP-C are not able to metabolize cholesterol properly. Cholesterol accumulates within the cells of the liver, spleen and brain. This excess storage of cholesterol damages the nervous system resulting in deterioration of the body. Symptoms include difficulty with upward and downward eye movement, slurred or slow speech, difficulty swallowing, loss of motor skills including unsteady balance, irregular gait and frequent falls. As the disease progresses, dementia, seizures and death occur.

JIM LAMBRIGHT MEDICAL RESEARCH

Currently, there is no treatment for NP-C. While studies now are underway to determine the benefits of cholesterol reduction through diet and drugs, the most promising lines of investigation involve genetic therapy and cholesterol metabolism research.

Geneticists now are working to isolate the defective gene. Most of Chromosome 18, where the gene is located, has been mapped. Geneticists are confident that, given the current level of research, this gene can be isolated in the near future. With increased funding, the timetable for isolating the gene will be shortened. In addition, increased funding will speed the development of innovative therapeutic strategies to treat NP-C.

"Our Foundation will parallel the Ara Parseghian Foundation in a commitment to find a cure for Niemann Pick Type C Disease," Lambright says. "Our foundation will help all of those (adults and children) suffering from the disease. It may also help those millions of people suffering from heart disease, strokes, Alzheimer's Disease and other disorders that appear to be related to the metabolism of cholesterol."

What They're Saying About Jim Lambright

"It was kind of symbolic. It was our way of saying, 'This is your team now. This is your first victory.' We just wanted to let him know we appreciated all the time he's put in, all the sleepless nights he's spent over the last two weeks trying to get this thing going."

— Senior captain Andy Mason on the Huskies chanting "Lambo, Lambo, Lambo" following his first Husky victory.

"And while some mourn for Jim Lambright and the fact that he has to take over a program burdened with a two-year bowl ban imposed by the Pacific 10 Conference for NCAA violations, you won't hear him crying. This is the job Lambright has waited for for nearly a quarter of a century."

— Larry Henry, Everett Herald

"Lambo was always a loyal guy. If you had a whole team of guys like him, you'd be set. He wasn't very talented, he wasn't very big, but you'd go undefeated every year with guys like him because he was a battler and a leader. He was tough, so rugged. He's a pretty amazing guy."

— Paul Harbeck, high school teammate

"He can be tough, but he's very positive, and he enabled us to keep our spirits up. He has a great personality, and if you have a problem, you can talk to him about it."

— Lawyer Milloy, free safety 1993-95

"He feels no need to coach through the newspapers. When he wants you to know something, he'll get right up in your face and tell you."

— Jim Nevelle, former Husky center

"Every coach makes you work hard and instills a sense of work ethic in you, from grade school all the way up to high school. But coach Lambright wrote the book on it. He believes that the best way to win and to be No. 1 is to out-work your opponent."

— Russell Hairston, cornerback 1989-94

"Lambo was knocked cold five times while playing football his last year (at Everett High School). He'd hit people that hard. I remember the coaches went out to Paine Field, which was an Air Force base back then, and got him like a fighter pilot's helmet to wear instead of his football helmet. He tried that about three plays and went back to his old helmet."

— Paul Harbeck, high school teammate

"He must have had some great conversations with himself driving home. 'What are you gonna do, defensive coordinator? I don't know, what are you going to do, head coach?'"

— Randy Hart, assistant head coach, on Lambright's dual role as head coach and defensive coordinator in 1993.

"We recruited Jim because we saw him as a guy who would give you everything he had. He didn't do much in first three years, but he kept plugging away and he made a huge improvement between his junior and senior years. He got our most-inspirational-player award his senior year. I was absolutely delighted when he got the job, because he'd been so loyal to the program for so many years, waiting for his chance."

— Jim Owens, Washington head coach 1957-1974

"He's a strong man. He doesn't let you see weaknesses. And yet he's more comfortable. He's got his corner office, and he enjoys doing public relations and overseeing everything. He understands every position on the field. What hasn't changed is that he's still a personable guy. You are not intimidated walking into his office. He'll drop everything to talk. He cares about us. He told us from the get-go, his title has changed, but he's still the same Coach Lambright."

— Ernie Conwell, tight end, 1991-95

"Lambright is as indigenous to Husky football as the dog that appears so frequently on game-day telecasts."

— Blaine Newnham, Seattle Times

"Jim Lambright has become kind of the guru of the eight-man front in college football."

— Greg McMackin, assistant coach at Utah

"That his players feel free to chant 'Lambo' is a sign of his humanness. That they don't feel intimidated and want to go hide in a corner when they meet him in the hallway indicates that there is not an invisible, yet formidable, wall separating them, as there is with many head coaches and their players."

— Larry Henry, Everett Herald

"I'm talking to him on the phone and all of a sudden, there's nothing on the other end. After 16 years, I'm used to it."

— Lynne Lambright on her husband falling asleep during a telephone conversation the night before a game.

"Should Lambright stay at Washington as long as (Don) James, his greatness might be that he motivated those around him to greatness."

— Percy Allen, Seattle Times

"He knows how to motivate. He knows how to get the best out of you. It's in what he says, what he does and just who he is."

— Brock Huard, quarterback

"Lambright is a conduit between Washington's past and future. He is neither old nor young. His blond hair has receded, but he still looks as if he could tackle a runaway fullback."

— Percy Allen, Seattle Times

"Everyone expected us to fall hard. But (Lambright) stood by us and made us believe in the program and what it had stood for all those years before."

— Tony Parrish, free safety

Jim Lambright On ...

On pressure

"Generally, what coaches do is they don't recognize that there's pressure. They attack and assume everything is going to work out fine."

On his first practice

"I was stading out there looking around when it hit me. I realized, 'He's (Don James) not here. It was, 'OK, it's mine now ... we've got work to do.'"

On the transition to head coach

"The Washington job was always at the top of my list. It became that way as soon as Don James hired me and I was able to make the transition from Owens to James. It gave me an opportunity to learn from a new coach and a new system without moving."

On predictions

"People ask me: 'Do you sit down and write down a prediction of what your record's going to be?' I can't do that because my record at the start of the year is 11-0. I don't want to acknowledge the fact that I can't beat somebody. That is just so self-defeating in my mind."

On his ranch in Stanwood

"It gives me emotional tranquility and a way to get away. The more I see of coaches who burn out, I think so much of that has to do with the fact that they can't get away from the daily demands and the daily pressure. This is my way to get away from it — to be out there where I can't hear a sound I can be happy cleaning out horse stalls. I can be happy feeding my ducks and talking to my pig."

On high expectations

"I'm not ever going to give up the high expectations. That's the way I want this program to be. That's the way I expect it to be. I think if you expect less, that's what you'll get."

On serving as an assistant coach with Keith Gilbertson

"We made it part of our game. He'd say, 'I know my offense can get away with this and you can't stop it. What is your defense going to do now?' I'd come up with something, then I'd challenge him. It was fun. We'd sit around talking over our 'root' beers and the hours would just whiz by."

On the attacking-style defense

"A lot of what we started with came from visiting with Buddy Ryan and the Chicago Bears a few years ago — that's where a lot of our attack thinking came from. We've learned a lot from a lot of different people, so we're not going to turn around and act like this is all our own."

On running out of the tunnel at Husky Stadium

"As a player you remember the first time you run down that tunnel more than anything else. You know, even today, I still get some chills down my spine and have a sense of pride in being a Husky when we run out the tunnel."

On Don James and Jim Owens

"The longevity of James and Owens together is incredible. You have to get to the people like Bear Bryant and the Nebraskas and Michigans in order to get equivalent years of consistency."

On being an outstanding defensive player

"The first ingredient to make him great would be a burning desire to win and be tough. There's really a close, binding element between those two things. You can't coach that. You need good feet, otherwise you can't get to the ball. Almost everything else is irrelevant. You have to be dying to win."

On the Husky tradition

"I understand the responsibility that comes with the tradition at Washington. Just like every player and coach, I know I need to improve each year, and I believe I will."

On his new office above the weightroom

"Isn't it (the sound of weights hitting the floor) wonderful? Where else does a coach belong, but above the weight room where I can keep an eye on everything."

On playing freshmen

"In the past, we'd ask them 'Do you want to dress on game day or sit in the stands?' Now, many of them have a good chance of playing."

On his first season at Washington

"We started with Michigan State, then Michigan, then Ohio State, then I don't remember the games after that because we were 0-3 and the wishbone was not working real well. I just know I was questioning my decision to become a college coach."

On hard work

"Any coach will tell you he wants to be No. 1. They'd be lying if they told you anything different. But most of all, he wants his players to experience what it's like to be the best football team in the country. And the only way to do that is through hard work and lots of dedication."

On life outside football

"I'm pretty much like a teddy bear at home. I like to ride my horses and relax. I'm a different person when I'm away from the football field, but I enjoy both things equally. I love my home and my family and my horses, and I love my job. I'm the luckiest guy on earth, if you ask me."

On trick plays

"If you can do something that's relatively smart, maybe a little risky but exciting for the players and fans, it's worth doing. If nothing else, it's good to have trick plays on film — it gives other teams one other thing to worry about."

On being named a Husky assistant coach

"I'll never forget it. I was teaching an ice skating class at Highland Ice Arena when the guy on the PA said 'Jim Lambright, we have a call from Jim Owens for you.'"

On growing up in Everett

"My dad was a commercial fisherman. He had a 55-foot boat, a purse seiner, moored in Everett. In the salmon seasons of June and July when I was a kid, dad and I and four crewmen would fish all over Southeast Alaska, out of Ketchikan and Juneau. I did this in the summers when I played for Owens, and it really built up my hands and forearms, wrestling with all that equipment. I never considered it work. Neither did my dad. We loved it. Whenever I had a chance, I'd drop a line overboard just to fish for fun."

Randy Hart

Assistant Head Coach Defensive Coordinator
Defensive Line Coach

Randy Hart begins his 10th season as a Husky assistant coach, his fourth as assistant head coach and his third as the Washington defensive coordinator in 1997. Hart was named assistant head coach in December of 1993 by coach Jim Lambright. He took over as defensive coordinator following the departure of Chris Tormey, who was named Idaho's head coach following the 1994 season.

In his nine seasons as the Husky defensive line coach, Hart has guided a number of notable players, including Lombardi and Outland winner Steve Emtman, the No. 1 overall pick in the 1992 NFL draft and a unanimous All-American.

Hart helped to engineer Washington's dominating defenses that led the Huskies to three consecutive Rose Bowl appearances at the start of the decade. The 1991 unit allowed only 101 points and 1,191 rushing yards in 11 regular-season games. That unit still holds six Husky defensive records.

Also under Hart's tutelage were 1993 Morris Trophy winner D'Marco Farr, a member of the St. Louis Rams, and NFLers Dennis Brown, Martin Harrison, Tyrone Rodgers and Jamal Fountaine. In nine seasons, Hart has coached five all-conference players, three winners of the Morris Trophy (given to the Pac-10's top defensive and offensive linemen) and two players – Jason Cholak and Emtman – who earned Pac-10 player of the year honors. He is a member of the American Football Coaches Association.

Hart came to Washington after serving as the defensive line coach at Ohio State, his alma mater, from 1982 to 1987. The return to Columbus also marked the third time he served as an assistant under Earle Bruce. From 1977 to 1981 he was the defensive line coach at Purdue under head coach Jim Young. From 1973-76 Hart coached the defensive line for Bruce at Iowa State.

His first full-time coaching position was at the University of Tampa in 1972, where he was the offensive line coach under Bruce. He served as a graduate assistant at OSU in 1970-71.

Hart graduated from The Ohio State University with a bachelor's degree in education in 1970 and earned a master's degree in higher education administration, also from Ohio State, in 1972. He earned three letters as a 6-2, 234-pound offensive guard on the Buckeye football team under legendary coach Woody Hayes and played for the Ohio State team that beat USC, 27-16, in the 1969 Rose Bowl. That squad, which posted a perfect 10-0 record, was named the 1968 national champions. Hart was a member of the Ohio State wrestling team for the 1966 season.

The first time Hart entered Husky Stadium was not as a Husky assistant coach. In 1969, his senior season, Hart was a member of the number-one ranked Buckeye squad that defeated Washington 41-14. Coincidentally, UW head coach Jim Lambright was a first-year assistant on coach Jim Owens staff at the time.

Hart's second trip to Husky Stadium came during the 1974 season as an assistant coach for Iowa State. The Huskies won that matchup 31-28.

Hart, who was born March 9, 1948, in Cleveland, Ohio, lettered three times each in football, wrestling and track at South High in Willoughby, Ohio and served as the team captain and earned league MVP in football.

Hart and his wife Linda have two sons, Jay (20) and John (18).

Scott Linehan

Offensive Coordinator Wide Receiver Coach

Already in his brief career, Scott Linehan has a long list of accomplishments in the football coaching profession. Now in his fourth season with the Huskies, Linehan is in his second season as the team's offensive coordinator. He will coach the Husky receivers for the fourth season.

Last year, Linehan's offensive scheme allowed Washington to score at least 20 points in every game — the first time that has ever been accomplished by a UW team. The Husky offense set single-game records with 559 rushing yards and 734 total yards in Washington's 53-10 win vs. San Jose State.

In his first season as the Washington receivers coach in 1994, Linehan helped to convert Eric Bjornson, a quarterback the previous season, into a split end. Bjornson went on to lead the team in receptions and capped his career by being drafted by the Dallas Cowboys in the fourth round. In 1995 he turned an inexperienced group, including two newcomers, into a solid part of the Husky offense. Last year Dave Janoski finished his UW career in the top-10 for receptions while Jerome Pathon began his emergence as a top-flight, big-play receiver.

Linehan also assists with the kicking game coaching and off-season conditioning. He is a member of the American Football Coaches Association.

Before taking the job at Washington, Linehan was the offensive coordinator and quarterback coach at Idaho, his alma mater. In 1993, he coached quarterback Doug Nussmeier, who won the Walter Payton Award as the Division I-AA Player of the Year. His offense led the nation in 1993 and was second in 1992.

That was his second stint at Idaho; his first was 1989-90. In between, he was the quarterback coach at UNLV in 1991.

In his first term at Idaho, when he handled the receivers, he tutored several All-Americans in Lee Allen (1989) and Kasey Dunn (1990). Yo Murphy followed suit in 1992 by becoming Linehan's third pupil to garner All-America honors.

His first coaching job was as an assistant at Sunset High in Beaverton, Ore., a position he held during the 1987 and 1988 seasons.

Linehan was a standout quarterback at Idaho from 1983-86, when he played under current Seahawk head coach Dennis Erickson. He led the Vandals to the Big Sky championship in 1985 and NCAA I-AA playoff appearances in 1984, 1985 and 1986. He was 32-16 as a starting quarterback and completed 547 of 947 career pass attempts for a career total of 7,018 yards. Those marks still stand near the top of Idaho's all-time records.

Linehan set Idaho's single-game passing efficiency record in a 46-7 win over Mankato State in 1986 when he completed 24 of 29 passes for 403 yards. He signed a free agent contract with the Dallas Cowboys following his college career, but a shoulder injury ended his playing career.

Linehan earned a bachelor's degree in public relations from Idaho in 1986. His brothers, Ron and Rick, were standout defensive players in the 1970's for the Vandals. Ron is one of only three Idaho players to be three-time All-Big Sky Conference selections.

As a prep at Sunnyside (Wash.) High, he was the Washington Class AAA-AA back of the year as a senior in 1981. Born in Sunnyside Sept. 17, 1963, he and his wife Kristen, a former Idaho basketball player, have a two sons, Matthew and Michael.

Dick Baird

Linebacker Coach Recruiting Coordinator

One of the top evaluators of high school players on the west coast, Dick Baird enters his 14th season on the Husky staff in 1996. His tenure is the longest active stretch on the Husky staff among the assistant coaches. The season marks Baird's fifth as a position coach. Baird served as recruiting coordinator for nine years before becoming the wide receivers coach for the 1993 season. In 1994, he switched to take over the inside linebackers.

Last year Baird saw inside linebacker Ink Aleaga earn first-team All-Pac-10 honors for the second straight year. Team-mate John Fiala, who was a captain along with Aleaga, earned District VIII Academic All-American accolades and was drafted by Miami in the sixth round of the NFL draft.

Baird still oversees football recruiting and also handles the football compliance efforts. He is a member of the American Football Coaches Association. He directs both the football summer camp and the annual UW coaches clinic.

Baird originally came to the University as a graduate assistant coach, working with the defensive line, in 1984, after a several high school and college coaching stints. Immediately before coming to UW, he was the head coach at Olympic College from 1981-83, after serving as defensive coordinator from 1978-80.

His first head coaching job was from 1975-77, when he held that post at Mt. Rainier High School. He was also the defensive coordinator at Highline High (1972-74), a teacher and assistant at Kennedy High (1970-71) and a part-time assistant coach at Washington State (1968-69) under Jim Sweeney. At one time or another, he also has coached wrestling, boy's and girl's track and boy's and girl's basketball.

Baird graduated from Washington State in 1968 with a degree in speech and social science. He received his education certificate from the University of Washington in 1970 and continued his post-graduate studies in education administration in 1984 and 1985 at the UW.

He was a three-year starter at linebacker at Washington State and was the team captain his final year, 1967. He earned All-Coast honors in 1965.

Baird, who was born in Seattle May 27, 1946, attended Roosevelt High school, just a mile from the UW campus.

He and his wife Kim have four children — Tiffany, Tristen, Brent and J.B.

Quarterback Coach

Bill Diedrick begins his fourth season at Washington coaching the Husky quarterbacks. Diedrick joined the Husky staff in 1994 and also served as the offensive coordinator his first two seasons.

Last year Diedrick helped Brock Huard to experience the best freshman season ever by a Husky signalcaller. Huard passed for 1,678 yards and was intercepted just five times in 217 attempts. Huard became the first freshman quarterback to pass for more than 300 yards in a game when he finished the Arizona contest with 311 in his first start.

Aside from his duties with the quarterbacks, Diedrick is in charge of academics, counseling, eligibility and press relations. He is a member of the American Football Coaches Association.

In 1995, as offensive coordinator, Diedrick directed the Washington offense that became the first UW team to score at least 20 points in each regular season game. It ranked on the UW all-time top-five lists for total yards, total yards per game and yards per play, setting a Husky record in the latter category. The Huskies accomplished all of that while playing the seventh toughest schedule in the nation according to the NCAA.

Under Diedrick's tutelage Damon Huard set Washington career marks for passing and total yards as a three-year starter.

Immediately before taking the job at Washington, Diedrick was the offensive coordinator for the Edmonton Eskimos of the Canadian Football League from 1991-93. Prior to that, he was the offensive coordinator and quarterback coach at Washington State (1989-90), where he coached NFL star Drew Bledsoe, an eventual No. 1 overall draft pick.

Diedrick coached the quarterback and receivers while serving as offensive coordinator at Idaho from 1986 to 1988. During that stint, he coached future NFL starter John Freisz. From 1984 to 1985, he was assistant head coach and offensive coordinator at Montana State, which he helped lead to the NCAA Division I-AA national title in 1984.

He was also head coach at Rogers High of Spokane, Wash. (1976-81), an assistant at Ferris High of Spokane (1971-75) and a graduate assistant at Hawaii (1970-71).

Diedrick graduated from Eastern Washington in 1970 with a bachelor's degree in physical therapy and physical education and earned a master's in education from Hawaii in 1971.

He was a four-year letterman at Eastern on both the baseball and football teams and earned NAIA All-America in 1967 while leading Eastern to the national finals. He was also an honorable All-American in baseball.

Diedrick, born Oct. 21, 1946, attended North Central High School in Spokane, where he was a standout quarterback.

He and his wife Rose Mary have three sons, Mathew, Justin and Joey.

Tight End Coach

In his fourth full year as an assistant coach, Rick Mallory can already claim a good measure of success. Named tight ends position to succeed Myles Corrigan, who suffered a heart problem, part way through the 1993 season, Mallory was fortunate enough to have Mark Bruener leading his unit through his first year and a half on the job.

Bruener became the all-time Husky leader in receptions by a tight end, was named first-team All-Pac-10 twice and was drafted in the first round of the 1995 NFL draft by the Pittsburgh Steelers. As a rookie, Bruener started in the 1996 Super Bowl.

In 1995 Ernie Conwell took over as a starter and went on to earn first-team All-Pac-10 honors. Conwell was drafted by the St. Louis Rams in the second round of the NFL draft.

Mallory could be tutoring the next Husky All-Pac-10 tight end this year in senior Cameron Cleeland, who has racked up 31 receptions over the past two seasons.

Mallory has worked for the Huskies for all of his coaching career. He was promoted to his current position from his graduate assistant position, which he held in 1992 and 1993.

Aside from coaching the tight ends and the kicking game, Mallory serves as the liaison for the alumni association and the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. Mallory is a member of the American Football Coaches Association.

Mallory was a Husky tight end himself as a freshman and sophomore at Washington before moving to guard prior to his junior season (1982). A three-year letterman, he went on to earn All-Pac-10 and All-Coast honors as a senior in 1983, when he was also a team captain. In the 1984 NFL draft, he was selected by Tampa Bay as a ninth-round pick and went on to play five seasons for the Bucs.

Mallory earned his bachelor's degree in political science from Washington. He attended Lindbergh High in Renton, where he was a standout tight end on the football team.

Born Oct. 21, 1960, in Renton, Mallory and wife Shannon have three sons — Ryan (15), Adam (13) and Cameron (10).

Ron Milus

Defensive Secondary Coach Free Safeties/Cornerbacks

Ron Milus, one of four former Huskies on the current coaching staff, enters his sixth season as the free safety/cornerbacks coach this fall. In his previous seasons, he has done a great deal to make Washington one of the top interception teams in the Pac-10. The 1992 squad was third in the league before the 1993 Huskies picked off 22 passes to lead the nation. In 1994 UW finished fourth in the conference with 13 picks and in 1995 the Huskies topped the Pac-10 with 16 interceptions.

Last season he coached a pair of redshirt freshmen — Mel Miller and Jermaine Smith — who played like veterans against a strong group of opposing quarterbacks.

In addition to coaching the defensive backs, Milus coaches the kick. His off-field responsibilities include scouting, study hall, summer film and film exchange. Milus is a member of the American Football Coaches Association.

The youngest member of the Husky coaching staff, Milus coached at Washington as a graduate assistant in 1991 after having served as an assistant to his father, Bill Milus, at Lincoln High in Tacoma for three seasons. He helped coach former All-American Lawyer Milloy while at Lincoln. When Milus joined the Husky staff on a full-time basis, he became the first of Don James' players to coach at Washington. At the time, he was also the youngest assistant coach in the Pac-10 at just 28-years-old.

Milus graduated from the UW with a degree in society and justice in 1986 after earning four letters as a standout cornerback and return specialist (1982-85). He returned 49 punts for 410 yards and a touchdown during his career while registering 83 tackles, five interceptions and 10 pass deflections. In 1984, he won the most improved defensive back award during spring practice and still ranks in the top 10 in Husky history in punt return yardage. As a junior he finished fourth in the nation in punt returns with a 12.4 average on 17 runbacks.

After his college career, Milus spent a season with the San Diego Chargers.

Milus was born Nov. 25, 1963, in Tacoma and played for coach Jack Newhart at Lincoln, where he was an all-league selection. He won the Norm Mayer Memorial Award in 1981 as Tacoma's most outstanding player. As a senior he rushed for 1,003 yards in high school.

He and his wife Sandra have two young sons, Ryan (seven) and Bobby (three).

Steve Morton Offensive Line Coach

In his sixth season as the Huskies' offensive line coach, Steve Morton has quietly developed the unit into one of the most respected in college football. This year's unit includes offensive guard Benji Olson, a first team AP All-American last season, and center Olin Kreutz, a pre-season All-American.

The Huskies offensive line have been atop the Pac-10 the past few years in two key categories — sacks allowed and rushing yards.

Last year's line included guard Bob Sapp, drafted by the Chicago Bears in the NFL draft. Sapp was named the Pac-10's Morris Trophy winner as the league's top offensive lineman in a vote of the conference's defensive linemen.

Morton has coached a number of players who have gone on to be drafted by NFL teams. Tackle Andrew Peterson and center Frank Garcia were drafted by Carolina in 1995 and made the expansion team's roster. Garcia started in last year's NFC Championship game.

In 1993, Morton coached three players who were either drafted or signed by NFL teams — Pete Pierson (fifth round, Tampa Bay), Tom Gallagher (free agent, Denver) and P.A. Emerson (free agent, Philadelphia). Another lineman that year, National Football Foundation post-graduate scholarship winner Jim Nevelle, turned down pro offers to begin his engineering career.

In 1992, he coached Lincoln Kennedy, an All-American, Lombardi Award finalist, two-time Morris Trophy winner and first-round draft choice (ninth pick).

Aside from coaching the offensive line, he also works with the kicking game. His off-field duties included the officials, football rules, recruiting and the summer job program. Morton is a member of the American Football Coaches Association. His postseason coaching experience includes the 1991 Blue-Gray All-Star game.

Morton was the offensive line coach at Iowa State (1987-91) before coming to Washington. At Iowa State, Morton coached standout lineman Keith Sims, who went on to star for the Dolphins in the NFL.

That was his second coaching stint under Jim Walden. Morton also worked for Walden at Washington State, where he was the line coach for five seasons (1982-86) after serving as tight end coach from 1978-81 and as a graduate assistant from 1975 to 1977.

At WSU, Morton coached Mike Utley, who had emerged into a star lineman for the Detroit Lions before his career was ended by a tragic injury that left him paralyzed. Morton also tutored tight end Pat Beach, who went on to play for the Indianapolis Colts, among others.

Morton received his bachelor's degree in physical education from Washington State in 1976. He played two years as a center and guard for the Cougars after transferring from Grays Harbor Community College where he played from 1971-72. He was named the team's outstanding lineman and selected to the all-Northwest Junior College team in 1972.

Born Oct. 19, 1953, in Chehalis, Wash., Morton attended Chehalis' W.F. West High School. He and his wife Karen have two children, Beau (21) and Bethany (17).

Wayne Moses

Running Back Coach

Wayne Moses, the starting cornerback at Washington in 1976 and '77, is in his first season at Washington as an assistant coach for running backs. Moses replaced Al Roberts, who served on the Huskies' staff for one season before accepting the special teams coaching position with the Cincinnati Bengals in December.

Moses joined the Washington staff after coaching the running backs for Steve Mariucci at California last season. For six years, from 1990 to 1995, Moses was the running backs coach at UCLA under Terry Donahue. Moses began his coaching career at North Carolina State in 1980 when he tutored the defensive backs. From 1981-83 he coached for Denny Stolz at Bowling Green. The 1982 Falcon squad won the Mid-American Conference championship and played in the California Bowl. Moses served as the running backs coach at Rutgers from 1984-85.

From 1986-88 Moses was the running backs coach at San Diego State. He helped the Aztecs to the 1986 Western Athletic Conference championship and coached Paul Hewitt, the school's all-time rushing leader at the time. Hewitt was the nation's top scorer in 1987 with 24 touchdowns.

Moses had a one-year stay at New Mexico in 1989 as the wide receivers coach. His group of receivers included current Atlanta Falcon Terance Mathis, who at the time, was the NCAA's all-time leader in pass receptions (263 catches) and receiving yardage (4,254 yards). During the 1989 season Mathis caught 88 passes for 1,315 yards. Moses spent the summers of 1990 and 1993 in the camps of the NFL's Los Angeles Raiders and Seattle Seahawks in a coaching intern program.

During his 16-year tenure as a coach, Moses has had six of his running backs rush for 1,000 yards. He was most recently credited with the emergence of tailback Karim Abdul Jabbar, the leading rusher in the Pac-10 and ninth in the NCAA in 1995. The talented junior rushed for a school record 1,571 yards, a UCLA record, and had three straight 200-yard rushing games. Other players he coached at UCLA included Kevin Williams, who led the Pac-10 in rushing in 1991, Kevin Smith, a 1992 draftee of the Los Angeles Raiders and Maury Toy, a fifth-round pick of the Indianapolis Colts.

Moses lettered four seasons (1973, '74, '76 and '77) at Washington, starting at cornerback in '76 and '77 and intercepting seven passes his final two seasons. He helped the Huskies to the 1978 Rose Bowl, where they defeated Michigan, 27-20. Moses graduated from Washington in 1977 with a degree in political science. He spent six months out of football when he was hired by the FBI to train as an agent.

Moses was born in Newgulf, Texas. He and his wife, Rosalind, have two daughters, Valerie (15) and Kimberly (10).

Scott Pelluer

Roverbacks and Whip Linebackers Coach

Former Washington State standout linebacker Scott Pelluer is in his second year coach Washington's safeties and whip linebackers.

All of the starters Pelluer coached last season return to Washington's lineup this fall. That includes senior captain Jerry Jensen and roverback Nigel Burton, a Region VIII Academic All-American last season.

Pelluer spent three seasons at Northern Arizona as the defensive coordinator and linebackers coach before joining the Husky staff. Under his direction, the Lumberjacks developed a dominating defense that ended the 1995 season ranked No. 1 in every defensive category in the Big Sky Conference. Also nationally ranked in several areas, Northern Arizona's defense ended the 1995 season giving up an average of 14.8 points per game -- the lowest total in the Big Sky Conference since the 1978 season.

Pelluer is a familiar name in the Northwest. A 1981 graduate of Washington State, he was a four-year starter at outside linebacker for the Cougars and earned honorable mention All-Pac-10 honors his senior season. He was selected to play in the East-West Shrine Game. He finished his career with 240 tackles, including 180 solo tackles. His brother, Steve, was Washington's starting quarterback from 1981-83, earning Pac-10 offensive player of the year honors in 1983.

Prior to his arrival at Northern Arizona, Pelluer coached linebackers and was the recruiting coordinator at Boise State from 1987-92. Pelluer played six years professionally for the New Orleans Saints. He began his NFL career as a fourth-round draft choice of the Dallas Cowboys in 1981. The Saints picked up Pelluer on waivers in 1981.

While in New Orleans, Pelluer played in 65 games. He also participated in many community activities, organizing the "Winning Touch" football camp that raised money for the Louisiana Special Olympics. He also served on the board of directors for the Ronald McDonald House for four years. Pelluer is a member of the American Football Coaches Association.

Pelluer and his wife, Kimberly, are the parents of three sons, Tyler (10), Cooper (5), Peyton (2) and one daughter, Jordan (8).

Graduate Assistant Coaches

Keith Murphy Graduate Assistant -- Offense (First Year)

Keith Murphy is in his first season as a graduate assistant coach at Washington after serving as a manager last year. Murphy, a four-year veteran of the Husky team, opted not to play in 1996 and to being a career in coaching. He will work primarily with the offense and special teams.

Murphy, who originally walked onto the Husky program, was one of nine players in 1994 to be awarded a scholarship. He appeared in two games as a freshman and three times a sophomore.

A native of Seattle, Murphy was born July 7, 1974. He earned all-league honors as a senior at Mt. Rainier High School as a defensive back and place kicker. His team reached the King Bowl when he was a junior and finished with a 10-3 record. Murphy also lettered in track, soccer and basketball.

Murphy graduated from Washington in 1997 with a degree in psychology.

Randy Hanson Graduate Assistant -- Defense (Second Year)

Randy Hanson is in his second season as a graduate assistant coach on the Washington Staff. From 1993-95 Hanson served as a full-time assistant at Eastern Washington. He coached the running backs, secondary and special teams. He works primarily with the defense at Washington.

A native of Burlington, Wash., Hanson earned his undergraduate degree in communications from Pacific University (OR) in 1992. He minored in sociology. He completed work on a degree in health education in 1995 from Eastern Washington.

Hanson was a standout quarterback at Burlington-Edison (WA) High School and began his collegiate career at Delta Junior College in Stockton, Calif. After two years he transferred to Walla Walla Junior College from 1988-89. From 1990-91 he was enrolled at Pacific Univ. where he quarterbacked the football team.

In addition to his coaching background, Hanson has taught middle school in Spokane and been an instructor in weight training and conditioning at Eastern Washington.

THE ADMINISTRATION

The University of Washington

Founded in 1861, the University of Washington is one of the foremost institutions of higher education in the nation, richly combining its research, instructional and public service missions.

Its internationally acclaimed faculty includes four Nobel Laureates, and the winner of the 1990 National Book Award for Fiction. Washington is part of an elite group of research universities whose contributions to American life are unique because they generate the basic knowledge upon which practical innovations are based.

The UW student body on the Seattle campus totals about 34,000, with an undergraduate enrollment of approximately 25,000 and a graduate enrollment of approximately 9,000. The UW also has campuses in Bothell and Tacoma, designed primarily for upper division (junior and senior) undergraduates. Total enrollment at these campuses is about 2,000.

For more than 25 years, the university has been among the country's top five institutions in the dollar value of federal research grants and contracts awarded to its faculty. Total grant and contract activity for 1996 exceeded $482 million. More than 80 percent of the university's grant and contract funds come from federal agencies. Research contributes directly to the educational goals of graduate and professional students, as well as to those of undergraduates.

Instruction and research at Washington are supported by a library system that is one of the most extensive in the nation, consisting of five major units and 18 branches, as well as libraries at UW Tacoma and UW Bothell, together housing more than five million volumes. In addition to offering instruction in more than 100 academic disciplines, the university offers a spectrum of continuing education courses that advance technical and professional skills and provide opportunities for personal growth and enrichment.

Washington has 16 major schools and colleges: Architecture and Urban Planning, Arts and Sciences, Business Administration, Dentistry, Education, Engineering, Forest Resources, The Graduate School, Law, Medicine, Nursing, Ocean and Fishery Sciences, Pharmacy, Public Affairs, Public Health and Community Medicine, and Social Work. Washington also has campuses in Tacoma and Bothell.

About 90 percent of the University's undergraduate students are state residents, although instructional programs draw students from every region of the country and overseas. Most freshmen entering Washington are in the top third of their high school graduating classes.

Beyond its academic and service missions, the UW has a strong economic impact on Washington and the Pacific Northwest.

With about 17,000 employees, Washington is the second largest employer in King County. Washington operates the University of Washington Medical Center and Harborview Medical Center, which annually provide more than 200,000 days of patient care and record more than 300,000 visits to their outpatient clinics.

Washington also plays a critical role in attracting new business to the region. It provides these, and established businesses, with a steady stream of well-educated graduates and with highly skilled faculty members who assist business and industry in a variety of ways.

The University of Washington in Seattle is located on 703 acres in the city's northeast residential area, a beautiful setting on the shore of Lake Washington and Portage Bay. The majestic Cascade Mountains can be seen to the east, while the western view includes downtown Seattle and Lake Union. The combination of this spectacular setting with buildings in both neo-Gothic and modern styles gives the campus a distinctive aura.

The President of the University of Washington is Dr. Richard L. McCormick, in his third year of service in this capacity. The director of athletics is Barbara Hedges, in her eighth year of service to the University of Washington.

Richard L. McCormick President

Richard L. McCormick became president of the University of Washington on Sept. 1, 1995. He is Washington's 28th president.

From 1992 to 1995, McCormick served as Provost and Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. Prior to that, he was Dean of Arts and Sciences at Rutgers University from 1989 to 1992 and chair of the Department of History at Rutgers from 1987 to 1989.

McCormick received a bachelor of arts degree from Amherst College in 1969 and a Ph.D. in history from Yale University in 1976. He began his teaching career at Rutgers as an assistant professor of history in 1976 and was promoted to associate professor in 1981 and to professor in 1985. He is the author of three books on American political history, numerous articles, and held a prestigious John Simon Guggenheim Foundation Fellowship in 1985.

In his two years at the UW, McCormick has worked hard to establish collaborative relationships with other Washington state higher education institutions on issues of common interest, especially enrollment growth and educational technology. Under his leadership, efforts to improve undergraduate education have continued. UW students will have greater access to courses needed for graduation, and more funding for educational technology has been provided. Strategic planning is underway on a variety of issues, including enrollment, institutional accountability, communications, and public service.

In February 1996, McCormick announced the creation of the University Initiatives Fund, which is designed to enable the University to take advantage of emerging opportunities in ways that the normal budgeting process does not allow. McCormick has traveled extensively within the state, meeting with legislators, alumni, students and friends of the University, as well as meeting with alumni groups across the country.

McCormick is married to professor of history Suzanne Lebsock. They have two children, Betsy, age 13, and Michael, age eight.

Seattle The Emerald City

First-time visitors are astonished at the wealth of natural beauty in and around Seattle. Literally touching the city's boundaries are thousands of square miles of evergreen forest and hundreds of miles of salt and freshwater shoreline. With this wealth of nature at their doorstep, both Seattleites and visitors concentrate much of their recreation in the outdoors.

Bracketed east and west by freshwater Lake Washington and saltwater Puget Sound, the city occupies a north-south corridor, slender at the waist and embracing numerous hills. On a clear day, the views of the mountains and water are spectacular.

Most of Seattle's attractions are clustered in pedestrian-scale sections, best savored on foot. Central business district buses are free and the Monorail speeds quickly between downtown and the Seattle Center.

Crown jewel of Seattle's attractions is the Seattle Center, the 74-acre legacy of the 1962 World's Fair. Its distinctive 605-foot Space Needle is the city's leading landmark and eight million people visit annually. From its lofty observation deck, there's a 360-degree view of the city and Puget Sound, backdropped by the snowcapped Cascade Range to the east and the Olympic Mountains to the west.

Seattle Center is enjoyable in any season but on weekends and fairweather days between April and October, it's a beehive of activity with outdoor concerts, amusement park attractions, impromptu performances and special events.

Downtown, just two blocks uphill from the water, Pike Place Market is one of the last authentic farmer's markets in the country. A walk through the colorful old market becomes truly a sensory experience as vendors hawk their wares in a dozen different languages; coffee, tea and spice shops assail you with their pungent odors; and seemingly limitless heaps of fresh fruit, vegetables and seafood stretch away on every hand.

Pioneer Square, the city's preserved historic district, lies adjacent to the southern end of the downtown waterfront. Here the city has its roots, centered around the original Skid Road (Yesler Way), a road used to skid timber down from the hills to Elliott Bay.

Many of the fine old brick and sandstone buildings have been painstakingly restored in recent years and a half-dozen square blocks of the district offer excellent shopping and dining as well as historic ambience. The Underground Tours that go beneath the current-day Pioneer Square cobblestones provide a glimpse of Seattle, circa 1890.

Seattle's strong maritime environment comes into sharp focus at Fisherman's Terminal, home of hundreds of purse seiners and gill net boats. Residents often take time to stroll along the piers, watch fishermen mending their nets and admire the sturdy boats that take these men to sea.

Getting out on the water is easy. The cheapest way is to board one of the big green and white Washington State Ferries for a ride across the Sound to Bremerton (55 minutes each way) or Bainbridge Island (30 minutes each way). Both ferries move through the bustling harbor traffic, offer a look at the islands and residential shorelines across Puget Sound and provide stunning views of the city skyline and waterfront from Elliott Bay.

Seattle is famous for its fresh seafood, especially local clams, oysters, salmon, halibut and crab. The best seafood restaurants also have water views where you can sit beside Puget Sound, Lake Union or Lake Washington and watch the marine traffic. But, Seattle dining is much more than seafood. Large Scandinavian and Oriental populations add exotic fares of those regions to Seattle menus. Visitors can also partake of French, German, Italian, Greek, Polynesian, Thai and a dozen other cuisines.

Barbara Hedges Director of Athletics

There is a chalkboard in Barbara Hedges' office filled with inspirational messages, quotations and philosophies provided by her staff and visitors. One of her passages reads, "Hope is not a strategy." It is very appropriate. The recent successes for Washington's athletic programs during Hedges' tenure have been forged in hard-work, planning and a commitment to excellence, not just hope.

Last year was the most successful in Husky history. All 23 athletic programs were represented in postseason competition. The Husky women's crew team won the inaugural NCAA Women's Rowing Championships to bring home the first NCAA team title in the school's history. The Husky men's crew team swept the top three places at the IRA Championships. Washington finished 11th in the annual Sears Directors' Cup standings, the best finish ever by the Huskies.

A total of 20 Washington student-athletes earned All-America accolades during the year. The Huskies had 44 student-athletes named to first- or second-team all-conference teams. There were 42 Huskies who received first- or second-team Pac-10 All-Academic honors.

The future looks even brighter on the Husky athletic scene. A capital improvements project to create an "athletic village" is currently underway. When it is finished, there will be $56 million in improvements to the campus athletic facilities. Hec Edmundson Pavilion will undergo a massive renovation, new stadiums will be constructed for baseball and the men's and women's soccer programs. A new soccer practice facility will be added to the landscape in addition to a new, multi-purpose indoor training facility. Washington's shellhouse, which houses the Student Athlete Services, will undergo upgrades. Washington's new softball stadium completed its first year of competition in 1997 after several phases of construction.

The Husky program has been on the fast track since Hedges arrival in 1991. One of Washington's greatest feats came just months after she took over the UW program when the Husky football team was crowned national champions after a perfect 12-0 record and making its third consecutive trip to the Rose Bowl in 1992.

More importantly than just championships, under Hedges' guidance Washington has become one of the national leaders in participation for student-athletes and compliance. Last season 750 student-athletes competed for Husky teams — the most in the Pac-10. Washington has also emerged as a leading school in terms of gender equity, fielding a program that provides near equal participation opportunities for males and females. Washington is one of a handful of Division I programs in compliance with federal Title IX legislation.

Hedges is similarly committed to a high level of academic achievement among Washington's student-athlete population. To this end, she has instituted a number of progressive measures — such as the Total Student-Athlete program devoted to leadership training, mentor programs and career nights — that she hopes will aid the student-athletes in more easily achieving all their non-athletic goals. The University's "U-Wired" program is unique in the nation, allowing student-athletes access to laptop computers to stay in touch with their classes while on the road competing.

Hedges is no stranger to the responsibilities of running nationally prominent athletic programs. In 1985, she assumed responsibility for the daily operation of 17 men's and women's sports, including the administration of a $4 million budget, as an associate athletic director at the University of Southern California. In June of 1989, Hedges was promoted to senior associate director of athletics at USC.

She joined the USC staff in 1973 when she was appointed associate athletic director in charge of USC's nine women's sports. Under her guidance, USC built a winning tradition for its women's sports programs that reflected a commitment to high standards of athletic and academic excellence. During her tenure, 13 USC women's teams won national championships and 68 women earned individual national titles. More than 150 Trojan women were honored as All-Americans and 36 athletes reached the Olympic ranks.

Since 1985, when she assumed the administrative responsibility for eight men's sports, USC earned three more national championships and 12 individual titles. More than 100 USC men garnered All-American acclaim and 10 were Olympians during her tenure.

She took the welfare of her student-athletes to heart through her membership on the President's Task Force to Review Student-Athlete Academic Services, the USC Student-Athlete Review Task Force and the USC Student-Athlete Drug Testing Review Committee.

Her commitment to the field of college athletics makes her a familiar name on the national scene as well. Hedges has served as president of the Council of Collegiate Women

Athletic Administrators and the Western Collegiate Athletic Association and also served a term as president of the Division I-A Women's Athletic Administrators. She chaired the NCAA Women's Tennis Committee for eight years and the NCAA Division I Men's and Women's Tennis Committee in 1988. She was one of a three-member NCAA Special Television Committee to negotiate the NCAA rights for all sports except football and basketball with ESPN, ABC, CBS and international television.

This past year she was the first woman to serve as president of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics. She is also the chair of the NCAA Honors Committee, is on the executive committee of the Division I-A Athletic Directors' Association and also sits on the Pro Sports Liaison Committee and on the Blue Ribbon Task Force for College Football USA.

Hedges is also experienced with the administration of championship events. She served as tournament director for the 1995 NCAA Men's Final Four, the 1993 NCAA Men's Basketball West Regional and the 1984 West Regional Women's Basketball Championship. Hedges was instrumental in bringing the 1992 Division I Women's Final Four to Los Angeles. At USC, she was administratively responsible for the 1988 NCAA Division I Men's Golf Championship and the 1990 Division I Men's Tennis Championship.

Before going to Southern California in 1973, Hedges coached gymnastics and taught physical education at the University of Arizona. During her five years with the Wildcats, Hedges coached her team to three conference championships and assisted in integrating women's athletic programs into the university's athletic structure. She developed a community education program for high school students in the area, helping them become more knowledgeable about Arizona's athletic programs.

From 1967-68, Hedges coached and taught gymnastics at Carey Junior High School in Cheyenne, Wyoming. As part of her responsibilities, she established a gymnastics program for the entire school system, including the training of student-athletes, judges and meet officials. She also headed fund-raising efforts to acquire equipment for the program and organized a parents' support group.

Hedges began her career as the head of the West Denver High School girls physical education department. Her responsibilities included coaching and teaching gymnastics, tennis and coordinating various fund-raising efforts.

Hedges received her bachelor's degree in physical education from Arizona State University in 1963 where she was honored as the university's outstanding physical education major while also being named to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. She received her master's from the University of Arizona in 1971.

Hedges was born on August 23, 1937, in Glendale, Arizona. She and her husband, John, have two grown children, Mark and Gregg.

Marie Tuite Senior Associate Athletic Director

Marie Tuite enters her fourth year as Senior Associate Athletic Director for Olympic Sports in 1997. She is Washington's Senior Woman Administrator. During her first three years at Washington, the Huskies have enjoyed a tremendous amount of success. Last year all 23 of Washington's programs were represented in postseason play. Washington finished 11th in the annual Sears Cup voting and the Huskies won their first-ever NCAA team championship.

Since her arrival at Washington, the Huskies have steadily improved in postseason appearances. In 1994-95 15 of Washington's teams were represented in postseason competition. That number rose to 17 in 1995-96. Tuite also oversees the Husky training room and strength and conditioning operations.

Tuite, a 43-year-old native of Livonia, Mich., joined the Husky staff after serving as the assistant director of championships for the National Collegiate Athletic Association since 1989. She was a liaison for the NCAA's sports committees in the administration and conduct of various championships. Her duties included working with host institutions, coordinating corporate sponsor programs, merchandising and promotions.

During her tenure at the NCAA, Tuite oversaw the administration of the Division I men's soccer championship, the Division I men's volleyball championship, the Division I women's gymnastics championship, the Division I women's softball College World Series and the 40-team Division III men's basketball championship. She also worked with the NCAA Division I women's lacrosse championship and the Division I swimming and diving championship.

Tuite is no stranger to the Pac-10 Conference. She served as the assistant women's athletic director at California from 1984-89. Her responsibilities included managing, developing and controlling fiscal policies for the department; supervising capital construction projects; management of home athletic events; supervision of the business office and support staff and insuring department compliance with university, NCAA and conference policies and procedures.

This year Tuite will serve a one-year appointment as a vice president for the Pac-10 Conference. In addition, Tuite is currently serving on the NCAA Championship Cabinet.

As director of athletic programs and activities at Alma College (Mich.) from 1981-84, Tuite coordinated 18 intercollegiate programs for men and women. Prior to entering the administrative side of intercollegiate athletics, Tuite held several coaching and teaching positions.

A 1975 graduate of Central Michigan with a bachelor of science in physical education, Tuite lettered for the Chippewas in basketball and field hockey. In 1981 she earned her master of arts degree in athletic administration from Central Michigan. Tuite was inducted into the Central Michigan Hall of Fame in 1990.

Gary Barta Senior Associate Athletic Director

Gary Barta is in his second year as a Senior Associate Athletic Director for External Affairs at Washington. Barta joined the Husky staff in November of 1996. His responsibilities include the management of the external relations program, including development, marketing and promotions, external and community relations and media relations for the department of intercollegiate athletics. He also serves as a member of the development cabinet of the Vice President for Development.

Barta is spearheading Washington's "Campaign for the Student-Athlete" which will assist in funding $56 million in capital improvements. Barta is coordinating funding efforts to build a new soccer/baseball complex, renovate Hec Edmundson Pavilion, construct a new, multi-purpose indoor practice facility and renovate the Conibear Shellhouse.

A native of Minneapolis, Minn., Barta served as the director of athletic development and external affairs at the University of Northern Iowa for six years before coming to Washington. Barta began his career in fund development at North Dakota State from 1988-90. During that same time he was also a sportscaster for WDAY Radio/Television in Fargo.

Barta earned his bachelor of science degree in mass communication from North Dakota State in 1987. He was an option quarterback for the Bison football squad that won Division II NCAA national championships in 1983, '85 and '86.

He and his wife, Connie, live in Lynnwood.

Bob Stull Senior Associate Athletic Director

Bob Stull begins his second year as Senior Associate Athletic Director for development after joining the Husky staff in December of 1996. Stull, who had an earlier stint at Washington as an assistant football coach, spent two years as President and CEO of the Boys and Girls Clubs of King County before returning to collegiate athletics.

Stull coordinates the development and fundraising areas for Washington, including the Tyee Club, a large group of active Husky supporters. He also has responsibility for the Husky Ticket Office, the Husky Marching Band and the Tyee Board of Directors. He also assists senior associate director Gary Barta in fundraising opportunities for capital development. He is a member of the National Association of College Directors of Athletics.

Stull was an assistant football coach at Washington from 1975-84. During that time he served as the offensive coordinator and the offensive line coach. Stull left Washington to become head football coach at Massachusetts from 1984-85. He took over the program at the University of Texas at El Paso (UTEP) from 1986-88 and directed the Miners to a school record 10-2 season and the school's first bowl game since 1969. From 1989 to 1993 he was the head football coach at Missouri.

Stull earned his undergraduate and master's degrees from Kansas State, where he was the captain of the football team in 1967. Stull and his wife, Kimberly Ann, have two children, Shannon and Kevin, and reside in Kirkland.

Ralph Bayard Senior Associate Athletic Director

Ralph Bayard begins his fifth year as the Huskies' Senior Associate Athletic Director for compliance and academics. As director for compliance, Bayard shares the responsibility with Barbara Hedges for ensuring that the department of intercollegiate athletics is in full compliance with all applicable University, State of Washington, Pacific-10 Conference, and NCAA rules, regulations, and policies that govern intercollegiate athletics.

Bayard oversees Student Athlete Academic Services. He also oversees recruiting, camps and clinics, the summer jobs program, the Total Student-Athlete Program and drug education. He is a member of the National Association of College Directors of Athletics.

Bayard joined the Husky staff in 1993 after spending 16 years with the Washington Interscholastic Activities Association. He joined the WIAA in 1977 and served two years as public relations director and media coordinator. He then supervised tournament promotion, corporate sponsorships and the budget before being named the Associate Executive Director in 1987.

A 1971 Washington graduate with a degree in communications, Bayard earned his master's in communications from UW in 1977 and is currently working towards his doctorate in Educational Leadership and Policy Studies. He was a two-year standout wide receiver for the Husky football team after transferring from San Francisco City College. Following his graduation Bayard worked as the assistant news and public affairs director at KUOW Radio. He worked for one year as a news editor at KIRO Radio from 1976-77 before starting his career at the WIAA.

The 48-year-old Bayard and his wife, Idell, have two sons — Joseph (18) and Andre (11).

Paul King Associate Athletic Director for Business and Finance

Paul King is in his third year overseeing the business and financial affairs of the athletic department. He is responsible for the overall financial management of all athletic programs, involving policy making, strategic planning, financial management, staff and organizational development. King also oversees the day-to-day operation of the Husky business office. He is the department's chief operating officer and chief financial officer.

King supervises the business office, personnel and payroll, travel, computer systems, the equipment and laundry operation, the video operations department and handles all contract and insurance matters for the department.

Beginning his 14th year overall at Washington, King previously worked as the department's business manager. King joined the Husky staff as an accountant in the business office.

King's previous business experience is in the airfreight and woodstove industries.

A 44-year old native of Minneapolis, Minn., King received his bachelor's degree in accounting from the University of Minnesota. He and his wife, Deborah, have four children, April (15), Andrea (14), Benjamin (13) and Clayton (6).

Chip Lydum Assistant Athletic Director for Facilities and Events

Chip Lydum is in his fourth year as the assistant athletic director for facilities and event management and 13th overall at Washington. Prior to being appointed to the position in September, 1994, he served for three years as the assistant to the athletic director. In addition to overseeing the day-to-day operation of Washington's athletic facilities, Lydum helps to coordinate the department's capital projects planning, maintenance and facilities scheduling.

Lydum began his career at Washington as an assistant sports information director from 1984-91. He coordinated all media relations for the men's basketball team, as well as providing sports information assistance for each of Washington's other sports. During that time, Lydum also played a major role in the department's media relations planning and execution for various bowl games and NCAA championship events as well as serving as venue press chief for the Goodwill Games volleyball and wrestling competition in 1990.

Lydum has been honored several times by the College Sports Information Director's of America (CoSIDA) for his writing, winning Best in the District honors in 1985 and 1986.

The 40-year-old Seattle native received his bachelor's degree in journalism from Washington in 1984 after serving in the United States Marine Corps. He is a member of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics and is a graduate of the Sports Management Institute.

Robert Aronson Faculty Athletic Representative

Robert Aronson is in his fifth year as Washington's Faculty Athletic Representative, responsible for overseeing the relationship between the University and the athletic department. Aronson is a professor of law.

Aronson has been a UW faculty member since 1975. He has taught courses in civil procedure, criminal law, evidence, legal research and professional responsibility. He has written six books and numerous journal articles, and is recognized as a national expert in legal and judicial ethics. He was chair of the Faculty Senate in 1987-88, and served on the Advisory Committee on Intercollegiate Athletics from 1988-91.

Aronson received a bachelor's degree with honors from the University of Virginia in 1969, and his juris doctor cum laude from the University of Pennsylvania in 1973. He was a two-sport athlete, lacrosse and soccer, while at Virginia, and made the ACC honor roll for his academic and athletic achievements.

Aronson and his wife, Terri, have two daughters, Tamara (nine) and Jennifer (seven).

Gertrude Peoples Director of External Affairs and Community Relations

Beginning her 26th year as Director of External Affairs and Community Relations is Gertrude Peoples. She oversees the athletic department's community outreach program. Peoples directs the Purple Hearts Program that allows student-athletes, coaches and administrators to interact with community outreach programs. In addition, she coordinates the speakers bureau. She is a member of the department's Total Student-Athlete Committee, the External Relations Committee and helps to coordinate and supervise the Senior Job Intern Program. Peoples is truly an ambassador for the athletic department. Peoples took over her current role after heading up the student-athlete academic services area for 24 years.

Peoples joined the department in 1972 after working at the University of Washington in the Education Opportunity Program. Prior to that she worked at United Intercity Development, assisting small minority businesses. Peoples has been influential in determining the course and structure of the academic program, and has been recognized nationally for her work. In 1991 she received the Lan Hewlett Award for Outstanding Performance as an Academic Advisor for Athletics. In 1995 she received the inaugural Distinguished Service Award from the athletic department for her development of a tutorial program. She was honored in 1996 at the Husky Hall of Fame Banquet with the Dr. Don H. Palmer Award. The most prestigious award presented by the Big "W" Alumni Club and it signifies contributions to the success of the overall athletic department.

A native of Seattle, Peoples is a former vice president of the National Association of Academic Advisors and was inducted into the Frederick Douglass Distinguished Scholars Honor Society in 1988 for her dedicated service to the lives of young people in their pursuit of quality education and scholarship.

Peoples is the mother of three adult children - John, Steven and Carol. She has five grandchildren.

Myles Corrigan Assistant to the Athletic Director Football Operations

Myles Corrigan is in his fourth year as the Assistant to the Athletic Director and overseeing football operations. Corrigan serves as a liaison between the Husky football coaching and administrative staffs regarding academic services, team travel and community outreach efforts. He directs the staff and athlete speakers bureau, oversees football alumni relations, including the Legends Program, boat moorage, the Legends Salute during football games and athletic parking, and coordinates the Husky Host recruiting organization for all sports.

Corrigan's Legends program has quickly grown to include several hundred former Washington student-athletes. Each spring the group meets on campus for a family luncheon centered around the Spring football game.

Corrigan was named to the position in February of 1994 after retiring from coaching after suffering a dissected aorta during the 1993 California game. Corrigan served seven years as an assistant coach at Washington.

Corrigan earned a bachelor's degree in Speech and English from Cal State Northridge in 1968. From there he served as an assistant and head high school coach at five different California high schools along with being an athletic director before becoming offensive coordinator at Puget Sound in 1981. He stayed at UPS until 1986 when he became a graduate assistant at Washington until being hired as an assistant coach. Corrigan earned a masters degree in education from the University of San Francisco in 1983 and studied educational administration at the UW from 1986-87. He is a 1996 graduate of the Sports Management Institute.

Corrigan and his wife, Suzanne, have two sons, Brent, who will be a junior at the University, and Todd (16).

Jim Daves Media Relations Director

Jim Daves is in his sixth year as the Media Relations Director at Washington, overseeing a full-time staff of four assistants.

During his tenure at Washington, Daves has served as the media coordinator for the 1995 Final Four in Seattle and the 1993 West Regional of the NCAA Men's Basketball Championship. In 1997 he was a member of the NCAA Communications Committee for the Division I Men's Basketball Final Four.

Prior to joining the Husky staff, Daves was an associate sports information director at Notre Dame from 1986-92. In addition to his responsibilities with football and men's basketball media relations, he was editor of both the football and basketball game programs. His football programs earned best in the nation citations five consecutive years from the College Sports Information Directors of America (CoSIDA). Daves has also been the recipient of several CoSIDA national writing awards. He served as the director of communications for the Midwestern Collegiate Conference from 1985-86.

A 35-year-old native of Greensboro, N.C., he received a degree in business administration from North Carolina Charlotte in 1984. He spent four years as a student assistant in the UNCC sports information office, two years as student sports promotions director for UNCC and his senior year as sports editor of The 49er Times, UNCC's student newspaper.

His wife, Patti, is the former public relations director for the United States Gymnastics Federation and the United States Ski Team and currently works for the University's Alumni Association. They have a chocolate lab named Bo who is the most spoiled dog in the world.

Leigh Baker Sales and Ticketing Operations Director

Leigh Baker was named the Ticket Director at Washington in June, 1997. Baker joins the Washington staff after serving as the Ticket Operations Director for the Seattle Supersonics from January of 1995 to June of 1997.

Baker will be responsible for all aspects of ticketing, including management, allocations and financial accountability. She will oversee football season ticket sales that annually exceed 67,000.

Prior to taking over the ticket operation for the Sonics, Baker was the Ticket Office Manager for the San Antonio Spurs from 1993-94. She originally joined the Spurs' ticket staff in 1992. Her background in collegiate athletics includes a one-year stint at Texas A&M as a ticket office assistant.

Baker graduated from Texas A&M in 1990 with a b.a. in history. She is a native of Houston, Texas. Her father, Dale Baker, is an assistant football coach at Aldine High School in Houston.

Leslie Wurzberger Marketing and Promotions Director

Leslie Wurzberger (formerly Keast) is in her first year as Washington's Director of Marketing and Promotions. She took over the position in December of 1996 after spending the previous five years as the assistant director of Olympic Sports at Washington.

In her new role, Wurzberger oversees the marketing, advertising, promotions and ticket and corporate partnership sales efforts for the Huskies' 23 athletic programs. She is responsible for all gameday special events and promotions, including entertainment, contests, premium giveaways and presentations.

She oversees the Husky Corporate Partnership Program, the Husky Mascot Team, the Group Tickets Program and the Washington Marketing Internship Program comprised of 10 students working year-long to market and promote Husky athletics.

As assistant director of Olympic Sports, Wurzberger was responsible for the coordination and planning of all home regular season and special events for 23 men's and women's sports. She was also responsible for the development and implementation of marketing and promotional plans for selected Olympic sports.

A 1990 Washington graduate, Wurzberger came to UW after a one-year internship with the public affairs office at the NCAA. She assisted in the administration of inquiries from the news media, promotion of NCAA championships, NCAA Productions, marketing, licensing and corporate sponsorships, collegiate records and statistics and the Association's honors program.

Wurzberger graduated from Washington with bachelor's degrees in speech communication and business administration. As a student, she served as chairman of the Washington Student Athletic Board and worked for two years as a student assistant in the media relations office. She received her master's of science degree in sport management in 1992, from the University of Massachusetts at Amherst, where she worked as a graduate assistant in sports information.

Wurzberger is active in a number of community organizations and was the chairman for the 1996 University of Washington Combined Fund Drive campaign. She is a member of the National Association of Collegiate Women Athletic Administrators, the National Association of Collegiate Marketing Administrators, the Women's Sports Foundation and the National Association of Collegiate Directors for Athletics.

Last June she was married to Dean Wurzberger, Washington's men's soccer coach. They reside in Kirkland.

Debra Vinci Coordinator Husky Sports Nutrition Program

Debra Vinci is in her fifth year with the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics. This year her responsibilities will involve coordinating the Husky Sports Nutrition Program. In this position, she will provide individual nutrition counseling and team presentations on issues related to nutrition and athletic performance.

Vinci earned both a bachelor's and masters degree in Nutrition from the University of Vermont and completed her dietetic internship at the University of Iowa Hospitals and Clinics. In September, she will complete her doctorate in health education at Loma Linda University. For five years she was Director of the Outpatient Nutrition Clinic at the Medical Center of Vermont. From there she worked in the pharmaceutical industry in sales before going back to school. While in grad school she worked in various consulting capacities regarding program development.

Vinci is a member of the American Dietetic Association, American College of Sports Medicine and the American Public Health Association. She has recently been appointed to the Advisory Board of the ACSM's Health and Fitness Journal.

Rick Huegli Head Strength and Conditioning Coach

Now in his 17th year as the head strength and conditioning coach is Rick Huegli. Huegli is responsible for directing the strength staff and coordinating training programs for each of Washington's 23 intercollegiate sports, while managing the weight room and handling the budget.

Huegli joined the Washington staff in 1981 after two years as the head strength coach at Wake Forest. He received his master's degree in education from Bowling Green in 1977, after receiving his bachelor's degree from Western Michigan in '74.

Following his graduation from Western Michigan, Huegli was a teacher and coach at Bishop Noll Institute in Hammond, Ind., from 1974-76. He was a graduate assistant football coach at Bowling Green while earning his master's degree, and moved on to coach football at Findlay College in '77.

The 45-year-old native of Livonia, Mich., was honored in 1992 as the Collegiate Strength and Conditioning Professional of the Year by the National Strength and Conditioning Association, for which he is an active member. Huegli is also active in the community, serving as a church director for "crop walk," and speaking frequently to schools and organizations.

Huegli and his wife, Gail, have two daughters, Jordan (seven) and Carlin (four).

Tony Piro Head Equipment Manager

Tony Piro begins his 16th year in the Husky equipment room, and his 10th as the head equipment manager, coordinating equipment needs for Washington's 23-sport program. Piro's responsibilities include the management of three equipment rooms, laundry needs and overseeing a staff of seven full-time assistants and a staff of students.

A former student football manager, Piro received his bachelor's degree in political science from Washington in 1982. His professional involvement includes certified membership in the Athletic Equipment Managers Association.

The 39-year-old Seattle native and his wife, Sherry, have two children, Jennifer (11) and Matthew (eight).

Moe Herman Video Operations Manager

Moe Herman begins his ninth year as the Huskies' video operations manager, a position he has held since its inception in 1989 when the Pac-10 changed from film to video as its mode of scouting exchange. Herman is responsible for directing and managing the audio/visual media division of the athletic department, which serves every intercollegiate sport and support service.

Herman began working in the University's health sciences television department in 1974, before moving over to the athletic department in 1978 as a sports media producer, while also working in studio and remote production at KCTS. Herman then spent several years at local broadcast television stations, working as a studio engineer at KIRO for three years and as a studio lighting director and broadcast television engineer at KOMO for four years. After two years in video production and consulting at Halcyon Productions, Herman returned to the athletic department in 1989 to develop the video operations program.

A native of Pittsburgh, Pa., he earned his bachelor's degree in sociology from Pittsburgh and attended graduate school at Washington. He is a member of the Collegiate Sports Video Association and has been honored by IDEA for sports video production.

Herman and his wife Renee have three children, Seth (15), Rachel (12) and Alana (nine). He is a frequent classroom volunteer at Wedgewood Elementary School and has chaired the PTA Enrichment Program.

Dennis Sealey Head Athletic Trainer

Dennis Sealey begins his 20th year as Washington's head athletic trainer, responsible for coordinating and administering medical service and health care for over 700 Husky athletes competing in 23 intercollegiate sports.

Sealey also supervises a staff of seven assistant trainers and 12 student assistant trainers, who provide medical care and attention to as many as 350 athletes per day in two separate training rooms in the athletic department.

Sealey began his career at Washington in 1972 as an assistant trainer, then spent five years at Nebraska as an instructor and athletic trainer/physical therapist. He returned to Washington in 1978 to assume his current post.

A native of Stromsburg, Neb., Sealey received his bachelor's degree in biology from Wayne State in 1970 and a master's in physical education from Nebraska in 1977. He also holds a certification degree in physical therapy from Iowa and was certified as an athletic trainer in 1974.

Sealey is active in several professional organizations, holding membership in the American Physical Therapy Association and National Athletic Trainers Association (NATA). He is the immediate past-president of the Northwest Athletic Association and the NATA board of directors. Sealey also served as chairman of the 1982 National Athletic Trainers Association Convention in Seattle and won the Eddie Wojewicki Award in 1974 for superior performance on the NATA certification exam.

In 1996 he was recognized by his peers as one of eight collegiate athletic trainers to receive the Most Distinguished Athletic Trainer Award.

Steve Bramwell Team Physician

Steve Bramwell begins his 19th season as the head physician for the Washington football team. A former standout football player for the Huskies, Bramwell received his M.D. with honors from Washington in 1971, after receiving his bachelor's degree in economics in '67. While attending Washington, Bramwell was honored with the Harkins Surgery Award, the UW Pediatrics Award and the UW Psychiatry Award.

Bramwell began his work in the field as an intern at Strong Memorial Hospital at the Univ. of Rochester in Rochester, N.Y. (1971-72). He then came back to Washington for his residency training in orthopedic surgery from '72-'76.

A native of Salt Lake City, Bramwell was appointed Assistant Professor of Orthopedic Surgery at the UW School of Medicine in 1977 and was also Director of the UW Department of Sports Medicine. He served in both capacities until starting a private practice in 1981.

On the gridiron, Bramwell was a three-year letterman halfback ('63-'65) and excelled as a kick returner. He still holds the Husky career record for kickoff returns (54 for 1,443 yards and a 26.7 average) and is second on the career punt return list (59 for 704 yards and an 11.9 average) as well as ranking seventh on Washington's list of career all-purpose yards (2,827).

His career kick return yardage and his combined kick and punt return yardage both established NCAA records upon his graduation. He was a first team Academic All-America choice in 1964 by the College Sports Information Director's of America (CoSIDA), and was inducted in May 1989 into the CoSIDA/GTE Academic All-America Hall of Fame as a member of Hall's second class of inductees.

Bramwell and his wife, Lynda, have five children.

Brad McDavid Band Director

Brad McDavid is in his fourth year as Director of the famed University of Washington Husky Marching Band. His duties with the band include principal field conductor, show coordinator, and administrator. In addition to serving as administrative coordinator of one of the most comprehensive athletic band programs in the country, McDavid also holds a lecturer position within the UW School of Music and is principal conductor of the University's Symphonic Band.

A native of Centerburg, Ohio, McDavid has served as Director of Bands at Licking Heights High School in Summit Station, Ohio, and Tempe High School in Tempe, Arizona. He received his Bachelors Degree in Music Education from Ohio State University in 1985 and his Master of Music Degree from Arizona State University in 1990. McDavid has also completed additional graduate studies while working with the Purdue University Band Department.

Most recently McDavid held the position of Graduate Associate Conductor at The Ohio State University School of Music while completing work on his Ph. D. in Music Education.

Student-Athlete Academic Services

Academic Planning

Student-Athlete Services has academic counselors who provide guidance with all aspects of educational planning. Counselors assist students with designing their quarterly schedules, setting goals for academic majors, planning for graduation, and discovering career interests. In conjunction with coaches, counselors monitor academic progress and make referrals for tutorial assistance when students need additional support for academic success. Students are encouraged by their counselors and personnel in other support service units. Departmental counselors in various academic units are a valuable resource providing information about major requirements, admission requirements, and graduation application procedures.

Student-Athlete Academic Services recognizes that career development issues are often closely related to academic performance. Therefore, SAAS counselors emphasize the importance of internships in helping students develop career paths and to form networks which can lead to career opportunities. Additionally, SAAS counselors coordinate their efforts with staff from the Center for Career Services and the Student Counseling Center to provide students with specialized career counseling and placement assistance.

Tutorial and Specialized Support

Student-Athlete-Academic Services provides tutorial support for student-athletes who need additional support outside of the classroom. Student-athletes who need tutoring will also receive suggestions about how to best use the time spent with the tutor. SAAS tutors provide individual tutoring for a wide variety of subject areas, as well as leading study groups and review sessions. Tutors are typically graduate students or undergraduates who have demonstrated excellent academic skills. SAAS also operates a drop-in math/science center to assist students in these disciplines.

Within the context of tutoring subject matter, SAAS tutors also teach skills such as time management, lecture note processing, active reading, test preparation, and test-taking that enable student-athletes to succeed academically. As they assist student-athlete, SAAS tutors emphasize the student-athlete's role and responsibility for his or her own learning.

Staff from SAAS also consult with personnel from various campus units to assist in providing specialized assistance to student with learning disabilities.

Personal Counseling

Like other students, student-athletes have a variety of personal, social, and academic concerns. Adjusting to college life, living away from home, developing new relationships, and planning for life after college are among the concerns student-athletes commonly have. The SAAS staff is available to discuss these and other concerns in an informal and supportive setting. At times, however, concerns arise which require more specialized assistance. If, after consulting with a student-athlete, a staff member determines this to be the case, the student-athlete may be referred to the Student Counseling Center. The Center provides individual, couples, and group counseling for personal, career, and academic concerns. Students' discussions with counselors are confidential and no record of counseling appears on the transcript or academic record, and no report is given to an instructor or coach without the student's written consent. Only in extremely rare circumstances can case records be released without the student's written consent. Student Counseling Center staff can explain these circumstances. There is a small fee charged for some SCC services, while others are free or greatly reduced.

Admissions Assistance

Once a student-athlete has made a commitment to the University of Washington, SAAS staff members help monitor the completion of his or her high school curriculum to ensure completion of the coursework and testing necessary to meet NCAA and University criteria for athletic participation. The SAAS staff works similarly with student-athletes transferring from other colleges. SAAS serves as a liaison with the Admissions Office and communicates with student-athletes about their admission status.

Financial Aid

Student-Athlete Academic Services offers assistance with matters involving financial aid, including degree completion grants for student-athletes who have exhausted their eligibility for institutional financial aid. The SAAS staff is available to answer questions about financial aid packages and applying for institutional aid and private scholarships.

Computing Center

In support of its mission of academic assistance to student-athletes, SAAS maintains a computing center which houses several state-of-the-art IBM-compatible computers. Each has current word processing, spreadsheet, database, and presentation software, as well as communications software that permits access to the campus computing system and the World Wide Web.

Support Facilities

In the world of college athletics, building is common. Coaches build new programs for changing times and rebuild teams after the loss of veteran players. The University of Washington has seen another kind of building boom over the past few years. Since 1987, a host of new athletic facilities have been added to the UW campus, creating an athletic complex that ranks among the nation's best in athletic facilities.

Looming high above Lake Washington, Husky Stadium is a unique structure that has grown with the times. Its current capacity of 72,500 seats makes it the largest stadium, college or professional, in the Pacific Northwest. Husky Stadium is the nation's 15th-largest on-campus facility. In preparation for the 1990 Goodwill Games, Husky Stadium became the beneficiary of a new eight-lane synthetic surface track in the summer of 1989. The $1.5 million gift from the Seattle Organizing Committee provides Husky track and field athletes with a world-class facility.

Clarence S. "Hec" Edmundson Pavilion is home to the Husky men's and women's basketball teams. Hec Edmundson Pavilion cost more than $600,000 to build in 1927, the money raised as a bond issue and an appropriation from the state legislature.

Numerous improvements have been made to upgrade and modernize the facility in recent years, including a facelift to the Pavilion, new scoreboards above center court and entirely new lower level seating. Hec Edmundson Pavilion, with a capacity of 7,900, provides a venue for the Huskies' indoor track and field meets, volleyball matches and gymnastics meets. The versatile facility is also available for conditioning purposes for all Washington athletes and contains the main training and equipment rooms, lockerrooms for all men's sports, meeting rooms and sports medicine offices as well as practice facilities for baseball, softball and gymnastics.

Hec Edmundson Pavilion Addition, which was opened in 1979, is used mainly for practice and competition by the women's volleyball and gymnastics teams, as well as for basketball practice. The two-story complex joins Hec Edmundson Pavilion on the north side and has a seating capacity of 800. The lower level of the Addition has a complete shower and locker room facility for 300 women athletes, a team meeting room, equipment storage area and a training room.

Washington has long been a pioneer in the area of land development. The University lifted that expertise to a higher level in March of 1988. A new weight room, part of a $4.3 million facilities project, is available to all University of Washington athletes. The 13,000-square foot facility is among the largest and most up-to-date in the Pacific-10 Conference.

Strength coach Rick Huegeli, the 1991 National Strength Coach of the Year, directs the program in the big, bright, air-conditioned facility that houses a balance of machine apparatus and free weights as well as modern fitness accoutrements. The spacious room is equipped with some 15,000 pounds of Olympic weights, 34 Olympic bars, eight Olympic benches, six incline benches, three military benches, three knee extension and hamstring curl machines, eight Olympic power racks, 60 pairs of dumbbells, six exercise bikes and three Stairmasters. A long list of Husky athletes trained by Huegeli and assistant Bill Gillespie have been voted to the National All-Strength Team.

The facility doubles UW's previous workout space and resources. Planned fitness programs are aided by computerized training and evaluations, video instruction, a plyometric testing area, and a sauna and jacuzzi. Apparatus representing the latest technology in fitness and strength training is continually being added to the weight room, ensuring that Husky athletes have every opportunity to excel.

Dennis Sealey is the Huskies' head athletic trainer. He supervises a staff of seven full-time assistant athletic trainers and a number of student assistant athletic trainers. They provide medical care and attention to hundreds of athletes per day in two separate training rooms in the athletic department.

Washington's medical staff is headed by orthopedic surgeon Dr. Steve

The strength and conditioning room located in the Graves Annex.

The training room located in Hec Edmundson Pavilion.

Bramwell, a former Husky football standout and an Academic All-America Hall of Famer. Dr. Bramwell's sports background has proven to be invaluable in understanding sports-related injuries, the athlete's desire for rehabilitation and a healthy return to competition.

Washington's athletic complex also includes award-winning Lloyd Nordstrom Tennis Center, the new Husky Baseball Field, the Husky Softball Stadium, Husky Pool, Graves Annex, Graves Building and the Conibear Shellhouse. Husky athletes also compete on the Montlake Cut in rowing and the Lincoln Park Cross Country Course.

Season Review

Arizona State 45 Washington 42 September 7 Sun Devil Stadium

After falling behind Arizona State 42-21 early in the third quarter, redshirt freshman quarterback Brock Huard engineered a stunning comeback as Washington scored three touchdowns in a four-minute span to tie the game, before the Sun Devils hit a late field goal to win 45-42.

An inexperienced Washington team took a 60-man travel roster to Tempe that included over 20 players that had never played in a UW game before, but it was experience that got Washington on the board first. Trailing by a touchdown early in the second quarter, senior Dave Janoski returned a punt 67 yards to tie the game at seven. A six-yard touchdown run by Rashaan Shehee gave the Huskies the lead before the Devils tied it with under a minute to go in the first half.

After getting a quick score at the beginning of the third on a 36-yard scoring toss from Shane Fortney to Cam Cleeland, things got ugly for Washington as ASU scored 28 straight points to give the eventual Pac-10 champions a 42-21 lead.

That's when Huard went to work, leading the Husky offense to three touchdowns, including a 10-yard scramble for a score and 67-yard pass to freshman Gerald Harris. Corey Dillon tallied the final Washington points with an eight-yard dash with five minutes left to play.

The Sun Devils were able to avoid overtime and snatch a victory thanks to a 38-yard Robert Nycz field goal with two seconds remaining.

Redshirt freshman cornerbacks Jermaine Smith and Mel Miller held their own against ASU's Jake Plummer, who would go on to be the Pac-10's top rated quarterback. Smith came up with a key interception late in the fourth-quarter on UW's 11-yard line that gave the Huskies one final chance to win in regulation. The duo also combined to shutout all-Pac-10 wide receiver Keith Poole, who saw a streak of 22 consecutive games with a reception come to an end against the Huskies. Huard and Shane Fortney combined to complete 14 of 28 passes for 239 yards for Washington.

Senior John Fiala led the Washington defense with a season-high 22 tackles.

Washington 29 Brigham Young 17 September 14 Husky Stadium

A solid defensive effort allowed Washington to win its 11th straight home opener by defeating 14th-ranked Brigham Young 29-17. The Husky defense sacked BYU quarterback Steve Sarkisian eight times and hurrying him on another dozen occasions.

Washington's running game started off fast when Rashaan Shehee finished an opening drive of 84 yards by scoring from four yards out. The Huskies then marched 71 yards on their next possession and it was again Shehee, this time on a 45-yard dash, for the touchdown and a 14-0 Washington lead.

Jason Chorak and Mac Tuiaea led a Husky defense that snuffed the BYU ground game and kept their potent passing attack in check. Chorak recorded three of Washington's eight sacks, including a safety in the fourth quarter. He earned Pac-10 defensive player of the week honors for his performance. Redshirt freshman Mac Tuiaea had a breakout game, adding another 3.5 sacks. Senior linebacker Ink Aleaga logged a team-best 11 tackles. The Cougars rushed for just 14 yards and could muster only 293 yards of total offense. BYU was never held below 300 yards of total offense during the entire 1995 season.

Junior quarterback Shane Fortney was also impressive, completing 16 of 24 passes for 172 yards, including a 29-yard TD toss to Dave Janoski in the third quarter. Fortney also rushed for a one-yard TD in the second quarter, leading a Washington offense that racked up 445 yards of total offense.

The victory marked the 15th consecutive time during the regular season the Huskies have rebounded after a loss to record a victory.

It would also mark BYU's only defeat of the season as the Cougars rolled off 14 straight wins, including the Cotton Bowl Classic championship.

Washington 31 Arizona 17 September 21 Husky Stadium

Redshirt freshman quarterback Brock Huard, making his first career start, guided the Huskies to a 31-17 victory over Arizona at Husky Stadium.

The Huard-led Huskies started the opening drive at their own 15-yard line and set the tone for the day by marching 85 yards in 13 plays, capped by a four-yard toss from Huard to Gerald Harris.

After Arizona got on the board with a field goal in the closing minutes of the first quarter, Huard found Jerome Pathon in the endzone to finish a 72-yard scoring drive. The Huskies made it 21-10 on a five-yard toss to Dave Janoski to complete a 71-yard scoring drive in 1:33 just before the halftime gun.

In the second half the story was the Husky defense. Washington's eight-man front harassed Arizona redshirt freshman quarterback Keith Smith all day. Redshirt freshman cornerback Mel Miller killed a pair of Wildcat drives with interceptions in the third and fourth quarter. Junior free safety Tony Parrish also had an interception and returned it 45 yards for a score early in the fourth quarter.

Huard started when Shane Fortney was held back due to a strained knee he suffered the previous week against BYU. Huard completed 21 of 30 passes for 311 yards and three TDs (all in the first half), to become the first Husky freshman to pass for 300 yards in a game. He was recognized as Pac-10's offensive player of the week.

Junior receiver Fred Coleman had the best day of his career, pulling in four passes for 141 yards. Coleman, who missed the BYU game due to a sprained ankle, was questionable to play right up until kickoff.

Backup tailback Corey Dillon ground out 125 yards on 20 carries against Arizona's tough-nosed defense. It marked Dillon's first in a string of 100-yard performances. He also picked up 92 yards on kick returns.

The Huskies accumulated 477 yards of total offense and were 12 for 18 on third down conversions.

Brock Huard became the first Husky freshman quarterback to register a 300-yard passing game in UW's victory over Arizona.

Washington 27 Stanford 6 October 5 Husky Stadium

Junior tailback Corey Dillon, making his first start, propelled the Huskies to a 27-6 win against Stanford at Husky Stadium.

After being pinned deep in their own territory, Stanford drove 93 yards to the Washington five-yard line before having to settle for a Kevin Miller field goal in the closing minutes of the first quarter to take a 3-0 lead. The two squads exchanged field goals in the second quarter as Stanford took a 6-3 lead to the locker room.

Washington, ranked 18th heading into the game, took over in the second half, after senior kicker John Wales tied the game at 6-6 with his second field goal midway through the second half. The Huskies then proceeded to score 21 straight points in the fourth quarter.

Junior receiver Jerome Pathon proved to be a menace for the Cardinal secondary. Pathon had the best day of his career, piling up 128 receiving yards on six receptions and scoring twice on passes from both Washington quarterbacks. Pathon finished the game with 164 all-purpose yards.

Dillon was a work horse with 36 rushing attempts that he converted into 173 rushing yards, including one TD run. Dillon also caught four passes for 45 yards and returned one kickoff 42 yards to total 260 all-purpose yards.

The Husky defense was outstanding in the second half holding Stanford to a pair of first downs, minus 16 rushing yards and 47 yards of total offense during the final two quarters. The Stanford attack was slowed when quarterback Chad Hutchinson suffered a concussion and the end of the second quarter. Senior linebacker John Fiala led Washington's defense with 10 tackles.

The win marked the first time since the 1993 season the Huskies held an opponent without a touchdown (26-3 win vs. Washington State).

Washington was slowed by six fumbles (two lost) and several crucial penalties during the first three quarters.

Notre Dame 54 Washington 20 October 12 Notre Dame Stadium

Notre Dame took advantage of a bye week to recover from its 29-16 loss to Ohio state and hand the Huskies a 54-20 defeat at Notre Dame Stadium.

The Irish offense piled up 650 yards of total offense, the most against a UW team since the 1978 season. A solid rushing attack helped the Irish sprint to a 26-0 second-quarter lead as Notre Dame scored four touchdowns by four different running backs. The Irish converted their first TD on a short drive after a long punt return. The they put together impressive scoring drives of 86, 67, 85 yards before the Huskies got on the scoreboard.

Washington managed to make things exciting near the end of the second quarter. Touchdown runs by Corey Dillon and Rashaan Shehee closed the gap to 26-14. The Huskies had a chance to narrow the game even more after recovering a fumble with 2:06 left in the first half. But all the momentum went for naught after UW drove to the Irish three-yard line before being stopped and having a field goal attempt blocked.

The Irish passing game was on display in the second half of the contest as Notre Dame quarterback Ron Powlus threw touchdown passes of six, 29, and 45 yards in the third quarter to give the Irish a commanding 47-14 lead.

Dillon, who added another rushing TD in the fourth quarter, led UW with 87 rushing yards on 18 carries. Redshirt freshman quarterback Brock Huard, starting only his second game, had a tough outing. Huard completed only eight of 26 passes (one INT) for 99 yards before leaving the game midway through the third quarter with a concussion.

Senior linebacker John Fiala was a bright spot on a dark day for the Huskies, recording a team best 13 tackles.

The loss proved to be a breakout game for Washington freshman Joe Jarzynka who returned three kickoffs for a total of 84 yards.

Washington 41 UCLA 21 October 19 Husky Stadium

Behind a punishing running game, excellent kick returns and an opportunistic defense, the Huskies defeated UCLA 41-21 at Husky Stadium. It was the most points the Huskies scored against the Bruins since a 61-20 victory in 1970.

Corey Dillon was the offensive hero, piling up five rushing TDs to go with 145 rushing yards. Dillon's TD total was the most since Hugh McElhenny scored five times against Washington State in 1950. Dillon added three pass receptions for 53 yards to finish the day with 198 all-purpose yards, earning honors as the Pac-10 offensive player of the week.

Following Jerome Pathon's 60-yard kickoff return to open the game (the longest by a UW player in 16 years) the Huskies marched 34 yards for Dillon's first score. After an 89-yard scoring drive to open the second quarter, the Huskies put the game out of reach when Skip Hicks fumbled on the Bruins' first possession of the second quarter, and Dillon scored on the next play for his third TD.

Kyle Roberts then intercepted a Cade McNown pass on UCLA's next possession and Dillon found the endzone a fourth time seven plays later.

The Washington defense was outstanding against UCLA's running game. After surrendering 397 rushing yards to Notre Dame the previous week, the Huskies held UCLA to 12 rushing yards on 24 carries. Hicks, who entered the game as the Pac-10's top ball carrier, was held to eight yards on seven rushes.

Junior linebacker Jason Chorak led the Huskies with four tackles – two for lost yards and two for sacks.

Washington's offense did not commit a turnover and Brock Huard was steady at quarterback, hitting on 10 of 16 passes for 153 yards.

Washington's special teams added a spark as Pathon and Joe Jarzynka combined for 171 yards off of UCLA kicks.

The Huskies played the game without five regular starters who were injured (TB Rashaan Shehee, CB Jermaine Smith, OT Mostafa Sobhi, OG Bob Sapp and ILB John Fiala).

Corey Dillon's five rushing touchdowns tied a UW modern record.

1997 Husky Football

Washington 33 Oregon 14 October 26 Autzen Stadium

There were no last-minute heroics for Oregon this time around as the Huskies avenged a pair of late losses to the Ducks with a convincing 33-14 win at Autzen Stadium.

Dillon jump-started the Huskies with touchdown runs of one, seven and two yards to give UW a 21-0 lead midway through the second quarter. Dillon's second long run of the day set up John Wales' 19-yard field goal in the third quarter to up UW's lead to 24-7.

Brock Huard connected with Cameron Cleeland for a 10-yard TD pass before Lester Towns recorded UW's second safety of the season by tackling Duck running back Kevin Parker in the endzone to increase UW's margin to 33-7. Oregon managed a score late in the game for the final margin.

The crowd of 46,226, second largest in Oregon history, saw another of Corey Dillon's dominating performances as the junior tailback turned in the second best rushing day in Husky history, ripping off 259 yards and 3 TDs on 32 carries. Dillon had runs of 75 and 67 yards to help set up two Washington touchdowns earning honors as Pac-10 offensive player of the week honors for the second straight week.

Huard completed 13 of 19 passes to seven different receivers with no interceptions for 188 yards.

The 14 points was Oregon's lowest scoring total of the season. Oregon's 379 yards of total offense was its second lowest total of the season. Oregon, which had surrendered just 11 QB sacks in its first seven games, allowed UW to sack Tony Graziani three times. Towns led with two sacks while Jason Chorak added another and gave the Oregon line trouble all day and was recognized as Pac-10 defensive player of the week. Tony Parrish led the Huskies with seven tackles and a fumble recovery.

Jason Chorak and the Husky defense held Oregon's offense to its lowest point total of the season.

Washington 21 USC 10 November 2 Los Angeles Coliseum

Washington put together one of its best defensive outings ever in a 21-10 victory at USC.

The Huskies held the Trojans to minus 14 rushing yards, the lowest total in USC's history. The Trojans managed just 124 yards of total offense on 59 plays, the lowest total since that record has been kept over the past 24 seasons. USC's offense totaled minus six yards of total offense in the second half.

The Huskies had to overcome several miscues in the kicking game and a pair of turnovers, plus a 10-3 halftime deficit, to earn the win. USC blocked a UW punt, field goal attempt and extra point attempt during the game. After a John Wales' field goal gave UW a 3-0 lead in the first quarter, the Trojans scored their only TD following Sammy Knight's interception of a Brock Huard pass in the second period. USC upped its lead to 10-3 when Brian Kelly stripped the ball away from UW receiver Dave Janoski at the UW 12-yard line and Jim Wren converted a 27-yard field goal.

Washington owned the second half at The Coliseum, scoring on its first two possessions. Huard finished a 50-yard drive with a 17-yard TD pass to Jerome Pathon to close the margin to 10-9 on UW's first drive of the second half. UW's next drive resulted in a one-yard TD run by Corey Dillon, who finished the day with 128 yards on a school-record 37 carries. The key play in the drive was a 20-yard gain by Cam Kissel on a faked punt. Dillon finished off the scoring with a three-yard run mid-way through the fourth quarter.

The kick return game again proved to be crucial for Washington as Pathon recorded a total of 104 yards.

The Husky defense dominated all day, recording seven sacks of USC's quarterbacks and a total of 14 tackles of loss. Jerry Jensen led the Huskies with three QB sacks. Ink Aleaga registered nine tackles, including three for loss.

Ink Aleaga led the Husky defense that held USC to 124 total yards, an all-time low for the Trojans.

1997 Husky Football

Season Review

Washington 42 Oregon State 3 November 9 Husky Stadium

Oregon State committed nine players to stop Washington's Corey Dillon and the Huskies rushing attack early and did just that. The Huskies managed just 27 yards of total offense in the first quarter on 13 plays and trailed the Beavers 3-0 before scoring 42 unanswered points to cruise to a 42-3 victory.

Doug Stuckey made a 32-yard field goal to give the Beavers the early lead. Washington got started by preventing the Beavers from building the lead by making a goal line stand.

Corey Dillon finally got UW on the board with a nine-yard TD run with 12:30 to go in the second quarter. The UW offense was shut down again until a roughing the kicker penalty against the Beavers, with just over a minute left in the half, gave the Huskies new life. Four plays later Brock Huard hooked up with Cameron Cleeland for a 22-yard TD pass, the first of four scoring passes on the day.

The Huskies recovered a fumble on the ensuing kickoff and needed just one play to punch the ball in the endzone when Huard found Cam Kissel from seven yards out. It was the senior's first touchdown as a Husky. In under a minute the Huskies had built the lead to 21-3.

Washington scored on its first three drives of the third quarter on TD passes of 34 and 29 yards, both from Huard to Jerome Pathon. Dillon then rounded out Washington's scoring with a 29-yard dash to finish out the 42-3 victory.

Dillon finished with 143 rushing yards and racked up his 15th and 16th rushing TDs of the year to set a UW single-season record. Huard completed 14 of 26 passes for 221 yards and four TDs.

Jerome Pathon pulled in five passes for 97 yards and a pair of scores. The win wrapped up at least a second-place finish for the Huskies in the Pac-10 race.

The Husky defense, led once again by senior John Fiala with 11 tackles, held Oregon State's rushing game to 167 yards, 40 below its average entering the game.

David Richie helped Washington's defense keep Oregon State out of the Husky endzone.

Washington 53 San Jose State 10 November 16 Husky Stadium

It was a record breaking day for Husky football when Washington smashed San Jose State 53-10 at Husky Stadium.

Washington set school records for total offense (734 yards), rushing yards (559 yards) and most rushing yards per attempt (9.0).

Junior tailback Corey Dillon broke the NCAA record for most rushing yards in a quarter by piling up 222 yards (three rushing TDs) on 16 carries in the first quarter. Dillon became Washington's single-season leader in rushing (1,400), all-purpose yards (2,030), rushing touchdowns (19) and total touchdowns (20) in the game.

Dillon opened UW's scoring on a four-yard run. A 48-yard scoring dash on his next run to gave the Huskies a 14-0 advantage. On his next TD run, Dillon beat the out-matched Spartans for 78 yards, and his third touchdown, all in the first quarter. With just over two minutes to go in the first quarter, Dillon took a screen pass 83 yards to help the Huskies to a 25-0 first quarter lead. Dillon's reception was the second longest in UW history and longest ever by a Husky running back.

Dillon, who claimed Pac-10 offensive player of the week honors for the third time, totaled 305 yards of total offense in the quarter and did not play the remainder of the game. That opened the door for junior running back Terry Hollimon to turn in a career best performance by rushing for 148 yards and his first career TD. Maurice Shaw was the third UW running back to rush for 100 yards in the game, carrying 14 times for exactly 100 yards behind a husky offensive line consisting of backup players.

The Huskies scored six rushing TDs in the contest. The Husky defense limited San Jose State to 46 rushing yards on 29 attempts and sacked the Spartan quarterbacks seven times to raise the team's season sack total to 42.

Corey Dillon accounted for 222 of Washington's record 559 rushing yards against the Spartans.

Washington 31 Washington State 24 November 23 (OT) Martin Stadium

After racing out to a 24-0 lead, Washington took home the Apple Cup trophy thanks to a 31-24 overtime win at Washington State. It was the first overtime game for both the Huskies and the Cougars.

John Wales got Washington on the board by drilling a 23-yard field goal. That set the table for Corey Dillon, who capped a 14 play, 75 yard drive, with a one-yard TD run. Two more Dillon scores gave the Huskies a 24-3 advantage at the intermission.

Dillon would go on to register 155 rushing yards on 38 carries before leaving the game in the third quarter with leg cramps. Dillon's three rushing TDs raised his season total to 22, tying him with Marcus Allen and O.J. Simpson for the Pac-10 single-season record. Dillon's 38 rushing attempts also set a school record.

As solid as Dillon's rushing performance was, the Husky defense was even more impressive in the first three quarters of the game. The Huskies held Washington State's high-powered offense in check to the tune of 76 total yards and seven first downs in the first three periods (three by penalty).

But, in true Apple Cup fashion, the Cougars would not fall easy on their home turf. WSU quarterback Ryan Leaf directed the Cougars to three TDs in the final nine minutes. The Cougars scored on drives of 80, 64, and 40 yards. Leaf scrambled for a two-yard score and passed for another, finishing with a total of 218 passing yards in the quarter.

Washington still had a chance to win the game in regulation with three seconds left, but a 41-yard field goal by John Wales was just left.

In the overtime period, Brock Huard completed a three-yard TD pass to Jerome Pathon for the winning score. The Cougars came up, literally, a foot short on their attempt to send the game into a second overtime period. Following a sack by Chris Campbell, WSU was faced with fourth down on their 23-yard line. Leaf connected with Chad Carpenter in corner of the endzone, but the Cougar receiver could not get his foot down inbounds.

It was Washington's first win in the Palouse since 1990, and the first win in Pullman for Jim Lambright, as Washington finished the regular season with six straight wins.

Noting the Huskies in 1996

THE PLYMOUTH HOLIDAY BOWL: The 1996 season saw Washington make its first appearance in the Plymouth Holiday Bowl and the Huskies' 24th overall bowl appearance. The Holiday Bowl was the eighth different bowl game to feature Washington. The Huskies have made 13 appearances in the Rose Bowl, three appearances in the Sun Bowl, two appearances in the Freedom Bowl and Aloha Bowl and played once in the Pineapple Bowl, Orange Bowl and Independence Bowl. The Huskies are 13-10-1 in their bowl appearances.

NORTHWEST RUNNERS: Washington tailback Corey Dillon clinched the Pac-10 rushing title against Washington State, finishing the season with 1,555 yards. It marked the 10th time in the past 15 seasons that a Husky or Cougar has claimed that honor. Here's a look at those UW and WSU players who have led the league in rushing since 1982:

1983	Kerry Porter, Washington State	1000
1984	Rueben Mayes, Washington State	1637
1985	Rueben Mayes, Washington State	1236
1988	Steve Broussard, Washington State	1141
1990	Greg Lewis, Washington	1279
1992	Shaumbe Wright-Fair, Washington State	1207
1993	Napoleon Kaufman, Washington	1299
1994	Napoleon Kaufman, Washington	1390
1996	Corey Dillon, Washington	1555

THE ALL-AMERICANS: Four Husky players received All-America recognition in 1996. Sophomore offensive guard Benji Olson has been named a first-team All-American by the Associated Press, The Sporting News and Football News. Junior linebacker Jason Chorak was named a first-team All-American by The Football News and The Sporting News and a third-teamer by AP. Junior tailback Corey Dillon was a second-team selection by Football News and The Sporting News and a third-team pick by the Associated Press. Senior inside linebacker Ink Aleaga was a preseason All-America selection by Playboy Magazine.

Sophomore offensive guard Benji Olson was one of three Huskies to earn All-America honors in 1996.

ACADEMIC ALL-AMERICANS: Three Husky players were named to the GTE Academic All-District VIII Football Team. Senior split end Dave Janoski and senior inside linebacker John Fiala were repeat selections from the 1995 season. Janoski graduated in December with a degree in computer science. Fiala was a sociology major. Sophomore roverback Nigel Burton was also selected to the team. Burton owns a 3.53 GPA as a pre-business major.

JIM LAMBRIGHT: Jim Lambright completed his fourth season as head coach of the Huskies with a 30-15-1 (.663) record at Washington. His record against Pac-10 opponents stands at 22-9-1 (.703) and 9-3 against UW's northwest rivals. Prior to taking over for Don James in August of 1993, Lambright served on the UW staff as an assistant for 24 years. A 1965 Washington graduate, he is the fourth alumnus to coach the Husky football program. As a player, assistant coach and head coach, Lambright has been a part of 363 of the 956 games played in UW history. That's 38 percent of the games ever played by Washington. Lambright's win total (30) ranks him sixth on the list of 22 coaches who have guided the Washington program. With the trip to the Sun Bowl, Lambright became the sixth UW coach to lead his team to a bowl berth. He is also the sixth UW coach to capture a conference championship.

LAMBO MOVES UP: Jim Lambright finished the 1996 season in sixth place on the Husky coaches' win list. Here's a look:

1. Don James (1975-92)	153-57-2
2. Jim Owens (1957-74)	99-82-6
3. James Phelan (1930-41)	65-37-8
4. Enoch Bagshaw (1921-29)	63-22-6
5. Gil Dobie (1908-16)	58-0-3
6. Jim Lambright (1992-96)	30-15-1
7. Ralph Welch (1942-47)	27-20-3

THE VETERAN: Jim Lambright has been around Husky football a LONG time. He played for the Huskies from 1961-64, was an assistant coach from 1969-93 and finished his fourth year as head coach in 1996. Last season was Lambright's 28th season on the Husky coaching staff. Only a handful of current Division I head coaches have served longer stints on the coaching staff at their current school. Here's a look:

Name	School	Years	Record	Yrs. Head Coach
Joe Paterno	Penn State	48 yrs.	289-74-3	31 years
Tom Osborne	Nebraska	35 yrs.	241-48-3	25 years
LaVell Edwards	BYU	34 yrs.	227-81-3	26 years
Jim Lambright	Washington	28 yrs.	30-15-1	Four years

THE PAC-10 FINISH: Washington's 7-1 Pac-10 record earned the Huskies a second-place finish in the league standings. Washington has placed either first or second in the league's standings in 15 of the past 20 seasons.

FIRST DOWN MAKERS: Junior tailback Corey Dillon, redshirt freshman quarterback Brock Huard and junior tight end Cameron Cleeland did a good job of converting plays into first downs last year during the regular season. Of Dillon's 271 carries, 69 (25.5 percent) resulted in a first down. Huard completed 108 passes this season and 65 resulted in first downs (60.2 percent). Cleeland caught 23 passes and 16 (70 percent) went for a first down.

THE PERSPECTIVE: Just how impressive was Corey Dillon in 1996? Consider these facts ... Dillon finished the season with more rushing yards (1,555) than 42 Division I programs (38 percent) and four Pac-10 schools (California — 1,498; USC — 1,368; Washington State — 1,161 and Stanford — 1,136). Dillon's touchdown total (23) was more than three Pac-10 programs (Arizona — 30; Oregon State — 26 and Stanford — 21).

CLAMPING DOWN: After Notre Dame managed 650 yards of total offense against the Huskies, Washington's defense really came around. Over the last six regular season games, the Huskies defense ...

- ... allowed an average of 15.5 first downs per game.
- ... gave up an average of 13.7 ppg.
- ... allowed opponents to convert just 18 percent of third-down attempts.
- ... held opponents to an average of 58.2 rushing yards per game.
- ... held USC to an all-time low of -14 rushing yards.

THE O-LINE STORY: Despite a rash of injuries, Washington's offensive line play was stellar in 1996. In 11 regular season games, the Huskies used six different combinations on the offensive line. The Huskies allowed the second fewest quarterback sacks among Pac-10 teams (18) and helped tailback Corey Dillon run down a number of Husky rushing records. Chris Hoffmann's foot injury vs. San Jose State made him the seventh UW player from the two-deep to miss a game due to an injury during the year. Lynn Johnson suffered a broken hand during preseason drills that forced him out of the center position. Weakside guard Bob Sapp and weakside tackle Tony Coats both missed games due to knee injuries. Strongside tackle Mostafa Sobhi was out five games with a sprained ankle and elbow injury and backup guard Ben Kadletz missed four games with the same injury.

HUARD'S HEROICS: Last season Washington redshirt freshman quarterback Brock Huard had the best debut of a Husky signalcaller since Sonny Sixkiller burst on the scene in 1970. Huard passed for 1,678 yard, tops among any freshman quarterback in UW history and second only to Sixkiller's 2,303 passing yards in his first season of play. Huard became the only freshman to pass for 300 yards in a game when he threw for 311 yards vs. Arizona. His four TD passes vs. Oregon State was the most TD passes by a UW quarterback since Billy Joe Hobert had four TD passes vs. the Beavers in 1991. Here's how Huard's numbers stacked up against Washington's top QBs in their first season of play.

DILLON'S STORY: Junior tailback Corey Dillon had the best season ever by a Husky running back. With Rashaan Shehee slowed by injuries, Dillon stepped up in a big way. Dillon finished third in the NCAA stats for all-purpose yards with an average of 198.64 yards per game. He Washington and the Pac-10 with 1,555 rushing yards (141.36 per game) and topped the team with 23 touchdowns, which ranked him first in the nation in scoring at 12.55 ppg. His rushing average ranked him sixth among NCAA leaders. He was fifth on the team in receptions with 15 totaling 273 yards. Dillon topped the team with 16 kickoff returns and averaged 22.3 yards per run back. Dillon posted some huge all-purpose rushing days. He totaled 226 yards vs. Arizona, 260 vs. Stanford, 295 vs. Oregon and 305 (all in the first quarter) against San Jose State. He set the UW school record against the Cardinal with 36 rushing attempts and bettered it with 37 carries vs. USC and 38 at Washington State. He tied the modern school mark for rushing touchdowns with five vs. UCLA. His per-game rushing average (141.4) was the highest single-season mark in UW history. Dillon also set the UW records for rushing touchdowns (22), total touchdowns (23), single-season rushing (1,555), all-purpose rushing (2,185) and single-season rushing attempts (271).

DILLON KEEPS ROLLING: Since taking over as the starting tailback vs. Stanford, Corey Dillon turned into the top running back in the Pac-10. Over the last eight games of the regular season he started, he totaled 1,642 all-purpose yards (205.3 per game), 1,312 rushing yards (164 per game), 234 rushing attempts (29.3 per game) and 22 TDs (2.8 per game). He did not play the final 13:17 of the UCLA game, the final 11:50 of the Oregon game, the final 8:57 of the USC contest, the final 13:00 of the Oregon State game or the final THREE quarters vs. San Jose State.

DILLON'S RECORD BOOK: Here's a quick review of the records junior tailback Corey Dillon set in 1996:

Dillon's Records ...

NCAA Record

DILLON AND 1,000: Husky running back Corey Dillon became Washington's single-season rushing leader during the '96 season. Dillon was the sixth Husky player to record a 1,000-yard rushing season. Dillon's 1,000-yard rushing season marked the sixth time in the past eight years the Huskies have had a running back rush for 1,000 yards. Here's a look at the single-season rushing list:

DILLON SETS NCAA MARK: Corey Dillon wiped out a 20-year-old NCAA record in just 15 minutes against San Jose State. Dillon rushed for 222 yards on 16 carries to break the NCAA mark for rushing yards in a single quarter. The previous record was set by Andre Herrera of Southern Illinois with 214 yards on 17 carries vs. Northern Illinois on Oct. 23, 1976. Dillon had three TD runs in the quarter and added an 83-yard TD reception to give him 305 all-purpose yards in the quarter. The NCAA does not have a record for all-purpose yards in a quarter.

MR. ALL-PURPOSE: Corey Dillon finished the 1996 season as UW's single-season all-purpose yardage leader. He recorded at least 124 all-purpose yards in all 11 regular season games. Dillon's 2,185 all-purpose yards ranked third in the nation in that category. Dillon's per-game all-purpose rushing average (198.6 per game) was 5.17 yards per game more than his nearest Pac-10 pursuer, Arizona State's Terry Battle. Here's a list of his game-by-game numbers and the UW single-season list:

	Rush	Rec.	KO Ret.	Total
BYU	82	34	77	193

DILLON AND THE 200 CLUB: Corey Dillon's produced a pair of 200-yard rushing days in 1996. His effort against Oregon ranked as the second best performance ever by a Husky back. Dillon carried 32 times for 259 yards against the Ducks. He ripped off a 75-yard non-scoring run in that game that ranks as the 17th longest run from scrimmage in UW history and the fifth longest non-scoring run. Dillon had 222 yards on 16 carries vs. San Jose State. That marked the 13th time a Husky back has rushed for 200 yards. It was the eighth time this decade a UW back rushed for 200 yards. Dillon's rushing total against Oregon was the 14th best day in Pac-10 history.

DILLON ON THE ATTEMPTS LIST: Corey Dillon's school-record 38 rushing attempts in the Washington State game allowed him to also set the UW single-season rushing attempts mark. Dillon finished the year with 271 rushing attempts. Here's a look:

UW Single-Season Rushing Attempts (since 1950)

DILLON ON THE TD LIST: Junior tailback Corey Dillon proved to be the most productive running back in Husky history in terms of putting the ball into the endzone last season. His three rushing touchdowns against Washington State brought his season total to 22 and made him the Huskies' single-season leader in that category. Dillon recorded his first and only receiving TD against San Jose State to give him 23 total TDs which is the single-season best for total touchdowns scored. Dillon's 138 total points is also a single-season scoring record. Here's a look at those lists:

SHEHEE SLOWED: Injuries slowed junior tailback Rashaan Shehee from having the type of season he was hoping for. Shehee was slowed in UW's season opener at Arizona State due to a pulled hamstring. He saw little practice the two weeks before the game and managed just 48 yards on 17 carries. Against BYU, Shehee got back to his old form and rushed for 131 yards on 21 carries. His performance against BYU marked the fourth 100-yard rushing day in his career and the sixth time he has rushed for multiple TDs in a game. Shehee managed just 56 yards vs. Arizona and did not play against Stanford, UCLA, Oregon, USC, Oregon State, San Jose State or Washington State while nursing a sprained ankle and bruised heel. He did return to play in the Holiday Bowl against Colorado. Shehee was not at full speed at Notre Dame and managed just seven yards on eight carries. He did record one rushing TD against the Irish and has recorded at least one TD in nine of the last 13 games he has played in.

THE HUSKY TIGER: When the University of Pacific dropped its football program following the 1995 season, Washington was an unexpected benefactor. Nigel Burton transferring to UW after leading the Tigers in tackles (85) as a true freshman. A roverback/cornerback, Burton started the last 10 games for the Huskies and finished fourth on the defense with 55 tackles. Burton's top outing came against Notre Dame when he recorded 11 tackles. Burton is pursuing a business degree at Washington and was named a District VIII Academic All-American in 1996.

THOSE FRESHMAN CORNERS: The biggest concern on the Washington defense entering the 1996 season was the inexperience of redshirt freshmen cornerbacks Jermaine Smith and Mel Miller. Their play was so solid, hardly anyone mentioned them after the season opener. Smith picked off his first pass in the opener against Arizona State and Miller came up with two interceptions vs. Arizona and one vs. Stanford. Miller's feat marked the first time since the 1993 season that a Husky has picked off two passes in a game. Miller and Smith were both credited with breaking up eight passes. Miller became the first Husky freshman to intercept three passes since Tony Zackery did it in 1985. Roberto Jourdan owns the record for interceptions by a freshman. Jourdan picked off six passes in 1972.

PATHON PAYS OFF: The most improved player last year might have been junior wide receiver Jerome Pathon. Pathon topped the Huskies with 41 receptions for 618 yards and seven touchdowns, including the game winner in overtime at Washington State. In 1995 Pathon finished the season with 15 catches for 200 yards. Pathon also excelled on special teams. He averaged 12.1 yards per runback on 18 punt returns in 1996 and averaged 30.8 yards on six kickoff returns. Against Colorado in the Holiday Bowl, Pathon returned a kickoff 86 yards for a touchdown. Pathon, who was born in Capetown, South Africa and grew up in Canada, played his first season of college football at Acadia College in Nova Scotia.

THE POINTS: The 1996 Husky team proved to be one of the most productive in school history. The Huskies scored 370 points during the regular season, which ranked as the fourth most points in UW history (see list below). The 1995 season marked the first time Washington scored at least 20 points in each of its regular season games. The Huskies reached the 20-point mark in every game of the 1996 season plus the Holiday Bowl. UW has now reached the 20-point mark in 32 of its last 34 games. Since 1990, Washington has scored 20 points in 72 of 79 games.

Season	Total Points	Points Per Game
1. 1991	461	41.91
2. 1990	394	35.82
3. 1984	384	34.91
4. 1996	370	33.64
5. 1986	372	33.82
6. 1971	357	32.45

THE RED ZONE: Last season Washington successfully recorded a touchdown in 30 of the 44 times it has penetrated an opponent's red zone. Here's a breakdown:

	UW	Opp.
Inside the Red Zone	50	30
Scores	42 (.820)	23 (.767)
Touchdown	34 (.680)	18 (.600)
Field Goal	8	5

THE CROATIAN SENSATION: In 1995 Husky strongside linebacker Jason Chorak led the team with 13 tackles for loss, totaling 46.5 yards. Last year Chorak finished the season with a school record 22 tackles for loss totaling 105 yards. He also set the single-season sacks record with 14.5 sacks for 90.5 yards. Chorak recorded a sack in every game last season except for the Oregon State game (only 13 pass attempts). In 1995 Chorak recorded 3.5 sacks for 22 yards. The explanation? Jim Lambright says Chorak played within himself. According to Lambright, Chorak's old approach was "Ready. Fire. Aim." Here's where Chorak figures on several UW defensive lists:

THE NCAA STATS: Here's where Washington finished the season among the national stats leaders:

Scoring: Corey Dillon, 1st at 12.55 ppg.
 All-Purpose Rushing: Corey Dillon, 3rd at 198.64 yards per game
 Rushing: Corey Dillon, 6th at 141.36 per game
 Punt Returns: Jerome Pathon 24th in punt returns at 12.06 ypr.
 Washington, tied for 19th in turnover margin at +0.80
 Washington, 13th in rushing defense at 103.0 ypg.
 Washington, 21st in rushing offense at 218.9 ypg.
 Washington, 16th in scoring offense at 33.6 ppg.
 Washington, 11th in punt returns at 13.4 ypr.

INK HITS THE 300 MARK: Husky senior inside linebacker Ink Aleaga recorded the 300th tackle in his career against San Jose State. Aleaga finished the season with 306 career tackles. Aleaga entered the season with 227 career tackles and added eight at Arizona State, 11 vs. BYU, nine vs. Arizona and Stanford and seven vs. Notre Dame, four vs. UCLA, five at Oregon, nine at USC, eight vs. Oregon State, five vs. San Jose State and four vs. Washington State.

SACK ATTACK: Washington racked up 46 sacks totaling 291 yards during the 1996 season. The 4.2 per-game average was first in the Pac-10. Washington averaged a sack every 7.1 times the opposition attempted a pass. The Huskies recorded eight sacks of BYU quarterback Steve Sarkisian and had six vs. Stanford and seven vs. USC and San Jose State. The last time the Husky defense had eight sacks in a game was during the 1991 national championship season. Washington totaled eight sacks for 61 yards in a 56-3 victory against Kansas State on Sept. 28 in Husky Stadium. Donald Jones led the Huskies that day with three sacks for 22 yards. Here's a year-by-year breakdown of UW sacks since the stat was kept in 1982:

Year	Sacks	Yards
1. 1990	52	398
2. 1991	48	282
3. 1982	46	299
1996	46	291
5. 1983	41	na
6. 1986	40	323
7. 1992	39	251
8. 1984	36	na

JANOSKI JOINS TOP 10: Senior split end Dave Janoski joined the Huskies' top-10 career receptions list vs. Oregon State. A foot injury early in the final game at Washington State prevented Janoski from joining the top-10 list for receiving yards.

Senior receiver Dave Janoski finished his career as one of the top 10 receivers in UW history. He was also named a 2nd-team Academic All-American and was awarded an NCAA post graduate scholarship.

TID-BITS: Senior inside linebacker Eddie Burell played in his first game as a Husky against San Jose State and recorded an interception on the fourth play of his career ... junior tight end Cameron Cleeland had career highs with four receptions and 52 receiving yards vs. USC ... senior tight end Cam Kissel played in 32 games during his career before he caught his first pass against Oregon this season ... Kissel recorded his first career TD reception vs. Oregon State ... Washington had eight players who have made at least one reception for more than 20 yards in 1996 ... inside linebacker John Fiala had 95 tackles during the year after finishing the 1995 season with 77 ... Dave Janoski's 67-yard punt return for a TD against Arizona State marked the first time a Husky ran back a punt for a score since the 1991 season ... Jerome Pathon's 60-yard kickoff return vs. UCLA was the longest by a Husky since 1980 ... he topped that later in the season with an 86-yard runback for a TD vs. Colorado in the Holiday Bowl ... Washington had a streak of passing for a TD snapped at eight games against Notre Dame. The Huskies have passed for a score 21 of their last 24 contests ... Brock Huard's 311 passing yards vs. Arizona marked the first time a Husky freshman threw for 300 yards in a game ... Huard's four TD passes vs. Oregon State were the most by a UW QB since Billy Joe Hobert had four vs. Oregon State in 1991 ... Jon Minter was the first true freshman to play QB for the Huskies since Cary Conklin appeared vs. BYU on Sept. 20, 1986 ... the Huskies were 18-4 in games where John Wales kicks a field goal ... Corey Dillon was the only Husky running with a TD reception in 1996 ... UW running backs have accounted for TD catches only five times since 1993 ... the Huskies averaged 7:20 more minutes of possession time (33:40 to 26:20) than their opponents in 1996 ... the Huskies won every game, except for Colorado, that they controlled the clock ... Washington was second in the Pac-10 in sacks allowed with 18 ... UW's average home attendance was 7,564 more than Arizona State, the nearest Pac-10 school in that category ... Washington was first in the Pac-10 in third-down conversions at 49.7 percent (92 of 185) ... the Huskies converted 54.7 percent (82 of 150) of their third-down attempts in the nine games they won.

PARRISH THE THOUGHT: How well would junior free safety Tony Parrish fill the shoes of All-American free safety Lawyer Milloy? Just fine, thank you. Over the last six games of the season Parrish came up with three fumble recoveries, caused two fumbles and intercepted one pass. For the season, Parrish had four fumble recoveries and a pair of interceptions, including a 45-yard return for a score vs. Arizona, and he caused two fumbles. Parrish finished third on the Husky defense with 71 tackles and shared the team lead in pass defenses with eight.

THE INTERCEPTION STORY: Washington's quarterbacks threw only six interceptions last season in 290 pass attempts, or once in every 48 pass attempts. Dating back 23 games to the start of the 1995 season, the Huskies have throw only 13 interceptions in 626 pass attempts, or once every 48 attempts. Brock Huard had a streak of 94 passes without an interception ended in the Holiday Bowl. He was picked off just twice in the final 146 pass attempts during the season.

BOUNCING BACK: Washington has shown a real knack of bouncing back after a defeat during the regular season. The victory against UCLA marked the 17th consecutive time the Huskies have come back to win following a defeat in the regular season. Washington has won 12 straight following a loss under head coach Jim Lambright. The Huskies have not lost back-to-back games in the regular season since the 1989 season. That year the Huskies dropped three straight contests to Arizona (20-17), Colorado (45-28) and USC (24-16) before finishing the year with an 8-4 record and a 34-7 victory against Florida in the Freedom Bowl.

THE SENIORS: Washington's senior class included just five players who enrolled in the fall of 1992. With a small number of scholarships to extend that year, Washington's 1992 recruiting class was made of only 15 players. The five remaining players were: SE Dave Janoski, ILB Ink Aleaga, OT Bob Sapp, DT David Richie and OG/OT Lynn Johnson. There were several former walkons who were seniors last year and saw considerable playing time for the Huskies. ILB John Fiala was one of the team captains, WLB Ikaika Malloe was a part-time starter during his career, Geoff Prince shared the punting duties while John Wales was in his third year as the starting placekicker. TE Cam Kissel and ILB Jesse Binkley saw considerable playing time last season.

Offensive guard Bob Sapp was named the Morris Trophy winner as the Pac-10's outstanding offensive lineman.

AT HOME: Washington has won 39 of its last 44 (.898) games at Husky Stadium with one tie (39-4-1). Since 1980 the Huskies stand 87-16-2 (.838) at home and are 57-9-2 (.853) since 1986. Washington is 20-3-1 (.854) in Husky Stadium under Jim Lambright. Notre Dame's 29-22 win on Oct. 7, 1995 ended a streak of nine consecutive home victories by the Huskies. It also snapped a streak of 11 consecutive home wins vs. non-conference foes and it stopped a streak of nine consecutive victories against ranked opponents by UW in Husky Stadium. USC's 22-17 victory in 1993 snapped a record 17-game home winning streak by the Huskies.

A PERFECT HOME SLATE: Washington's 53-10 win against San Jose State gave the Huskies a perfect 6-0 home record for 1996, which was Washington's 11th perfect season in Husky Stadium. It was also the Huskies' fourth perfect home slate in the 1990s, having won every home game in 1991, 1992 and 1994. The Huskies last losing home season was 1976, when UW went 3-4 on the home field.

TAILBACK LEGACY: Washington's starting tailbacks, in each of the last eight seasons, have combined to rush for 1,000 yards. Last year's duo of Rashaan Shehee and Corey Dillon combined to reach that mark with totaled 1,797 yards. The starting combination of Shehee and Leon Neal teamed to produce 1,496 yards in 1995. Napoleon Kaufman notched three straight 1,000-yard seasons from 1992-94. In 1991, Beno Bryant and Jay Barry shared the starting duties and rushed for a combined 1,661 yards. Greg Lewis began the string with 1,000-yard seasons in 1989 and 1990. Here's a breakdown:

Yr.	Players	Rushing Yds.	Avg.
1996	Dillon & Shehee	1,797	5.4
1995	Shehee & Neal	1,496	5.6
1994	Napoleon Kaufman	1,390	5.5
1993	Napoleon Kaufman	1,299	5.7
1992	Napoleon Kaufman	1,045	6.5
1991	Beno Bryant & Jay Barry	1,661	5.5
1990	Greg Lewis	1,279	5.6
1989	Greg Lewis	1,100	4.6

THE 100-YARD FACTOR: Since the 1947 season, Washington is 134-31-3 (.810) when a Husky player rushes for 100 yards in a game. The Huskies had 10 100-yard performances last season. Rashaan Shehee ran for 131 yards vs. Brigham Young and Corey Dillon had 125 yards vs. Arizona 173 yards vs. Stanford, 145 yards vs. UCLA, 259 yards vs. Oregon, 128 yards vs. USC, 143 yards vs. Oregon State, 222 yards vs. San Jose State, 155 yards vs. Washington State and 140 yards vs. Colorado in the Holiday Bowl. Washington was 9-1 last year when a running back hit the 100-yard mark.

WHAT'S IN A NAME: Senior linebacker Ikaika Malloe's (pronounced eek-EYE-kuh Milloy) first name is Hawaiian and means "strong willed." Junior nose tackle Sekou (SOO-key) Wiggs' real first name is Sekouaoula (pronounced SAKE-ah-wooh-LEY) and is Swahili and means "fighting son of a king." And Butkus Candidate Ink Aleaga's first name. "It just means Ink. My mom wanted to be original," he says.

WALES KEEPS CLIMBING: Senior kicker John Wales finished his career third on Washington's all-time field goals list. Wales managed 18 field goals in his first season of play as a sophomore and followed up with 10 in 1995. During his high school career, partially due to injuries, Wales kicked only two field goals. Here's where he stands on a couple of UW's all-time lists:

Career Field Goals

1. Jeff Jaeger (1983-86) *80
2. Chuck Nelson (1980-82) 59
3. John Wales (1994-95) 36

WINNING IN THE '90s: Washington's 61-20-1 record in the 1990s is the best among Pac-10 schools and figures as the best for Pac-10 play. Here's a look, broken down by overall games and Pac-10 games:

Overall
Team	W	L	T	Pct.
1. Washington	61	20	1	.750
2. USC	48	33	3	.589
3. Arizona	46	34	1	.574

YOUTH MOVEMENT: A total of 19 players started their first game for the Huskies in 1996. Eight players — OT Tony Coats; C Olin Kreutz; QB Shane Fortney; DE Chris Campbell; NT Mac Tuiaa; ROV Kyle Roberts; CB Jermaine Smith and CB Mel Miller — recorded their first UW start in the season opener at Arizona State. Against BYU, two additional players — FL Gerald Harris and ROV Nigel Burton — recorded the first start in their Husky careers. QB Brock Huard got his first start vs. Arizona and TB Corey Dillon started vs. Stanford. ILB Lester Towns, SE Gerald Harris and OG Ben Kadletz started vs. UCLA while George Keiaho and Jeremy Brigham started at Oregon and Aaron Dalan at USC. Punter Hamid Sarshar started his first game vs. Arizona.

STRONG STARTS: It's usually been a pretty productive day in recent years when a Washington tailback has started his first game. Corey Dillon rushed for 173 yards on a school record 36 carries against Stanford in his first career start. Rashaan Shehee rushed for 171 yards on 32 carries against Notre Dame in 1995 in his first career start. Leon Neal had 105 yards in his first career start during Washington's 1995 season-opening 23-20 victory against Arizona State. Their predecessor, Napoleon Kaufman, also accomplished that feat by rushing for 208 yards in his first career start against California during the 1992 season. His predecessor, Beno Bryant, rushed for 112 yards in his first career start against Washington State in 1990.

TOP-20 WINS: Washington has registered at least one win against an opponent ranked in the top 20 of the Associated Press poll in each of the last eight seasons. UW has now defeated a top-20 team in 19 of the last 20 seasons. In 1988 UW played only two games against nationally ranked foes — UCLA (No. 2) and USC (No. 3) and lost both of those games. UW figures in a tie for eighth among the list of current teams with Top-20 wins in consecutive seasons entering the 1995 season. Here's a look:

1. Miami*	13 years
2. Clemson*	10 years
3. Florida State*	9 years
4. Michigan*	8 years
Colorado*	8 years
6. Washington*	7 years
Alabama*	7 years
Tennessee*	7 years
9. Texas A&M	6 years

* Defeated a top-20 team in 1996.

THE WINNING STREAK: Washington's posted its 20th consecutive winning season in 1996. The Huskies last sub-.500 record was a 5-6 finish in 1976. The Huskies 20-year mark, without a losing or .500 season, is the second best current streak and ranks 10th on the NCAA's all-time list. Only Nebraska (34) has a longer active streak of winning seasons. Oklahoma saw its 28-year winning season streak end in 1994 when it posted a 6-6 mark. Florida State, like Washington, has not had a losing campaign since 1976. Aside from Washington, the longest streak of consecutive winning seasons among the other Pac-10 schools is four by USC. Here's a look at the NCAA list:

No.	School	Years
42	Notre Dame	1889-1932
38	Alabama	1911-1950
34	Nebraska	1962-present
29	Oklahoma	1966-1994
28	Virginia	1888-1915
27	Michigan	1892-1918
26	Penn State	1939-1964
21	USC	1962-1982
21	Vanderbilt	1915-1935
20	Washington	1977-present
20	Florida State	1977-present
19	Ohio State	1899-1917
19	Wisconsin	1891-1909

Note: Miami is the next closest team with 16 consecutive winning seasons.

INTERNATIONAL DAWGS: Washington's 1996 roster included several players who were born outside of the United States. Wide receiver Jerome Pathon was born in Capetown, South Africa and moved to Vancouver when he was five years old. Offensive tackle Mostafa Sobhi was born in Alexandria, Egypt. Punter Hamid Sarshar was born in Tehran, Iran. Backup fullback George Keiaho was born in Suva, Fiji. Backup center Petrocelli Kesi was born in American Samoa. Walkon linebacker Justin Nnanabu was born in Imo, Nigeria and walkon offensive guard Buddy Phillips was born in Agana, Guam.

THE CAPTAINS: Washington's captains for the 1996 season were: Senior inside linebacker John Fiala; senior split end Dave Janoski; senior offensive guard Bob Sapp and senior inside linebacker Ink Aleaga.

300 HOME WINS: Washington's win against Arizona marked the 300 home victory in Husky Stadium history. Washington became only the sixth Division I team to record 300 home wins in its current facility. The Huskies' all-time record at Husky Stadium stands at 304-126-21

THE SHUTOUT STREAK: Washington's 33-21 loss to Colorado marked the 180th consecutive game in which Washington has not been shutout. That's the best streak among Pac-10 schools. BYU has the nation's longest streak at 275 games (NCAA record). The last opponent to hold the Huskies scoreless was UCLA (31-0) on Nov. 7, 1981. Washington has played 120 Pac-10 games since then without a shutout — the second best current streak among Pac-10 schools.

Team	All Games	Pac-10 Games
Washington	179	120
Washington State	143	165
Oregon	135	102
USC	81	55
Arizona	66	45
Oregon State	40	30
UCLA	31	23
California	27	20
Arizona State	18	13
Stanford	9	51

NEW DAWGS ON SCHOLARSHIP: Annually Husky coach Jim Lambright awards a one-year scholarship to several Husky players at the start of the school year. In 1996, a total of 11 players received a scholarship. That list included: WLB Ikaika Malloe (Waimanalo, HI); PK John Wales (Kent, WA); TE Cam Kissel (Manhattan Beach, CA); OG Buddy Phillips (Oak Harbor, WA); OT Chris Hoffman (Tacoma, WA); P Hamid Sarshar (Bellevue, WA); P Geoff Prince (Long Beach, CA); WLB Todd Johnson (Bellevue, WA); ROV Brooks Beaupain (Bellevue, WA); ILB Jesse Binkley (Seattle, WA) and ILB Gary Shavey (Mercer Island, WA).

THE PREDICTION: Washington was predicted to finish fourth in the 1996 Pac-10 Conference race according to the preseason media poll. USC was the overwhelming favorite among writers and broadcasters to repeat as Pac-10 champions. The Trojans received 23 of 30 first-place votes. Here's a look at the preseason Pac-10 media poll:

1. USC (23)	287
2. Arizona State (4)	234
3. Oregon (2)	222
4. Washington	215
5. UCLA	171
6. Stanford (1)	162
7. Arizona	144
8. California	90
9. Washington State	86
10. Oregon State	36

THE PAC-10 OPENER: In 1996, for the sixth straight season, Washington opened against a Pac-10 opponent when it traveled to Tempe to play Arizona, State Sept. 7. Did you know Washington was only the second Pac-10 team to play six consecutive season openers against conference foes? Starting with the 1991 season, Washington opened six straight campaigns against a league opponent. Washington State did the same thing from 1951-56. No team has ever opened seven straight years against another Pac-10 team.

NOT A BAD START: Pressure? When Husky reserve punter Hamid Sarshar made his Husky debut in the BYU contest, it marked the first time in four years he had punted in a football game. Sarshar, who punted only one year in high school, booted a 46-yarder in his first college attempt. Late in the fourth quarter his second kick, 33-yard pooch punt, was downed at the BYU one-yard line and led to a Cougar safety. Sarshar was born in Tehran, Iran and moved out of the country when he was one-year old.

ILB ... 6-2 ... 230

Maryknoll High School

Washington: Finished his career as one of the top linebackers in Husky history ... a four-year letterman who was a two-time All-Pac-10 selection ... the first Pac-10 player to repeat at that position (LB) since former Husky Dave Hoffmann and Stanford's Ron George did it in 1991 and 1992 ... quite leader on and off the field ... named to Playboy's 1996 All-America team ... a free agent selection by the New Orleans Saints following the 1997 NFL draft ... served as a captain his senior season ... recovered five fumbles and recorded five interceptions during his career ... 13 times in his career he reached the double-figure mark in tackles during a game ... injuries slowed him early in his career ... in 1994 a pulled hamstring kept him out of the Ohio State game and he missed six games in 1993 due to a broken leg. 1996: First-team All-Pac-10 selection ... was a repeater after also earning the honor in 1995 ... preseason All-American pick by Playboy ... served as team captain ... earned his third letter ... started all 11 games at inside linebacker ... one of eight defensive players to start every game during the year ... finished his career with 306 total tackles ... second on the team with 79 tackles ... switched inside linebacker positions to be involved in more pass coverages ... top tackling day came against BYU when he totaled 11 stops ... had nine tackles vs. Arizona, Stanford and USC ... selected to play in the East-West Shrine Game ... ranked third among inside linebackers in The Sporting News' preseason poll ... a preseason All-Pac-10 pick by Bob Griese's College Football Yearbook ... entered senior season second among all returning Pac-10 players in tackles with 99 last season, trailing only Stanford's Chris Draft (103) ... one of four Hawaii natives on the Husky two-deep heading into fall practice. 1995: A first-team All-Pac-10 pick by the league's coaches ... an honorable mention All-American by UPI ... finished the season with 99 tackles, second on the squad to consensus All-American Lawyer Milloy ... finished second on the team with three interceptions ... intercepted passes against Stanford, Oregon and UCLA ... one of six Husky defenders to start all 11 regular-season games ... had double-figure tackle efforts against Ohio State (10), Army (19), Oregon State (10), Stanford (11), USC (10) and Iowa (14) ... his 19 tackles against Army was the most by a Husky player since James Clifford's 27 vs. USC in 1989 ... he was named the Metropolitan Savings Player of the Game for his performance against the Cadets ... had 6.5 tackles for loss, the fourth highest total on the defense ... credited with five pass defenses, the most of any non-defensive back on the team ... recovered fumbles against Notre Dame and Oregon ... named a game captain for the Ohio State, Oregon State, Arizona and UCLA games ... named defensive player of the week by coaching staff for his play vs. Stanford and Oregon ... ranked fifth best inside linebacker in the nation in preseason polls by Lindy's Football and The Sporting News. 1994: A second-team All-Pac-10 pick by league's coaches ... earned his first varsity letter ... finished second on the team to FS Lawyer Milloy in tackles with 96, which placed him ninth in the final Pac-10 statistics ... finished the season with 60 tackles in his final six games ... started 10 games, missing the Ohio State contest due to pulled hamstring ... accounted for 11.5 tackles for loss including three sacks ... had at least one tackle behind the line of scrimmage in seven of 10 games ... led Washington in tackles against Arizona State (15), Oregon (10) and Oregon State (13) on consecutive weekends ... also topped the team with 12 tackles against Washington State ... had 10 solo stops vs. the Cougars to join Lawyer Milloy as the only Huskies to reach double figures in solo tackles during the season ... picked up Pac-10 defensive player of the week honors against Arizona State ... in addition to a career high of 15 tackles, he notched 3.5 tackles for loss, recovered a fumble and returned an interception 23 yards for a touchdown ... one of five Husky defensive players to score a touchdown during the season ... named defensive player of the week by coaching staff for play vs. San Jose State (6 tackles, 2.5 tackles for loss, 1.5 sacks) ... picked up Big Hit awards from the Husky coaches for plays against San Jose State and Oregon. 1993: Broke the fibula in his left leg during an Aug. 19 practice ... did not play in a game until Washington's Oct. 23 game vs. Oregon ... started the final three games of the season after ILB Hillary Butler suffered a hernia

... drew the notice of the Pac-10 coaches by earning honorable mention all-conference honors, despite playing in only five games ... finished the season with 32 tackles, including 18 solo stops ... had five tackles for loss, tying him for seventh on the team in that category ... led the Huskies with 12 tackles against USC ... voted a "Big Hit" award by Husky coaches vs. USC ... recovered a fumble against Washington State ... named the Texaco Star Performer for seven-tackle outing at Oregon State ... did not amass enough playing time to earn a varsity letter ... led all players in annual Spring Game with nine tackles while also recovering one fumble. 1992: Redshirted the season ... named most improved linebacker at end of spring drills ... led the Purple team with nine tackles in the Spring Game ... received backup player of the week honors for Wisconsin, USC, California, Oregon, Pacific and Arizona games.

High School and Personal: Born April 4, 1973 in Honolulu ... father's name is Eti, mother's name is Poulim ... brothers are named Eddie, Vic, Ing and Link ... sisters are named Queena and Queene ... played his prep ball for Pac-5 which was a team comprised of players from five smaller high schools in the Honolulu area ... earned three letters as a linebacker ... earned all-state honors as a senior ... also lettered for track and basketball squads ... a third-team all-state pick in basketball as a senior at Maryknoll ... graduated from high school in 1991, but did not enroll at Washington until 1992 ... took a year off to improve his board scores ... last name pronounced ah-lee-AH-ga ... majored in sociology.

Dillon's Day

Corey Dillon made a huge mark in the record books with his dominating performance against the San Jose State Spartans on November 16, 1996 at Husky Stadium. The junior tailback set an NCAA record for most rushing yards in a quarter (222) while also topping several Husky marks in the process.

On a cold, rainy day on the shores of Lake Washington, there was nothing that could stop the Husky tailback. Dillon warmed up with a five-yard run on his first carry, seven on his second, and 15 on his third. The game plan stayed simple as his next four carries were right up the middle totaling 29 yards. San Jose State head coach John Robinson called a timeout to figure out how to stop him, but Dillon marched into the endzone from four yards out on the next play to give the Huskies a 7-0 lead.

Dillon was just warming up.

The next time he touched the ball, he scampered 48 yards behind guard Bob Sapp for a touchdown. At the 8:46 mark in the first quarter, Dillon had already racked up 108 yards on nine carries.

Having already passed Greg Lewis for third on the Washington single-season rushing list, Dillon needed six yards to move into second place, and 91 for the all-time mark. Dillon's next carry helped him close the gap in a hurry. He took Brock Huard's handoff and raced 78 yards down the left sideline for his third touchdown of the game. Washington was ahead 19-0 with 6:26 left in the quarter.

Dillon's total was now up to 197 yards.

Washington's next possession began with 3:35 remaining in the first quarter. San Jose State held Dillon to a one-yard gain before a Huard's pass fell incomplete to Cam Cleeland on second down. Facing third-and-nine, the Huskies called a screen pass to Dillon. He did more than just get the first down. He exploded for 83 more yards and another touchdown. It turned out to be the second longest reception in school history. It also made it look as if Dillon cost himself a shot at the single-season rushing mark.

With just 2:18 left in the quarter, the Husky defense would have to do its part to get the offense back on the field. Despite allowing a first down, the Huskies managed to get the ball back with 1:23 to go.

That proved to be more than enough time for Dillon to do his work. Dillon picked-up a first down with a 16-yard run. With 1:16 left Dillon put himself into the NCAA record book with 215 rushing yards in a quarter. He added seven more yards before time ran out to pass Napoleon Kaufman on the Huskies' single season rushing list. It was the most incredible 15 minute performance by any player in Washington history, finishing with 222 yards rushing on 16 carries and 305 all-purpose yards.

At the end of the quarter, Dillon established four Washington season records: most rushing yards (1,400), most all-purpose yards (2,030), most rushing touchdowns (19), and most total touchdowns (20). He did not play in the remainder of the game.

Washington won the game by a final score of 53-10 and there was much to be said by the people that saw Dillon's record breaking performance.

"It was a tremendous performance by Corey and our offense," said head coach Jim Lambright. "I think that the record itself says everything. The volumes of running backs that have run in NCAA history, nobody has ever had a bigger quarter."

"He is an amazing back," said offensive guard Bob Sapp. "The only thing more amazing is his next amazing play. You just never know what is going to happen when Dillon is in the game. I love blocking for him."

"It's great to see so many records get broken," said senior defensive lineman David Ritchie. "What we did and what we accomplished today, you just can't say enough about that. When I'm 40 years old, I can look back and say 'I was a senior on that team.'"

All-King County honors as a junior and senior ... made 124 tackles as a senior ... compiled 146 tackles as a junior ... besides inside linebacker, also played fullback and tight end at Lake Washington ... three-time letterwinner in wrestling ... finished second in 190-pound division as a junior ... majoring in sociology.

The Pacific-10 Conference

The Pacific-10 Conference enjoyed unprecedented success during the 1996-97 academic year. The league claimed a record 14 NCAA titles during the year, the most ever won by any conference in a single year. Seven different Pac-10 institutions won at least one NCAA title during the past year with Stanford becoming the first institution in NCAA history to claim six national crowns in a year. Individually, the Pac-10 was just as impressive, securing 24 individual NCAA championships in 1996-97.

NCAA team champions from the Pac-10 in 1996-97 came from Arizona (softball, men's basketball), Arizona State (women's golf), California (men's gymnastics), Stanford (men's cross country, women's cross country, men's tennis, women's tennis, men's volleyball and women's volleyball), UCLA (men's water polo, women's gymnastics), USC (women's swimming and diving) and Washington (women's rowing). With the Huskies' title, all 10 member institutions have now claimed at least one NCAA title. The Southeastern Conference finished the academic year with seven titles followed by the Atlantic Coast Conference with three.

The Pac-10's 24 NCAA individual champions were claimed by five members (Arizona led with seven and Stanford and USC had five each).

The Pac-10 had runners-up in five NCAA championship events -- Arizona State in women's gymnastics, Stanford in men's and women's swimming and diving and UCLA in softball and men's volleyball. All Pac-10 team finals occurred in the softball and men's volleyball championships. It was the third straight year that the Pac-10 had at least two NCAA finals involving Conference squads and the sixth time in seven years the softball championship featured two Pac-10 teams.

In football, Arizona State posted the first undefeated regular season for the Pac-10 in six years en route to the school's second Rose Bowl appearance. The Arizona men's basketball program brought the Conference's second NCAA Championship in three seasons with a thrilling overtime victory over defending champion Kentucky. In addition, the Pac-10 sent a league-record four teams (Arizona, California, Stanford and UCLA) to the "Sweet Sixteen," more than any other conference. In women's basketball, Stanford made its fifth trip to the Final Four in the 90s. Arizona, one of three Pac-10 teams competing in the Women's College World Series, captured its fifth NCAA softball title in seven seasons and Stanford and UCLA both reached NCAA baseball's College World Series. Stanford women's volleyball joined UCLA and Hawai'i as the only institutions to win three NCAA women's volleyball titles.

Pac-10 members have now won 225 NCAA men's team championships (far ahead of the 148 claimed by the Big Ten) and 57 women's crowns (far ahead of the Southeastern Conference, which has 38) to lead all conferences in both categories.

Men's NCAA team crowns have come at a phenomenal rate -- 15 basketball titles by five schools (more than any other conference), 34 of the last 37 in tennis, 21 of the last 28 in volleyball, 24 of the last 38 in water polo, 16 of the last 31 baseball titles, 18 of the last 33 in swimming & diving, and 18 of the last 37 titles in track and field (and an incredible 44 titles overall). The Conference also has claimed an incredible 968 NCAA individual crowns.

On the women's side, the story is the same. Since the NCAA began conducting women's championships 16 years ago, Pac-10 members have claimed four titles in a single season on 10 occasions, including 11 of 16 tennis crowns, 12 of the 16 softball championships, five of the last seven volleyball titles and seven of the last nine trophies in both golf and swimming & diving. Plus, the 276 NCAA individual titles lead all leagues.

The roots of the Pacific-10 Conference go back 80 years to December 15, 1915, when the Pacific Coast Conference (PCC) was founded at a meeting at the Oregon Hotel in Portland, Ore. Original membership consisted of four schools: the University of California at Berkeley, the University of Washington, the University of Oregon, and Oregon State College (now Oregon State University). All still are charter members of the Conference.

Pacific Coast Conference play began in 1916. One year later, Washington State College (now Washington State University), was accepted into the Conference, and Stanford University joined in 1918.

In 1922, the PCC expanded to eight teams with the admission of the University of Southern California and the University of Idaho. Montana joined the Conference in 1924, and in 1928, the PCC grew to 10 members with the addition of UCLA.

The Pacific Coast Conference competed as a 10-team league until 1950, with the exception of 1943-45, when World War II curtailed intercollegiate athletic competition to a minimum. In 1950, Montana resigned from the Conference and joined the Mountain States Conference. The PCC continued as a nine-team Conference through 1958.

In 1959, the PCC was dissolved and a new Conference was formed. The Athletic Association of Western Universities. Original AAWU membership consisted of California, Stanford, Southern California, UCLA, and Washington. Washington State became a member in 1962, while Oregon and Oregon State joined in 1964. In 1968, the name Pacific-8 Conference was adopted.

Ten years later, on July 1, 1978, the University of Arizona and Arizona State University were admitted and the Pacific-10 Conference became a reality. In 1986-87, the league took on a new look, expanding to include 10 women's sports.

Currently, the Pac-10 sponsors 10 men's sports and 11 women's sports. Additionally, the Conference is a member of the Mountain Pacific Sports Federation (MPSF) in five other men's sports and two other women's sport.

Edwin N. Atherton was named the Conference's first Commissioner in 1940. He has been succeeded by Victor O. Schmidt (1944), Thomas J. Hamilton (1959), Wiles Hallock (1971), and current Commissioner Thomas C. Hansen in 1983.

The Pacific-10 Conference offices are located 25 miles east of San Francisco in Walnut Creek.

Husky Quarterback History

Since 1975, all of Washington's first-string quarterbacks have advanced to play professional football after their collegiate careers. A total of 11 different Husky quarterbacks made the transition during this span with nine playing in the NFL, one in the USFL, and one in the CFL.

Washington's rich quarterback tradition has produced a total of 11 NFL quarterbacks. This select group has won 10 bowl game MVP awards, including five Rose Bowl MVP's. In addition, two (Cary Conklin and Don Heinrich) have been on NFL championship teams and another (Warren Moon) led his team to a record five straight Grey Cup titles in the CFL.

Retired Husky Jerseys

2 Chuck Carroll

Chuck Carroll was a consensus All-American in 1928, capping an outstanding career in which he was a three-time letterwinner while helping lead the Huskies to a 24-8 overall record. He also received the Guy Flaherty award that season, as he set a Husky record with 17 touchdowns in one season, a record since tied by Husky greats Hugh McElhenny and Mario Bailey. Carroll, a two-time All-Coast selection (1927-28), also owns the Husky record for most points scored in a game — 36 against Puget Sound in 1928. Carroll was inducted into the National Football Foundation Hall of Fame in 1964 and the Husky Hall of Fame in 1979.

44 Roland Kirkby

Roland Kirkby was one of the most underrated members of the Washington's Fearsome Foursome backfield in 1950. As a senior he was named first-team All-Coast by a vote of the coaches and second-team by several different organizations. Kirkby set a school record that season when he caught three touchdown passes in a game against Kansas State, a record that has since been tied but not broken. Kirkby was honorable mention All-America as a sophomore in 1948 and honorable mention All-Coast as a junior.

33 George Wilson

George Wilson was described as one of the most fearless all-around players in the country during his Husky career, twice outplaying such well-known legends as Red Grange of Illinois and Ernie Nevers of Stanford. In 1925 he joined those two greats on the All-America team as Washington's first consensus pick. He also was a three-time All-Coast selection (1923-25). Wilson scored a school record 37 touchdowns during his career and led Washington to two Rose Bowl appearances in 1924 and 1926. Wilson was inducted into the National Football Foundation Hall of Fame in 1951 and the Husky Hall of Fame in 1980.

Husky Greats

Don Heinrich

Don Heinrich is considered one of the greatest quarterbacks in the history of the college game. Twice while at Washington, he topped the NCAA passing statistics. Today, over 40 years after his brilliant career as a Husky, he still ranks fourth on Washington's career passing list with over 4,000 yards.

Heinrich directed Washington to an 8-2 record in 1950 and to a 7-3 mark as a senior in 1952. In both 1950 and 1952, Heinrich led the nation in passing yardage and percentage. The 1950 season was perhaps his most memorable, capped by one of the strangest Washington-Washington State games ever.

With the Huskies leading 45-14, Heinrich was on the bench, believing he had established a national pass-completion record of 133 for one season. With time running out, it was learned that Heinrich had only tied the record. A player suggested that WSU be allowed to score so Washington could get the ball back.

After the Cougars scored an uncontested touchdown, Heinrich completed a short pass and the record was broken. Moments later, Hugh McElhenny broke loose on an 84-yard touchdown run, a romp that gave him 296 rushing yards for the game and still is a UW record. The Huskies won 52-21.

Heinrich was named first-team All-Pacific Coast Conference, first-team All-Coast and was a two-time All-American. Named the quarterback on the Husky centennial team in 1990, he was inducted into the college football Hall of Fame in 1987.

After college, he had a successful career in the professional ranks. Heinrich went on to play with the New York Giants and won the World Championship in 1956. He also helped lead the Giants into the NFL title game in 1958 and 1959. Following his playing days, Heinrich began a 15-year coaching career in the NFL with the Dallas Cowboys, New York Giants, Los Angeles Rams, Atlanta Falcons, Pittsburgh Steelers, New Orleans Saints and San Francisco 49ers.

Heinrich's broadcast career began in 1976 when he joined KIRO Newsradio as color analyst on KIRO's Seattle Seahawks broadcasts. After six seasons with the Seahawks, Heinrich assumed similar duties for the San Francisco 49ers on KCBS in San Francisco. He joined Don Klein as color analyst with the 49ers in 1982 and worked there for four years.

Heinrich also served as color analyst on ESPN for the United States Football league.

In January of 1992, after the Huskies won a share of the national championship, head coach Don James called Heinrich. "He said, 'You're part of this,' which, of course, is a nice thing to say," Heinrich said after James' call. Don Heinrich, the golden arm of Husky football, passed away in 1992 at age 62 after battling cancer.

Hugh McElhenny

Hugh McElhenny was an All-America fullback/halfback at Washington in 1951, capping a three-year career that saw him set 16 school records. When he was inducted to the Husky Hall of Fame in 1979, nearly 30 years after his illustrious career in the Purple and Gold, McElhenny still ranked first in four all-time rushing categories.

As a Husky, McElhenny rushed for 2,499 total yards, an outstanding 5.5 average per carry. He also gained 760 yards as a pass receiver, 975 yards as a dangerous kickoff and punt returner, and scored 233 career points during 1949, 1950, and 1951 seasons.

He was nicknamed "Hurriyin' Hugh" and "Hurricane Hugh" as a collegiate standout at Washington, then earned the title "The King" as a great professional player from 1952 to 1964.

McElhenny starred with the San Francisco 49ers (1952-60), Minnesota Vikings (1961-62), New York Giants (1963) and Detroit Lions (1964) in 13 NFL seasons. He gained 5,281 yards rushing, gained 3,247 yards pass receiving, ran back punts for 920 yards, and returned kickoffs for 1,921 yards. The King scored 60 touchdowns in the pro ranks and accounted for 11,369 yards during his 13 seasons.

Born Dec. 31, 1928, McElhenny enjoyed an outstanding prep career at Washington High School in his native Los Angeles. He went on to play one year (1948) at Compton (California) Junior College before transferring to Washington in 1949.

McElhenny put up phenomenal numbers at Compton. He averaged nine yards per carry while rushing for 1,184 yards and 17 touchdowns.

He made his impact felt in just his second game as a Husky. Washington was in Minneapolis to meet Big Ten power Minnesota and the Huskies won the coin toss, electing to receive. McElhenny stood on his own goal line waiting the opening kickoff, took the ball on the four yard line and promptly set sail on a 96-yard touchdown return.

Long runs and stunning kick returns were a McElhenny trademark, and one in particular still stands out in Husky fans' minds. Frank Gifford, former USC halfback who went on to start with the New York Giants and then as an ABC-TV sports caster, relates the story:

"I'll never forget that game," said Gifford of the 1951 USC-Washington clash in Seattle. "I wasn't our regular kicker, but I did the punting when we got to midfield because supposedly I was more accurate at getting the ball down to the corner. Well, in this game, I got the ball down in the corner all right and The King took it there, right on the goal line. He started down the sideline and all of a sudden there was only one man — me — between him and the goal line. He left me flat on my face and ran it 100 yards for a touchdown!"

"It was like a touchdown run out of a cornball movie...only it was real."

The 100-yard return off Gifford's punt still ties McElhenny for the longest punt return in NCAA history.

McElhenny once owned the NCAA rushing record, for highest average gain per rush. He set that mark in the final game of his junior season when the Huskies capped a fine 8-2 record and second-place finish in the Pacific Coast Conference with a convincing 52-21 thrashing of Washington State in Spokane. The King gained 296 yards on just 20 carries that day, an incredible 14.8 average, and he scored five touchdowns, including an 83-yard romp in the fourth quarter.

Another well-remembered run took place in the 1950 Kansas State game, the season opener which served to dedicate the opening of the upper deck in expanded Husky Stadium. McElhenny raced 91 yards on a fourth-quarter scrimmage play to break a 31-year-old Washington mark for the longest single play rushing gain.

McElhenny earned second team UPI All-Coast honors (third team AP) as a sophomore, then first team UPI and AP All-Coast honors as a junior and senior. By the time he ended his record breaking career in 1951, McElhenny was a unanimous All-America pick.

The King is a member of the prestigious National Football League (NFL) Hall of Fame inducted in 1970, the College Football Hall of Fame (inducted in 1982) and the Washington Hall of Fame (inaugural group in 1979). He was also selected to the Washington Centennial team in 1990.

Washington's Head Coaches

Gil Dobie, 1908-16

Dobie attended Minnesota and played quarterback for the Golden Gophers from 1899 to 1901. He graduated from Minnesota in 1903 and was an assistant for the Gophers through 1905. He then took his first head coaching job at North Dakota State in 1906 where he went undefeated in two seasons (7-0). In 1908 he became head coach at Washington where he coached the Sun Dodgers in 61 of the 63 games that serves as the longest unbeaten streak in NCAA history. Dobie's Washington squads outscored opponents by a tally of 1,930 to 118 during his nine seasons. He left Washington following the 1916 season and moved to Navy until 1919 where he was 17-3-0. From there he coached at Cornell (1920-35, 82-36-7) and Boston College (1936-38, 16-6-5). Dobie's Washington record of 58-0-3 contributed to his overall record of 180-45-15 which earned him induction into the College Football Hall of Fame in 1951. Dobie died at the age of 69 and was inducted into the Husky Hall of Fame as part of the inaugural induction class in 1979.

Claude J. Hunt, 1917, 1919

Hunt graduated from DePauw University in 1911. Washington hired Hunt in 1917 after Hunt had guided Carleton College in Minnesota to consecutive undefeated seasons. Hunt did not coach the 1918 squad because he was off fighting World War I. Lincoln High School football coach Tony Savage led the 1918 squad which played only two games (1-1). Hunt's overall record at Washington was 6-3-1.

Leonard B. "Stub" Allison 1920

Allison attended and graduated from Carleton College in Minnesota. He was promoted to head coach after serving as an assistant at Washington in 1919. Allison coached the last Washington football game at Denny Field on November 5, 1920 which ended in a 3-0 loss to Stanford. He also coached the first game at Husky Stadium on November 27, 1920 when Washington lost to Dartmouth 28-7 before 24,000 fans to finish the season a disappointing 1-5-0. Allison's squad was the last at Washington to be nicknamed the Sun Dodgers. Allison later resurfaced as the head coach at California in 1935 after serving as an assistant in Berkeley from 1931-34. In 10 seasons as the Bears' head coach, Allison compiled a 58-42-2 record including a 10-0-1 squad in 1937 that finished second in the AP poll and beat Alabama in the 1938 Rose Bowl 13-0 which is Cal's last Rose Bowl win.

Enoch Bagshaw 1921-29

Bagshaw graduated from Washington in 1907 after becoming the first of two five-year lettermen in Washington history. Between 1903 and 1907 Bagshaw played end, halfback and quarterback for Washington under three different coaches. After graduation Bagshaw went to Everett High School where he was head coach from 1909 to 1920. His last Everett squads won consecutive national championships in 1919 and 1920. He was then hired as Washington's head coach in 1921. In his nine seasons at Washington, Bagshaw compiled a 63-22-6 record and took the Huskies to their first ever Rose Bowl in 1924 where they tied Navy 14-14. Bagshaw returned to the Rose Bowl in 1926 where the Huskies lost to Alabama 20-19. Bagshaw retired after the 1929 season and died of a heart attack October 3, 1930 at the age of 46. He was inducted into the Husky Hall of Fame in 1980.

James M. Phelan 1930-41

Phelan graduated from Notre Dame in 1919 and started at quarterback for the Irish from 1915-1917 when he guided them to a 21-3-1 record in Jesse Harper's last three years as head coach. Following graduation Phelan served in the US Navy where he was assigned to the Missouri as First Lieutenant. In 1920 he was hired at Missouri as head coach where he was 13-3-0 in two seasons before he moved to Purdue in 1922. In eight seasons as the Boilermakers head coach Phelan was 35-22-5 including an 8-0 squad in 1929. In 12 years as head coach at Washington, Phelan guided the Huskies to a 65-37-8 record. The Huskies went to the Rose Bowl in 1937 where they lost to Pittsburgh 21-0. Phelan guided the Huskies to their first bowl victory in the Pineapple Bowl in 1938 when they beat Hawaii 53-13. Phelan left Washington in 1941 for St. Mary's (Calif.). He later became the first Husky head coach to coach in the professional football league when he skippered the New York Titans, New York Yankees, Baltimore Colts, and Texas Rangers. He later got involved in politics and served three terms as County Commissioner for Sacramento County in California where he became a personal friend of then governor Ronald Reagan. He died November 14, 1979 at the age of 81. He was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 1973 and into the Husky Hall of Fame in 1986.

Ralph "Pest" Welch 1942-47

Welch graduated from Purdue in 1930 where he was an All-American halfback under Jim Phelan. Welch followed Phelan to Washington where he served as an assistant coach in all but one (1938) of Phelan's 12 years at Washington. Welch finished with a 27-20-3 record at Washington and took the '43 squad to the 1944 Rose Bowl where they lost to USC 29-0. Welch's six seasons were marked by the turmoil caused by World War II as players came and left as their war duties allowed them to. Welch resigned in 1948.

Howard Odell 1948-52

Odell graduated from Pittsburgh in 1934 after playing at running back and punter on the 1932-33 Panther squads. He remained at Pittsburgh for two seasons as backfield coach. In 1936 he moved to Harvard for two seasons and then to Pennsylvania from 1938-40. In 1941 he served as the backfield coach at Wisconsin under Harry Stuhldreher, one of Notre Dame's Four Horsemen. He got his first head coaching job at Yale in 1942 and stayed through 1947 compiling a record of 35-15-2 which included Yale's 500th victory in 1945. He was hired at Washington in 1948 and stayed until 1952. Odell's overall record at the UW was 23-25-12. He coached two of Washington's greatest players in Hugh McElhenny and Don Heinrich. He opened a used car lot after he left the coaching ranks. In 1957 he was elected King County Commissioner and served until 1962 when he retired and moved to Southern California.

John Cherberg, 1953-55

Cherberg was a Seattle native who graduated from Washington in 1933. He played for Jim Phelan's 1930-32 squads and played every backfield position. After graduation Cherberg coached Cleveland High School from 1933-37 where he won the '37 State Championship. The same year he was named the Seattle Post-Intelligencer Sports Man of the Year. In 1938, he moved to his high school alma mater, Queen Anne High School, where he stayed until 1945 while winning two state titles. In 1946 he was hired at Washington as a backfield assistant under Ralph Welch. In 1948 he moved to the Huskies' freshman head coach position where he lost his first game but won the next 22. In 1953 he was promoted to head coach where he guided the Huskies to a 10-18-2 mark spanning three seasons. Cherberg then ran for Washington's Lieutenant Governor in 1957 and won, the first of eight consecutive victories. Cherberg served as Lt. Governor for 32 years which spanned five governors. He retired in January 1989. He died on April 8, 1992 at the age of 80. He was inducted into the Husky Hall of Fame in 1981.

Darrell Royal, 1956

Before attending college, Royal enlisted in the Air Force after graduating from high school in 1943. In the Air Force, he attained the rank of staff sergeant. Royal graduated from Oklahoma in 1950 where he lettered on four conference championship squads from 1946-49. Royal was an all-conference quarterback in 1949 when the Sooners finished 11-0. After graduation, Royal served one-year stints as an assistant at North Carolina State, Tulsa, and Mississippi State. In 1953 Royal moved to the Canadian pro league as head coach at Edmonton where he went 16-5 and won the Western Division Championship. In 1954 he returned to Mississippi State as head coach and went 12-8 over two seasons. In his one season at Washington the Huskies went 5-5-0. Royal then decided to settle down at Texas where he was head coach from 1957-76 and compiled a 167-47-5 record that included 11 Top 10 finishes, three national championships, 11 Southwest Conference crowns and 16 bowl games. He also served as Texas Athletic Director from 1962-80. In 1980 he was named a special assistant on athletics to UT President Peter Flawn, a role he still serves in on a part-time basis today. Royal was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 1983.

Jim Owens, 1957-74

Owens served two-and-a-half years with the Naval Air Corps during World War II. Following his service, Owens enrolled at Oklahoma where he played from 1946-49. Owens was the Sooners' captain and leading receiver, earning him All-American honors on Oklahoma's 11-0 squad in 1949. After graduating in 1950, Owens played one season for the Baltimore Colts while also serving as a part-time assistant at John Hopkins University. Owens was then an assistant under Paul "Bear" Bryant at Kentucky from 1951-53 and followed Bryant to Texas A&M in 1954 and stayed until 1956. At Washington, Owens was 99-82-6 during his 18 seasons as head coach. Owens' Husky teams won three AAWU titles and went to three Rose Bowls including the Huskies' first ever Rose Bowl win in 1960, a 44-8 romp over Wisconsin. Owens split his other two trips to Pasadena when the Huskies beat Minnesota 17-7 in 1961 and lost to Illinois in 1964, 17-7. Owens retired following the 1974 campaign and resides in the Montana area. He was inducted into the Husky Hall of Fame as part of the inaugural class in 1979.

Don James, 1975-92

Don James was born December 31, 1932 in the football hotbed of Massillon, Ohio. There he played quarterback and defensive back for two state championship teams at Washington High School. He then accepted a scholarship to Miami of Florida where he set five school passing records. James was then commissioned a Second Lieutenant in the US Army where he served two years before resuming his studies at the University of Kansas and doubling as the Jayhawks' freshmen football coach. He graduated in 1957 with a master's degree in education. He moved back to Miami where he was head football coach at Southwest Miami High School for two years. He then turned to the college ranks and served as an assistant coach at Florida State (1956-65), Michigan (1966-67) and Colorado (1968-70). In 1971, James was named head coach at Kent State where he stayed four years compiling a 25-19-1 record and taking Kent State to its first-ever bowl game. Two days before Christmas in 1974, James accepted the head coaching position at Washington. In his 18 years at Washington, James compiled a 153-57-2 record making him the winningest football coach in Washington history. His 99 Pac-10 victories are the most in Pac-10 history. He took his teams to 15 bowl games (10-5) including a Pac-10 record nine straight from 1979-87. He guided the Huskies to six Rose Bowls and is one of only four coaches to win four Rose Bowl games. His 1991 team finished the season 12-0 and won Washington's first ever national championship. When James retired he had the 10th best active winning percentage, the eighth most victories among active coaches, fourth most bowl victories, fourth best bowl winning percentage and the 12th most bowl appearances. James was president of the American Football Coaches Association in 1989 and was named national college coach of the year in 1984 and 1991. James was inducted into the Husky Hall of Fame in 1993 and the College Football Hall of Fame in 1997. Don and his wife, Carol, currently reside in Bellevue.

1924 Rose Bowl Washington 14, Navy 14

January 1, 1924

Washington missed a field goal "by a scant three feet" as time expired and the Huskies settled for a 14-14 tie with the heavily favored Midshipmen of the Naval Academy in the 1924 Rose Bowl, played before 40,000 fans.

The Huskies, coached to a 10-1 record coming into the game by third-year coach Enoch Bagshaw, had to fight back twice, falling behind 7-0 early and later trailing 14-7 to the well-drilled Middies of Annapolis. The Naval Academy (5-1-1) used a sophisticated passing attack, a style not seen before on the West Coast, to confuse the Husky defense in the first half. Navy completed all 11 passes it attempted in the first half, and hit 14 in a row before the Huskies managed to stop one. Navy completed 16-of-20 for the day.

Navy opened the scoring at the start of the second period on a 20-yard pass from quarterback Ira McKee to halfback Carl Cullen. Navy dominated the first period with its unorthodox passing offense, completing six tosses, but was unable to score before time expired in the period. The Midshipmen used a short, two-handed, basketball toss for the bulk of their passing attack.

Washington answered on its next drive. Husky guard Jim Bryan trapped the Navy kick at midfield. The Huskies tried the line for no gain, and then Husky quarterback Fred Abel threw a 30-yard pass out of punt formation to Kinsley Dubois on the right wing. Left halfback George Wilson took the next play off-tackle 14 yards for the Huskies' first touchdown. The extra point by Lester Sherman made it 7-7.

After an exchange of punts, Navy completed a 45-yard pass over center to the Washington 7-yard line. Three line plunges netted no gain, but on fourth down the Middies used the basketball toss from McKee to Cullen around right end for the touchdown. The extra point made it 14-7 at the half.

The game settled into a defensive struggle in the third quarter. Washington was unable to advance the ball against Navy and the Middies marched the field but could not score, thwarted by Husky center Chalmers Walter's interception of an errant McKee pass inside the Husky 20-yard line early in the quarter. Navy also missed a field goal as time expired in the period.

Midway through the fourth period the Huskies got a break. Trapped deep in its own end, Navy mis-snapped the ball in punt formation, with the Huskies recovering the loose ball on the Navy 10-yard line.

Two line plays netted the Huskies a loss of two yards and a third-down pass attempt also failed, leaving the Dawgs with a fourth-and-12 situation. Washington lined up, then had fullback Elmer Tesreau jump up to the line, and the end dropped back, leaving the left guard Jimmy Bryan eligible to catch a pass. Bryan delayed, then released and gathered in Abel's pass, stumbling across the goal line for the touchdown. The Sherman-booted extra point made it 14-14.

Washington had one last chance to win, as the Huskies drove to the 25-yard line with less than five minutes to play on a long pass from Abel to Wilson. Washington's field goal attempt by Leonard Zeil from 24 yards out had the distance but curved left. Navy took over on downs at the 20, and advanced as far as midfield when the game ended.

1926 Rose Bowl Alabama 20, Washington 19

January 1, 1926

Coach Enoch Bagshaw's Huskies, 10-0-1 entering the Rose Bowl game, built a 12-0 lead, dominating the first half, only to lose the lead and the game in 12 frantic minutes of the third quarter as Alabama, 9-0, scored 20 unanswered points. Husky All-American halfback George Wilson, named the bowl's Most Valuable Player, was out of the game with an injury during the scoring binge as 'Bama took a lead Washington could not overcome in front of 45,000 fans at the Rose Bowl.

The game is remembered as Wilson's greatest, and is one that is rated a classic in Rose Bowl history.

Damon Runyon covered the contest for the Universal Service and put it succinctly: "As George Wilson went, so went Washington. If there ever was a one-man football team, George was it. When Wilson was on the field it was a ball game."

Wilson played 38 minutes and was out with injury for 22. During the 38 he played, Washington scored three touchdowns and gained 300 yards. Alabama threatened, but failed to score. During the 22 minutes Wilson was on the sideline, Washington gained a total of 14 yards and failed to score. Alabama, under coach Wallace Wade, notched the three touchdowns and two conversions which won the game during Wilson's defensive absence.

Wilson took a lateral to the 'Bama 1-yard line in the first quarter, and provided the blocking for right halfback Harold Paton's 1-yard plunge that gave the Huskies a 6-0 lead.

In the second quarter, a 36-yard Wilson run paved the way for Washington's second touchdown, a pass from Wilson to left end John Cole. The Huskies missed both PAT kicks in the first half-something that would have its greatest impact at game's end.

Trailing by 12 points after the half, "Pooley" Hubert took it upon himself to bring Alabama back. From the Washington 42-yard line, he called his own number five consecutive times, carrying the ball a total of 58 yards for the Crimson Tide score. On its next possession, Alabama returned the kickoff to its own 21-yard line. Five line plunges carried the ball to the 39. Alabama then struck on a 61-yard bomb from Hubert to Johnny Mack Brown to give Alabama its first lead in the game, 14-12.

Alabama continued its attack after recovering a Washington fumble at midfield. Another long pass to Brown, this one from Grant Gillis for 40 yards, placed the Tide on the Washington 5-yard line. Brown carried the ball the final 5 yards for a 20-12 Crimson Tide lead.

Wilson returned to lead the frantic Husky comeback attempt in the final period. Alabama was on the Husky 15-yard line, threatening to seal its victory, but the Tide could not convert a fourth-and-one situation. Washington took over on its own 12-yard line.

Wilson gained 17 yards on first down and three plays later Paton advanced to the 'Bama 43 around left end. After a short Wilson pass for a first down, the Husky left halfback threw to quarterback George Guttormsen for a 27-yard touchdown.

The extra point by Gene Cook put Washington within one, 20-19. Washington's final threat ended with an interception at midfield just before time expired.

1937 Rose Bowl Pittsburgh 21, Washington 0

January 1, 1937

The University of Pittsburgh, 7-1-1 under coach John "Jock" Sutherland, dominated both sides of the ball, handing coach James Phelan's 7-1-1 Huskies a 21-0 defeat in front of 87,196 fans at the Rose Bowl-then the largest crowd at a Rose Bowl game. Pitt notched three touchdowns, one on a 71-yard interception return, and held the Huskies to only 153 yards of total offense while racking up 300 yards themselves.

After an exchange of punts in the first period, Pitt took over on its own 45. On second down, left halfback Marshall Goldberg took a reverse to the Husky 35 and then halfback Bob LaRue took the same play to the Washington 10. Fullback Frank Patrick scored on a 1-yard plunge three plays later for an early 7-0 Golden Panther lead.

Pitt held the Huskies to end the first quarter leading 7-0, and Washington put together one of its only sustained drives of the day to begin the second period of play, against 10 Pitt second-teamers. All-America left end Bill Daddio was the only starter playing for the Panthers at the time.

The Huskies drove as far as the Pitt 40 but the passing offense bogged down, forcing a punt on fourth-and-four. Pitt promptly drove to the Husky 35, almost strictly on blasts through the middle of the line. On first down the Panthers tried to cross up the Dawgs with a pass, but reserve halfback Frank Waskowitz intercepted the pass. On first down, Waskowitz passed to Byron Haines who carried to the Pitt 36, followed by another Waskowitz to Haines pass to the 20. The Pitt pass defense stiffened with the return of the Golden Panther starters and the Huskies ended up turning the ball over on downs after a fourth-down pass fell incomplete.

The half ended with Pittsburgh still holding a 7-0 lead.

The Huskies kicked off to open the second half, and the Panthers took over on their own 27. Washington got the break it had been looking for when Pitt fumbled on second down, with right end Frank Peters recovering for the Dawgs. The Huskies squandered the opportunity, however, as Haines threw a first-down interception.

On the ensuing drive, Pitt drove 75 yards for a touchdown. LaRue raced to the Husky 30 on a man-in-motion play through the middle of the line. From there the Panthers simply stuck it to Washington, using five plays into the center of the line, with the fullback, Patrick, plunging over from the 5 for his second touchdown.

Washington's final comeback attempt was snuffed when Daddio intercepted a left-handed lateral attempt on the Husky 35 and returned it 71 yards for the clinching touchdown. Pitt eventually ran out the clock on the Husky 4-yard line.

Pittsburgh claimed the Rose Bowl title with a display of power football. The Panthers attempted only four passes and used their speediest back, Goldberg, largely in a decoy role with Patrick and LaRue running play after play through the middle of the line.

January 1, 1938

Washington, 5-2-2 in coach James Phelan's eighth season, crushed the host University of Hawaii, rolling to a 53-0 lead before the Husky reserves allowed the Islanders two meaningless touchdowns late in the final period, in front of 13,500 spectators at the Pineapple Bowl.

Washington scored four times in the opening quarter, ignited by the open-field running of left halfback Jimmy Johnston. The Huskies' first score featured Johnston running 15 yards before lateralling to center Bud Ericksen, who carried 32 yards for a touchdown. Tackle Vic Markov kicked the extra point. After stopping Hawaii, Johnston threw a 35-yard pass to end Merle Miller for the second Husky score in as many possessions.

Minutes later, Johnston returned a Hawaii punt 70 yards to the Islander two, and Miller went through the center of the line for the third Dawg touchdown. Johnston rambled for another 30-yard gain, stopped this time on the 1-yard line. Reserve fullback Don Jones notched the score on a plunge through the line. Dick Johnson's kick gave Washington a 26-0 lead at the end of the first quarter while Hawaii had yet to manage a first down.

The second quarter saw a continuation of the Husky onslaught. Despite having pulled most of its starting players, Washington continued to man-handle the smaller Hawaiian line. Everett Austin, a Husky halfback, rambled 41 yards for a touchdown. Washington kicked off, and held the Islanders, forcing a punt. Washington halfback Joe Dubsky took the punt on the fly and returned it 39 yards before lateralling it to tackle Rich Worthington, who carried it the final 11 yards for a touchdown. Dubsky's conversion gave the Huskies a 39-0 lead which they took into the half.

The Huskies scored single touchdowns in the third and fourth quarters. In the third, Lloyd Phelps broke loose for a 53-yard touchdown run. The final Husky points were tallied by Jones on a 20-yard run in the fourth quarter.

The Islanders scored on two short plunges by fullback Vernon Akee Choy and added one Joe Kaulukukui PAT kick to avoid the shutout. For the day, Washington outgained Hawaii 370 yards to 95. The Huskies were 3-of-7 passing for 60 yards. Hawaii was 10-of-28 for 160 yards.

1944 Rose Bowl Southern California 29, Washington 0

January 1, 1944

A regular Pacific Coast Conference season was not played in 1943 because of wartime travel restrictions, so the Northern Division champion, Washington, faced the Southern Division champion, Southern California, in the Rose Bowl. The Rose Bowl winner would reign as champion of the Pacific Coast Conference.

The Trojans (7-2) ended Washington's perfect season (4-0) by upsetting the heavily favored Huskies, 29-0, with four touchdown passes to uncovered receivers in front of 68,000 at the Rose Bowl. Earlier in the season the Southern California team lost to the 4th Air Force Flyers, 35-0, while Washington defeated this same club handily, 27-7. Because of a lack of opponents during wartime, the Rose Bowl game was the first activity in two months for coach Pest Welch's Washington Huskies.

Washington controlled the first period, twice driving deep into Trojan territory, but was unable to convert the drives into points. Washington could not run against the USC line inside the 40 and was unable to mount a passing attack the entire day, completing only five tosses for 51 yards with three interceptions. The second period was similar, as the Trojans continued to attempt to run against Washington's larger defensive line with little success.

Late in the period the Trojans turned to the air, negating Washington's size advantage with quick passes to their fleet ends. USC had a fourth down on the Washington 11 with only 40 seconds remaining in the half when Trojan quarterback Jim Hardy tossed to halfback George Callahan, who made a final move at the goal line for the touchdown. Dick Jamison added the point-after kick and the Trojans had a 7-0 lead at the half.

Southern California converted on a similar play midway through the third period when Callahan pulled in another pass from Hardy this time in a crowd of Husky defenders-for a score, and with the second Jamison PAT, USC had a 14-0 lead.

Trojan left end Gordon Gray also caught two touchdown passes, one late in the third period from Hardy and the final one in the fourth quarter from left-handed quarterback Ainslie Bell. Bell had started the game but gave way to Hardy in a scheme planned to settle down Hardy, the Trojans' usual starter. USC coach Jeff Cravath felt Hardy had played better in a reserve role the year before.

Southern California added points on a blocked punt early in the fourth quarter when Husky quarterback Everett Austin, handling the punting duties, could not get a punt away out of his own end zone. The blocked punt, compliments of Trojan tackle Harry Plank, was covered by Washington fullback Wally Kramer in the end zone for the automatic safety.

Washington led in net rushing yardage, 134-117, but was dominated in passing yards 113-51. The Huskies also fumbled twice, and although they recovered both times, the drops helped stop drives. USC, which entered the game with a reputation as fumbling champions of the country (the Trojans lost 29-of-50 fumbles on the year) did not lose either of its two fumbles.

1960 Rose Bowl Washington 44, Wisconsin 8

January 1, 1960

A capacity crowd watched the underdog Washington Huskies score more Rose Bowl points than any other West Coast team in history, rolling to six touchdowns and a field goal over the slower Badgers of Wisconsin. Wisconsin, 8-1 coming into the game under fourth-year coach Milt Bruhn, was favored by 6-1/2 points over a Husky squad that featured no seniors among its starters.

Washington, coached by Jim Owens to a 9-1 record before the bowl game, gambled early and late, attempting fourth-down plays in the first as well as the fourth quarter. On the Huskies' second drive of the game, with the score still tied at zero, Washington quarterback Bob Schloredt audibled twice on fourth down, leading to halfback Don McKeta's 6-yard touchdown run. Soon after, Washington recovered the first of four Wisconsin fumbles and Husky halfback George Fleming booted a 36-yard field goal for a 10-0 lead.

Fleming provided a dramatic example of the Huskies' superior speed, returning a punt 53 yards for a touchdown and adding his own extra point for a 17-0 lead. Wisconsin put together its only scoring drive of the game on the strength of three completed passes. Tom Wiesner gained the final 4 yards to score. The Badgers converted a two-point conversion, a pass from quarterback Dale Hackbart to left end Allan Schoonover, to slice the lead to nine points, 17-8.

Washington responded quickly to quell any idea of a Badger comeback. Fleming had another long punt return, this one for 55 yards, and Schloredt followed the return with a 23-yard pass to end Lee Folkins. Folkins made an outstanding leaping snag in the end zone to extend the Dawgs' lead to 24-8.

Washington continued to keep Wisconsin off balance in the third quarter. Fullback Ray Jackson pounded away on five plays for 46 yards of the 66-yard touchdown drive. He scored on a two-yard dive.

The Huskies hammered the final nail into the Badger coffin by stopping the Big Ten representatives on four consecutive plays inside the 10-yard line. Taking over on its own 7, Washington marched 93 yards in 10 plays to score again. The drive included another Schloredt fourth-down conversion, this one from his own 16-yard line. Schloredt scored on a 3-yard keeper to up the lead to an insurmountable 38-8. Schloredt and Fleming were named Co-Most Valuable Players by the Rose Bowl committee.

The Husky reserves notched Washington's final score as backup quarterback Bob Hivner lobbed a 3-yard pass to halfback Don Millich.

1961 Rose Bowl Washington 17, Minnesota 7

January 2, 1961

Washington, 9-1 under fourth-year coach Jim Owens, entered the 1961 Rose Bowl as defending champions but decided underdogs. The Minnesota Gophers, 8-1 and coached by Murray Warmath, entered the game atop the national polls. They left with a 17-7 setback courtesy of an explosive Husky start and the determined second-half defense of Owens' players.

Washington used its superior quickness to offset Minnesota's size advantage in the early going. The Huskies scored their first points in a fourth-down-and-three situation on Minnesota's 27-yard line. Halfback George Fleming kicked a 44-yard field goal, putting Washington on the scoreboard first and Fleming into the Rose Bowl record book with the longest field goal kick in its history.

Quarterback Bob Schloredt, who missed the second half of the season with an injury, entered the game in the first quarter replacing starter Bob Hivner. Schloredt promptly fired a 12-yard pass to fullback Ray Jackson. Jackson followed the reception with a 30-yard run to the Gopher 30. Three line plunges later, the ball rested on the Gopher 18 as the first quarter ended. The Huskies were using mostly outside tosses to advance the ball, a pattern the Gophers did not adjust to defensively until the second half.

Charlie Mitchell, a Husky halfback, took a toss around the right side for another 10 yards to the Gopher 8 to open the second quarter. Schloredt advanced to the 3-yard line, losing the opportunity to score when he slipped. After an incomplete pass, Schloredt hit halfback Brent Wooten with a 3-yard toss for the first touchdown in the 47th annual Rose Bowl game. Fleming's extra point put the Dawgs up 10-0.

Still unable to move against the fast-reacting Washington line, Minnesota punted. A clipping penalty on the return left the Huskies on their own 13, and they lost six yards on their first play. Schloredt punted from the 7-yard line to the Husky 47. Minnesota took over with its first good scoring chance but the Gophers could not convert. The Gophers drove to the 32 and then turned the ball over on downs.

Washington quickly marched down the field. Jackson carried for 10 yards and then Fleming took a pitch to the 48. Faced with a second-and-two, Schloredt called his own number on the quarterback sneak. Minnesota was expecting an outside play. Schloredt slid through the middle, broke loose to the right, picked up an important block from end Folkins, and didn't get caught until he was dragged down on the 18, a 31-yard gain. Jackson gained 3 up the middle, then Schloredt rolled out and carried the ball to the 7-yard line. Jackson carried it to the 1-foot line and Schloredt scored the touchdown on a sneak. With Fleming's PAT, Washington had 17 points—all that the Huskies would score—and a 17-0 lead at the half.

Minnesota scored its only points of the game in the third quarter, taking advantage of one of Washington's three fumbles to set to work on the Husky 32. The Gophers drove 32 yards, scoring on an 18-yard option play. Right halfback Bill Munsey took the pitch from Gopher quarterback Sandy Stephens, scoring on his third carry of the day. James Rogers added the PAT. Schloredt was named Most Valuable Player, the second time in as many years he was accorded the honor.

1964 Rose Bowl Illinois 17, Washington 7

January 1, 1964

The Huskies entered their third Rose Bowl in five years in a familiar position—as an underdog. Coach Pete Elliott's Illinois team had a 7-1-1 regular-season record and was ranked third in the country, while the Huskies had overcome an 0-3 start to finish the year 6-4 under seven-year head coach Jim Owens, with only a loss to UCLA in Los Angeles blemishing their seven-game run to the roses.

Washington featured a hard-driving ground game anchored by quarterback Bill Douglas, fullback Junior Coffey, and future pro halfbacks Ron Medved and Dave Kopay. The defense earned its reputation as a hard-hitting group which was almost impossible to run against, anchored by a future Husky assistant coach, end Jim Lambright. The Illini featured perhaps the most famous alumnus of the 1964 Rose Bowl, linebacker Dick Butkus.

The Huskies started play as though they were anything but underdogs. Steve Bramwell, now the Husky team doctor, took the opening kickoff out to Washington's 22-yard line. Kopay took the first play around right end for nine yards and the Huskies were off and running.

The opening drive marched down field, slowed only by three penalties (two offsides and a backfield-in-motion call). On a first-and-10 play from the Illinois 26, quarterback Bill Douglas used a quarterback keeper through the middle of the line for a gain of 12. It proved to be a costly first down. Douglas was injured on the play and left the field on a stretcher, out for the day.

Backup quarterback Bill Siler entered the game and completed the first pass he attempted, but left end Al Libke fumbled on the Illini 6-yard line.

After an exchange of punts to open the second quarter, Illinois fumbled on its own 27-yard line on a first-down play. Washington took over and quickly scored. Siler carried for three yards on first down, and on second down he threw 18 yards to right end Joe Mancuso, who was downed on the 6. Washington scored on an option play, with Siler pitching to right halfback Kopay for the 6-yard touchdown. Medved added the PAT kick.

Washington kicked off and Illinois drove down the field, keeping the ball for almost eight minutes. Faced with a fourth-and-four on the Washington eight, Illini quarterback Fred Custardo dropped back to pass and was sacked for a 4-yard loss by Mancuso. Washington took over on its own 12, but Siler fumbled on second down with center Bruce Capel recovering for Illinois on the 15, allowing UI's Jim Plankenhorn to kick a 32-yard field goal as time expired in the first half.

Illinois converted another Washington turnover into points early in the second half. Siler was intercepted at midfield. The ball was returned to the Washington 32 where Illinois started its second scoring drive. The Illini scored in six plays for a 10-7 lead, helped by a Washington piling-on penalty.

Washington had a chance to go ahead at the end of the third quarter, but on a third-and-seven, Siler's pass was picked off on the Illinois 4-yard line. Illinois responded with the only full drive of the day, moving from the Husky 15-yard line, 85 yards for the touchdown. Almost as important as the points was the fact that Illinois ate up eight minutes of the final quarter on the drive.

1978 Rose Bowl Washington 27, Michigan 20

January 2, 1978

Washington, 9-2 in the regular season after two forfeit wins were awarded by the NCAA, capped its 1977 Cinderella season in the 64th annual Rose Bowl with a thrilling 27-20 upset victory over heavily favored Michigan before 105,312 fans. Don James directed his team from a 1-3 early-season record to a 7-4 mark, winning seven of its last eight games en route to Washington's first bowl victory in 17 years.

The Huskies were led from the outset by Pac-8 Co-Player of the Year and eventual Rose Bowl MVP, quarterback Warren Moon. On Washington's first possession, Moon led the Huskies 49 yards in 10 plays and scored the touchdown himself on a 2-yard jaunt to open the scoring, 7-0.

James' squad parlayed a 62-yard Moon to Spider Gaines pass into a 30-yard field goal to extend the lead to 10-0 early in the second quarter. Washington came right back on its next possession to finish the first-half scoring with a 60-yard drive and another Moon touchdown run—this time from 1-yard out.

Washington outgained the Wolverines by a wide margin of 246 total yards to 111 as the first-half gun went off. The Huskies conveyed thoughts of a rout when Moon threw a 28-yard touchdown strike early in the third quarter to his favorite target, Gaines. The 24-0 bulge seemed insurmountable with just 5:21 remaining in the third quarter.

That lead was short-lived, however, as the Wolverines struck back in just two plays. Left-handed Michigan quarterback Rick Leach gunned a 76-yard bomb to Curt Stephenson to put the Wolverines on the board, just 50 seconds after Washington constructed its largest lead.

Washington lit up the scoreboard for the final time when Steve Robbins hit a 28-yard three-pointer. The field goal widened the Pac-8 champions' lead to 27-7 with just 0:50 remaining in the third period.

Michigan wasn't about to be embarrassed as the Wolverines marched 78 yards on 11 plays to open the fourth quarter, culminating the drive with a 2-yard Russell Davis dive for six points. Gregg Willner added the PAT and Michigan was back in business, closing the gap to 27-14. As Washington's game turned conservative, Michigan again scored on a Leach pass to Stanley Edwards. However, the momentum swung back Washington's way on the next play as Willner missed the conversion on a bad snap and the Washington lead remained seven points at 27-20.

The game turned into a defensive battle in the final minutes as Washington intercepted two Leach passes, including a Michael Jackson pickoff at Washington's own 3-yard line with just over a minute remaining. Cornerback Nesby Glasgow ended the Pasadena Classic with another interception as time ran out on Michigan.

1979 Sun Bowl Washington 14, Texas 7

December 22, 1979

Sixth-ranked Texas and 13th-ranked Washington, 9-2 going into the bowl, squared off in the 45th annual Sun Bowl with the Longhorns tabbed as seven-point favorites, but the Huskies picked up their second bowl victory in three years thanks to an opportunistic offense and a hard-hitting defense that continually made the big play.

The turning point of the game may have come as early as the first quarter when Texas drove the length of the field on its first possession to set up a first-and-goal at the Husky 9. Three running plays made it fourth-and-goal at the 1-yard line, and then Texas quarterback Donnie Little ran an option right only to have Husky strong safety Greg Grimes drop him for a 1-yard loss.

The Husky defense made another big play eight downs later when Jim Pence forced a Texas fumble and Stafford Mays recovered on the Longhorn 42. Moments later, on third-and-11 from the Texas 18, Tom Flick found Paul Skansi in the right corner of the end zone for a 7-0 lead.

Washington was back in business two plays later when Mark Lee disrupted an option pitch and Grimes recovered the loose ball on the Texas 23. Husky freshman tailback Willis Ray Mackey, making a homecoming to the state where he played his prep football, carried four times and got the game-winner with a 4-yard slash up the middle.

Texas, too, capitalized on a big defensive play to score its only points. Flick was hit while trying to pass and the Longhorns recovered on the Husky 44. Eleven plays later, Little found running back Brad Beck in the end zone for the score.

The second half was a bitter defensive struggle and the game finally came down to Texas' final possession at the Husky 44 with 3:01 left. The Longhorns managed one first down to the UW 32 before feeling the fury of the Washington pass rush on four straight downs. When the final blitz was over, Texas had been shoved all the way back to its own 48 and the Huskies celebrated their Sun Bowl title.

Washington, finishing the regular season with a 9-2 record and ranked 16th nationally in both polls, met Big Ten champion Michigan, the fifth-ranked team in the country, in the Rose Bowl under circumstances reminiscent of their 1978 meeting at the same venue. The Huskies again entered the Pasadena Classic as decided underdogs, but this time could not pull off the upset. Rather than the drama of the 27-20 victory over Michigan just three years earlier, Washington suffered a disappointing 23-6 defeat despite outplaying the winners for the first half.

The Huskies came out impressive, but there was a sense that nothing would go their way. On the third play of the game, Tom Flick found Aaron Williams over the middle, but only after the ball was tipped into his hands. The play went for 52 yards, but was called back due to offensive pass interference.

On Washington's second possession, Flick marched the club 63 yards to just inside the Wolverine 1-yard line. But on fourth-and-one from point-blank range, Toussaint Tyler was stopped for no gain. Although one official prematurely signalled a touchdown, he was overruled by the linesman.

The Huskies again appeared to have scored a touchdown when center Mike Reilly snared Kyle Stevens' mid-air fumble midway through the second period, and ran it into the end zone, but the play was ruled dead.

While Washington was outplaying its rival the Huskies led in total offense 269-133-Michigan led 7-6 going into the locker room at half. The second half was a different story, i.e., all Michigan. The Huskies were held to just 10 third-quarter plays while Michigan scored 16 second-half points.

1982 Rose Bowl Washington 28, Iowa 0

January 1, 1982

Washington, 9-2 in regular-season play, entered the 1982 Rose Bowl in a familiar position-as underdogs. For the fourth time in four postseason appearances, the Huskies' bowl opponent was rated the favorite and for the third time, Don James' club ignored the odds. Washington recorded the first Rose Bowl shutout in 28 years, a 28-0 whitewash of Big Ten champion Iowa.

The two clubs battled to a scoreless tie after one quarter, although Washington did get inside the Hawkeye 30-yard line twice thanks to the Husky kicking game. First cornerback Ray Horton returned an Iowa punt 48 yards to the Iowa 29, then punter Jeff Partridge was roughed in the act to keep another drive going until it stalled at the Hawkeye 28.

Eventual Rose Bowl MVP Jacque Robinson broke the scoring ice early in the second period, bullying over from 1-yard out to cap a 65-yard drive. Robinson romped for 34 yards on seven carries during the drive. Washington upped its lead to 13-0 just 0:19 before the half when fullback Vince Coby smashed over from a yard out to climax a 60-yard march.

Iowa made its deepest penetration in the third period-to the Husky 29-but was stymied by a Ken Driscoll interception. Robinson took over again in the final stanza, gaining 66 yards on three carries, including the final 34 yards on a nifty run up the right side, to cap a 69-yard drive that put the Huskies ahead 21-0. The UW onslaught ended with quarterback Tim Cowan's 3-yard reverse with 7:13 to go.

Washington took advantage of two Iowa fumbles and picked off three Hawkeye passes to turn the tide in its favor. Robinson gained 142 net yards on just 20 carries to pace the ground game, and quarterback Steve Pelluer completed 15-of-29 passes for another 142 yards.

Inside linebackers Mark Jerue (13) and Ken Driscoll (11) led the stop troops. Driscoll and defensive backs Vince Newsome and Derek Harvey each grabbed an enemy pass.

1982 Aloha Bowl Washington 21, Maryland 20

December 25, 1982

Tim Cowan's brilliant passing performance (33-53-0-350) brought Washington back from a 20-14 deficit for a 21-20 victory over Maryland in the inaugural Aloha Bowl on Christmas Day in Honolulu. The victory enabled Washington to finish 10-2 and be ranked No. 7 in both wire service polls.

Washington went 80 yards in 12 plays after the opening kickoff and took a 7-0 lead on Cowan's 27-yard pass to Anthony Allen. Cowan accounted for 66 of those yards on six completions in seven attempts. Maryland came right back to narrow the margin to 7-6 going just 19 yards after recovering a Sterling Hinds' fumble. The conversion failed. The Huskies struck with a bang just 6:00 before halftime when Cowan hit Allen all alone on the left sideline and Allen sprinted 71 yards for the score.

Maryland came back to score after the second-half kickoff as it moved 77 yards on six plays with the score coming on a 36-yard pass from Boomer Esiason to tight end John Tice. The conversion run failed and Washington held on to a 14-12 lead. Maryland put together a time-consuming (8:46) drive that spanned the third and fourth quarters to go ahead on a short run coming on the 16th play of the drive. Esiason found Tice for the two-point conversion and the Terrapins a 20-14 lead with nearly 11 minutes left.

The Terps had a great chance to put the game away after a Husky pass on fourth down went awry and Maryland took over on the Husky 19. A Terp field goal of 32 yards didn't find the mark, however, and Washington took over at the 20 with 3:49 left. The final drive was all Cowan as the senior quarterback either ran or passed the ball on 15-of-16 plays in marching the Huskies down the field.

Twice Cowan ran for first downs on fourth-down situations and found Allen for a first down on yet another fourth-down call. With third down on the Maryland 11 with 0:12 left, Cowan looked into the left corner of the end zone and found Allen free for the tying touchdown. Nelson's extra point gave Washington the 21-20 victory. Cowan's 33 completions and 363 yards in total offense were both UW historical bests (bowl games not officially included in Husky records) and his 350-yard passing performance had been bettered only three times. Allen also had an exceptional game with eight catches for 152 yards.

1983 Aloha Bowl Penn State 13, Washington 10

December 26, 1983

Washington, 8-3 going into the postseason bowl, failed to make a 10-3 lead hold up as the Huskies gave up 10 points in the fourth quarter to lose 13-10 to Penn State in the second annual Aloha Bowl.

Penn State hit the scoreboard first when it moved 49 yards to the Husky seven on its first possession. The Huskies held PSU without a yard on three straight plays and the Nittany Lions settled for a 23-yard field goal and a 3-0 lead.

Washington took the lead early in the second quarter when the Husky defense had Penn State backed up with a fourth-and-11 on their own 19. The Lions punted to Danny Greene who took the ball on the Husky 43 and went 57 yards for a touchdown. The Huskies increased their lead to 10-3 late in the second panel when a 10-play, 65-yard drive culminated in a 39-yard Jeff Jaeger field goal.

The Lions began their comeback late in the third quarter when they took advantage of a 19-yard Husky punt to begin operations on the Husky 48. A key sack by Fred Small forced Penn State to try a field goal, which it converted from 49 yards, and the Lions cut the margin to 10-6. Penn State made another big play in the kicking game to set up its game-winning score. After pushing Washington back to its own 6-yard line with a punt of its own, Penn State forced the Huskies to punt. The Lions ran a reverse on the return to set up shop at their own 49-yard line. The Lions went 51 yards in nine plays, including two big third-down plays by quarterback Doug Strang, to score on a 2-yard run with three minutes left.

January 1, 1985

Fourth-ranked Washington, 10-1 before the bowl, staked a claim to the national championship with a 28-17 come-from-behind victory over No. 2 Oklahoma. The Huskies made their sixth straight bowl appearance a monumental one, becoming the first Pac-10 team to compete in, and win, the Orange Bowl on a record-setting day in which three Pac-10 teams captured bowl victories (UCLA, Fiesta; USC, Rose).

A Miami throng of 56,294 witnessed Husky quarterback Hugh Millen come off the bench in relief of Paul Sicuro to lead Washington to a pair of touchdowns in a 1:04 span late in the ball game to secure the win.

The Huskies jumped to a quick 7-0 advantage in the first quarter when Sicuro found Danny Greene wide open in the end zone for a 29-yard score.

Senior tailback Jacque Robinson, named the game's Most Valuable Player (the only player in history named MVP of both the Orange and Rose Bowls), produced Washington's second score. Robinson rushed six times for 26 of his game-high 135 yards (28 carries) in the drive, which culminated with his 1-yard scoring run.

The Sooners rallied in the second stanza following a Husky turnover. Oklahoma tied the contest on the final play of the half with a lightning-quick scoring strike from quarterback Danny Bradley to split end Derrick Shepard covering 61 yards.

On the next possession, Millen lobbed a critical third-and-nine completion to Green from his own 27, which covered 29 yards. Four downs later, Millen lofted a touch pass to senior split end Mark Pattison on the extreme left edge of the end zone, making the tally 21-17 in favor of the Huskies with 5:42 left.

A Joe Kelly interception led to a Rick Fenney 6-yard touchdown, sealing the win for Don James and his Huskies. The New Year's Day victory improved Washington's all-time bowl record to 8-6-1.

1985 Freedom Bowl Washington 20, Colorado 17

December 30, 1985

Sophomore quarterback Chris Chandler passed for 141 yards and ran for 72 more in leading Washington to a 20-17 victory over Colorado in the second annual Freedom Bowl in Anaheim. The win boosted Washington's overall bowl record to 9-6-1, and a 6-2 record in bowls under Don James. The Freedom Bowl was Washington's seventh straight postseason bowl appearance, and eighth in nine years.

The Huskies, 6-5 heading into the game, jumped off to a 3-0 lead late in the first quarter when placekicker Jeff Jaeger capped a 57-yard drive with a 30-yard field goal. Vince Weathersby had runs of 10 and 18 yards in the drive, and also took a shovel pass from Chandler for 17 more. Chandler ran 22 yards on an option play to get the ball in scoring territory.

Colorado used a 28-yard punt return midway through the second quarter to set up its first score. It took the Buffs nine plays to travel 26 yards. Anthony Weatherspoon got the touchdown on a 1-yard blast and Colorado took a 7-3 lead. Washington came back to move 80 yards and regain the lead. Chandler passed for 50 of the 80 yards and David Toy finally got the score on a 3-yard run with only 0:30 left before intermission. Jaeger's PAT made it 10-7 Huskies.

A Colorado field goal early in the third quarter tied the game at 10-10, but again Washington responded to regain the lead. A 36-yard kickoff return by David Trimble gave the Huskies excellent field position on their own 47. Chandler's 15-yard option keeper followed by a 14-yard pitch to Rod Jones were key plays in the drive. Weathersby got 12 yards on a draw play to the Colorado 5, and then Tony Covington ran twice and got the score on a 1-yard dive. Washington led 17-10.

Washington increased its lead to 20-10 on its next possession as the Huskies moved 67 yards on 11 plays. Chandler passes to Lonzell Hill, Covington and Toy accounted for 36 yards and Chandler added 19 more on another option run. With fourth-and-one at the Colorado 1-yard line, Washington opted for a sure three points on Jaeger's second field goal.

Colorado made things interesting midway through the fourth quarter when holder Barry Helton passed 31 yards to Jon Embree for a touchdown on a fake field goal as the Buffs cut Washington's lead to 20-17. Colorado got the ball right back and marched to the Husky 7 but Joe Kelly forced a fumble and David Rill recovered to preserve the win.

1986 Sun Bowl Alabama 28, Washington 6

December 25, 1986

A close game at the intermission (7-6) turned into a nightmare for the Huskies, 8-2-1 entering the bowl, in the second half as the Alabama Crimson Tide rolled up 21 unanswered points to record a 28-6 victory over Washington in the 53rd John Hancock Sun Bowl in El Paso, Texas.

Alabama got on the board first when sophomore running back Bobby Humphrey broke loose on a sweep to the right side of the line and scampered 64 yards for a touchdown with 14:10 remaining in the second quarter.

Washington got to within one point with a pair of Jeff Jaeger field goals. That would be the closest the Huskies would get the rest of the day. It was also the lowest post season scoring output for the UW since the 1981 Rose Bowl (a 23-6 loss to Michigan).

'Bama quarterback Mike Shula got the Tide's air game into gear with a pair of touchdown passes, 32 yards to Al Richardson and 18 yards to Humphrey. On the day, Shula was 15-of-26 for 176 yards and no interceptions. The talented Humphrey rambled for 159 yards on 28 carries (5.7 yards per carry).

The potent Husky attack was limited to just 102 yards rushing while quarterback Chris Chandler exploited the Alabama secondary for 199 yards on 20-of-43 pass attempts. One of the big reasons the Husky backfield saw Crimson all day was due to the presence of All-America linebacker Cornelius Bennett, voted the game's Most Valuable Player, who led Alabama with 11 tackles and harassed Chandler the entire day.

Washington's two-game bowl win streak was ended. However, the Huskies did tie USC's Pac-10 mark for consecutive bowl appearances (eight). The Huskies ended the season ranked 17th by the UPI, 18th by AP and 19th by USA Today/CCN.

1987 Independence Bowl Washington 24, Tulane 12

December 19, 1987

Washington extended its post season record under head coach Don James to 7-3 with its 24-12 victory over Tulane in the Independence Bowl, played before 41,683 fans in Shreveport's Independence Stadium. It was Washington's third win in its last four bowl appearances.

Taking a 6-4-1 record into the game, the Husky defense kept the Tulane Green Wave from scoring a touchdown while Washington quarterback Chris Chandler was named the Independence Bowl's Offensive Player of the Game, passing for 234 yards and two touchdowns.

Led by 12 tackles from linebacker David Rill, the Washington defense held college football's 11th-best scoring team 20 points below its season average. Green Wave quarterback Terrence Jones completed 17-of-40 passes for 248 yards, and was intercepted once and sacked three times.

Rover Darryl Hall picked off an errant Jones pass on the Wave's first series to set up Washington's first touchdown -- a 3-yard run by tailback Tony Covington culminating a 61-yard, 10-play drive completed with 7:43 to play in the first period.

Tulane scored 10 second-quarter points on a 44-yard punt return by Mitchell Price and a 21-yard field goal by placekicker Todd Wiggins. The Green Wave's only other points came on a safety with seven seconds left in the game.

Washington did its share of second-quarter scoring, adding 14 points to its 7-0 first-quarter lead. Both of Chandler's second-quarter touchdowns were 5-yard pass completions, with the first going to tight end Bill Ames and the second to split end Darryl Franklin, sandwiching Wiggins' field goal. Washington placekicker Brandy Brownlee was responsible for the three point-after successes, but missed the one field goal he attempted from the 40-yard line early in the third quarter.

1989 Freedom Bowl Washington 34, Florida 7

December 30, 1989

The Huskies claimed their fourth win in their last five bowl appearances with a dominating 34-7 shellacking of the University of Florida Gators in front of 33,858 fans in Anaheim. The victory improved coach Don James' bowl record at Washington to 8-3.

Washington, 7-4 coming into the bowl, finished the 1989 season by winning six of its final seven games, including the Freedom Bowl.

Quarterback Cary Conklin, voted the game's Most Valuable Player, capped his record-setting Husky career in fine style, completing 21-of-39 passes for 217 yards. The Huskies' defense held Florida All-American running back Emmitt Smith to just 17 yards, negating any chance of a Florida victory. Husky running back Greg Lewis gained 97 yards on 27 carries.

Washington returned the opening kickoff 31 yards to the 36-yard line and had 15 more tacked on by a Florida clipping penalty, allowing the Dawgs to start their initial drive from the Gator 49. Conklin hit split end Mario Bailey with a 21-yard touchdown pass and, following John McCallum's PAT, the Huskies had an immediate 7-0 lead.

Florida answered quickly, as quarterback Donald Douglas went around left end for a 67-yard touchdown on Florida's second offensive play of the game. From then on it was all Washington. Florida gained just 16 more yards on the ground the remainder of the day, finishing with a total of 83.

Washington scored on its next three offensive possessions and added a blocked punt for a touchdown to take a 27-7 lead into the intermission.

McCallum started the scoring explosion when he kicked a 21-yard field goal for a 10-7 lead. The defense stopped Florida, and Washington drove for another score, with Conklin passing 10 yards to Andre Riley for the touchdown.

Channing Wyles punted to the Gator 1-yard line to set up the next Husky score. Florida ran Smith into the line twice for a gain of 1, and then threw an incomplete pass. Faced with a fourth-and-nine on their own 2, the Gators' Hank Rone attempted a punt. Chico Fraley stormed into block the kick and Jaime Fields recovered it in the end zone for the score. McCallum's extra point made it 24-7 and forced Florida away from its running game for good.

McCallum kicked one more field goal with just 18 seconds left in the half to bring Washington's point total to 27. For the half, Washington notched 18 first downs to only three for Florida, and controlled the ball for almost 24 minutes (23:47).

January 1, 1991

Husky sophomore Mark Brunell passed for a pair of touchdowns and ran for two more to lead Pac-10 Champion Washington to a convincing 46-34 win over Iowa. Washington and Iowa combined for 80 points, making the 77th Rose Bowl the highest scoring in history. The opportunistic Huskies built a 33-7 halftime lead, with two first-half touchdowns coming courtesy of the UW defense.

The Pasadena victory left Washington 10-2 for the season, while Iowa dropped to 8-4. The game marked Washington's 12th bowl appearance in the 16-year coaching reign of Don James, who improved his bowl record to 9-3, including 3-1 in the Rose Bowl.

Left-handed Brunell's running and passing skills earned him Rose Bowl MVP honors as he completed 14 of 22 passes for 163 yards. Washington faithful also rejoiced in the return of senior All-America running back Greg Lewis, who spent the month prior to the Rose Bowl rehabilitating an injured knee. Lewis hadn't lost a step, however, as he rushed for a game-high 128 yards on 19 carries.

Washington's defense, ranked first in the nation in stopping the run, allowed Iowa just 139 net yards on the ground, recorded five sacks and forced five turnovers (four interceptions) in the game. Iowa also became the sixth team in 1990-91 to surrender more than 40 points to the high-scoring Huskies. The strong tradition of Don James' special teams surfaced early in this game when red-shirt freshman Andy Mason blocked an Iowa punt that was scooped up by junior cornerback Dana Hall, who sprinted for a touchdown. With less than five minutes elapsed, Washington led 10-0. After Iowa closed to 10-7 with 12:39 left in the half, Washington erupted for 23 consecutive points.

A 38-yard Travis Hanson field goal, and a 37-yard interception return by senior cornerback Charles Mincy gave Washington momentum. Two touchdowns generated by Brunell, on a 5-yard run and a 22-yard pass to Mario Bailey, gave the Huskies their nearly insurmountable 33-7 lead at intermission.

Iowa threw a scare into the Huskies as Hawkeye quarterback Matt Rodgers rallied his team for 27 second-half points. Iowa fullback Nick Bell's 20-yard touchdown run with 5:07 to play pulled the Hawkeyes within 13 at 39-26. But Brunell put out the fire on the next possession with a 31-yard scoring completion to Bailey. A late Iowa score made the score 46-34 as Washington held on to claim the Pac-10's second consecutive Rose Bowl win and eighth in the past 10 years.

January 1, 1992

The Huskies' dominating defense overwhelmed Michigan's high-powered attack and Heisman Trophy winner Desmond Howard while Washington quarterback Billy Joe Hobert sparked the UW offense by scoring on a two-yard run for the first of Washington's 34 points and throwing for two other touchdowns.

Hobert, who would share Rose Bowl Most Valuable Player honors with defensive tackle Steve Emtman, completed 18 of 34 passes for 192 yards. His touchdown passes went to freshman tight end Mark Bruener in the third quarter to give Washington a 14-point cushion, 21-7, and to senior tight end Aaron Pierce in the fourth quarter for a 27-7 Husky advantage. The five-yard completion from Hobert to Bruener was the freshman's first career touchdown.

The win in Pasadena catapulted Washington to its first-ever collegiate football National Championship, as the USA Today/CNN coaches poll awarded its No. 1 ranking to the Huskies. Miami was ranked No. 1 in the Associated Press poll following the Hurricanes' 22-0 shutout of Nebraska in the Orange Bowl, so the two 12-0 teams shared the national title.

The game marked Washington's 13th bowl appearance in the 17-year coaching reign of Don James, who improved his record in bowl games to 10-3, including 4-1 in the Rose Bowl. The 12-0 record was the Huskies' first perfect season since 1915 when Gil Dobie led the UW to a 7-0 mark.

Backup quarterback Mark Brunell, who was the 1991 Rose Bowl MVP, came off the bench and completed seven of eight passes for 89 yards and a touchdown. His 38-yard scoring pass went to senior Mario Bailey.

Husky placekicker Travis Hanson scored two second-quarter field goals, from 23 and 24 yards, providing Washington a 13-7 lead at the half.

Emtman, who would be the No. 1 player drafted by the National Football League following his junior season, joined with his defensive companions to fluster the Wolverines' offensive efforts at every turn. The Huskies had six sacks on the Michigan quarterbacks. Linebacker Donald Jones flashed around the outside for three sacks and defensive end Andy Mason secured two of his six tackles in the Wolverine backfield. In fact, Wolverine starting quarterback Elvis Grbac finished the game with six carries for minus-42 yards. Cornerbacks Dana Hall and Walter Bailey held Howard to one catch, a 35-yard grab in Michigan's first possession of the second quarter.

1993 Rose Bowl Michigan 38, Washington 31

January 1, 1993

Attendance: 94,236

The ninth-ranked Huskies attempted to make history by winning their third straight Rose Bowl, but instead suffered a 38-31 defeat at the hands of seventh-ranked Michigan.

Washington led 24-21 at halftime but could not control Michigan tailback Tyrone Wheatley, who ran for 235 yards on just 15 carries, including touchdown runs of 88, 56 and 24 yards.

Michigan grabbed an early 3-0 lead on its first drive with a 41-yard Peter Elezovic field goal. Washington answered with a one-yard touchdown run by Darius Turner, capping a nine-play, 80-yard drive to go ahead 7-3. The key play of the drive was a 35-yard pass from senior quarterback Mark Brunell to tight end Mark Bruener across the middle, setting the Huskies up at the Michigan one-yard line.

The see-saw first half continued with Michigan taking a 17-7 lead before the Huskies pulled to within three on a 64-yard touchdown pass from Brunell to freshman Jason Shelley. Shelley, who would finish the game with three receptions for 100 yards, made the over-the-shoulder grab at the Michigan three-yard line and just cleared the plane of the goal line before having the ball knocked loose on a hit by Corwin Brown. Brunell's hot passing continued on Washington's next possession when he again connected with Bruener, this time in the corner of the end zone to put the Huskies ahead 21-17 at halftime.

Wheatley broke free again on the first play of the second half, bursting through the middle of the Husky line and racing 88 yards for a touchdown, putting the Wolverines back on top 24-21.

Husky sophomore Napoleon Kaufman, who was held to 39 yards rushing on 20 carries, gave the Huskies a boost on special teams when he answered the Wheatley touchdown run by returning the ensuing kickoff 47 yards to the Michigan 46-yard line. Fittingly he would cap the drive seven plays later with a dive over the top for a touchdown and a 28-24 lead.

Washington added to the lead on its next possession when Travis Hanson converted a 44-yard field goal for a 31-24 Husky lead. With the field goal, Hanson extended his career Rose Bowl record to five.

Despite the high-scoring offense, the Husky defense could not contain the Wolverine's rushing attack and surrendered the lead once again. Two possessions later Michigan took advantage of a Kaufman fumble at the Washington 24-yard line as Wheatley scored on the first play, tying the game at 31.

Michigan then scored the only points of the fourth quarter when Wolverine quarterback Elvis Grbac threw 15 yards to tight end Tony McGee for the eventual game-winning touchdown with 5:29 remaining.

Washington had two more possessions and drove as far as the Michigan 26-yard line but failed to convert and turned the ball over on downs each time.

The loss spoiled what was perhaps Brunell's finest performance in a Husky uniform. The senior quarterback completed 18-of-30 passes for 308 yards and two touchdowns.

1995 Sun Bowl Iowa 38, Washington 18

December 29, 1995

Attendance: 49,116

The 20th-ranked Huskies return to postseason was spoiled by the Iowa Hawkeyes as they rolled up 21 unanswered first half points to put away Washington early. The Hawkeyes 421 yards of total offense, and ability to manufacture points, proved to be too much for the Huskies to handle.

The first of many Husky miscues came quickly. After stopping Iowa's offense on three straight plays, Washington fumbled the ball back on the punt return and the Hawkeyes took over on their own 42-yard line. Iowa running back Sedrick Shaw ran 58 yards for a touchdown on the drive's first play. Shaw would go on to finish the day 135 rushing yards, just a fraction of the 286 that the Hawkeyes would amass throughout the game.

It did not get any better for Washington as flanker Fred Coleman fumbled the ball back to Iowa after taking a Damon Huard pass 19 yards into Hawkeye territory on the Huskies second possession. Hawkeye kicker Brion Hurley hit a 49-yard field goal into the wind to build Iowa's lead to 10-0. It was the first of three 45-yard plus field goals for Hurley in the game.

Trailing 10-0 at the end of the first quarter, Washington failed to generate any offense when Ernie Conwell snapped the ball over punter Geoff Prince's head and out of the end zone for a safety to give Iowa a 12-0 advantage. The Hawkeyes converted two field goals in the second quarter to built their lead.

The Hawkeyes picked up in the third quarter right where they left off, holding the Huskies and getting into position for another field goal. A 50-yard effort by Hurley, gave him a Sun Bowl record and the Hawkeyes a commanding 24-0 lead early in the third quarter.

Washington finally pulled things together in the third when back-up quarterback Shane Fortney led the Huskies down the field and Jerome Pathon out leaped two defenders to get the Pac-10 co-champions on the board.

Iowa tailback Tavian Banks picked up 74 yards of his 128-yard in one carry to set up fullback Michael Burger's eight-yard TD run. The Hawkeyes finished up their scoring with another Burger touchdown run to make it 38-6.

In his final game as a Husky, all-time leading passer Damon Huard led the Huskies down the field with completions to Pathon, Leon Neal, and finally Fred Coleman for a touchdown.

A pair of Husky seniors made the most of the last possession in their collegiate careers. With just minutes left, Huard found tight end Ernie Conwell for a 20-yard touchdown to make the final score 38-18.

After sitting out most of the season because of an injured toe, Neal's final appearance before being drafted by the Buffalo Bills included 65 yards rushing and another 45 yards on the receiving end. The Washington defense was led by the 14 tackles of inside linebacker Ink Aleaga. The Huskies played the game without All-American free safety Lawyer Milloy, who broke a bone in his foot in the regular-season finale against Washington State. Starting defensive tackle David Richie also missed the game after suffering a neck injury in the Apple Cup.

1996 Holiday Bowl Colorado 33, Washington 21

December 30, 1996

Attendance: 54,749

In a Holiday Bowl packed with big plays, the 13th-ranked Huskies came up on the short end against a highly-talented Colorado squad by a 33-21 margin. The loss also ended Washington's six-game winning streak.

It was business as usual for the Huskies and standout tailback Corey Dillon in the first quarter. Dillon carried the ball six times in Washington's first possession, scoring from two yards out to give the Huskies a 7-0 lead. Washington kept control, making it 14-0 when Dillon capped a 63-yard drive with a 12-yard touchdown run in a drive that was sparked by 23-yard pass from Brock Huard to Jerome Pathon.

Colorado answered with the first of its many big plays when quarterback Koy Detmer found Rae Carruth behind the Washington secondary on the left sideline for a 76-yard touchdown.

Early in Washington's next possession the Buffaloes tied the game after a Huard pass was batted into the air and then intercepted by defensive end Nick Ziegler who returned it 31 yards for a touchdown.

The tie would not last long as Pathon took the ensuing kickoff from the 14 and did not stop until he found the endzone. The 86-yard runback was the first kickoff return for a score by a Husky since 1979 and the first in Holiday Bowl history.

Colorado again used the big play to get back in the endzone. Completions of 22 and 39 yards set up a seven-yard scoring pass from Detmer to Darrin Chiaverini to tie the game at 21.

With just under six minutes to go in the first half, Colorado took the ball at its own 18 and drove into Husky territory where kicker Jeremy Alrich gave the Buffaloes the lead for good by drilling a 42-yard field goal.

The second half became a defensive struggle. Colorado added a 36-yard field goal in the third quarter and a four-yard touchdown pass in the fourth quarter, Detmer's third TD pass of the game. Detmer, the game's MVP was 25 for 45 with 371 yards and no interceptions.

Washington was held scoreless in the second half gaining only 129 yards in the second half.

Dillon rushed for 140 yards and two touchdowns in his final appearance as a Husky. His 30 rushing attempts proved to be a Husky bowl game record. Huard, despite the interception, was impressive in his first bowl appearance. He passed for 203 yards by completing 21 of 37 attempts. Pathon finished the game with 96 receiving yards.

Senior John Fiala led Washington defensively with nine tackles as the Huskies held the Buffaloes running game to only 48 yards.

The Rose Bowl

At the end of the 1901 season, Michigan was prevailed upon to play Stanford in an "East-West" game at Pasadena's Tournament Park. The contest took place on January 1, 1902, with Michigan winning by a score of 49-0. Following this, the game was discontinued until the first day of 1916 when Washington State defeated Brown University, 14-0.

The contest continued to be known as the "East-West" game until the 1923 game was played at the newly-constructed Rose Bowl. The University of Southern California defeated Penn State in that game, 14-3.

The original Tournament Park (in 1902) held about 10,000 fans, although only 8,500 attended the Stanford-Michigan contest. Prior to the 1917 game, the seating capacity was increased to 30,000.

The new Rose Bowl originally was a horse-shoe affair running north and south with the opening at the south end. It seated 56,000. The capacity was then progressively increased in 1929 to 66,000; in 1932 to 83,677; and in 1938 to 90,000. Another increase in capacity took place during the year 1949, with the funds being raised by public subscription. The 1950 Rose Bowl game set a record of 100,983 fans.

The present Rose Bowl was actually dedicated on October 28, 1922, with a football game between the University of California and the University of Southern California before a crowd of 35,000. California won the game, 12-0.

Prior to 1935 the Western team in the game was invited by the Tournament of Roses Association.

The Tournament also selected the Eastern team until 1923. From 1923 through 1946 the Western team selected its Eastern opponent. From 1946 until 1959 the old Pacific Coast Conference and the Big Ten selected representatives.

Under a new agreement, starting with the 1960 game, the Pacific-10 selected a representative from among its conference members. The conference also selected its opponent for the 1961 and 1962 games. Following 1962 a new contract was signed with the Big Ten for it to provide the Pac-10's opponent.

The Pacific-10 leads the Big Ten 26-25 since the series began in 1947. The Pac-10 has won 16 of the last 24 and 21 of the last 28 meetings.

Rose Bowl Selection Formula

The Pacific-10 Rose Bowl representative shall be that member's team with the best record in the loss and tie columns (a tie being counted as one-half loss) in all conference games. If, however, the lowest loss-tie totals of two or more members are identical, determination of the Rose Bowl representative shall be as follows:

A. Two-Team Tie — If the tied teams played one another, the winner of their game shall be the representative. If they tied or did not play one another if either team is ranked first or second in the nation in the Associated Press, the USA Today/CNN American Football Coaches Association, or the UPI/Football Foundation Poll (must be first or second in two of the three polls) which immediately follow the final regular-season game played by the Conference's member, then it shall be the Rose Bowl representative. If they tied or did not play and are not so ranked the following formula shall be used:

1. Count 4 points for a conference win.
2. Count 3 points for a non-conference win against a Division IA team.
3. Count 2 points for a non-conference win against a non-Division IA team.
4. Count 2 points for a conference tie.
5. Count 1-1/2 points for a non-conference tie against a Division IA team.
6. Count 1 point for a non-conference tie against a non-Division IA team.

The team with highest point total for all games shall be the Rose Bowl representative.

If a tie remains, the last team appearing in the Rose Bowl shall be eliminated. If neither team has appeared in the Rose Bowl, the determination shall be made by vote of the conference's Men's Administration Committee.

B. Multiple Ties — When three or more teams are tied in the loss-tie column in conference play, if one team has defeated all the others, it shall be the Rose Bowl representative. If that is not the case, and one of the teams is ranked first or second in the nation in the Associated Press, the USA Today/CNN American Football Coaches Association, or the UPI/Football Foundation Poll (must be first or second in two of the three polls) which immediately follow the final regular-season game played by the Conference's member, then it shall be the Rose Bowl representative. If that is not the case, a team defeated by all other tied teams shall be eliminated. If one team has not defeated the others, the point formula above shall be computed. Only the top two teams on the point system shall thereafter be considered. If a tie for the second position occurs upon application of the point formula, the second team shall be the winner of the game between the tied teams, or, if the teams did not play each other or played a tie game, the team which has not played in the Rose Bowl for the longest period of time shall be the second team.

If the remaining two teams played one another, the winner shall be the representative. If they tied or did not play one another, the team with the highest point total for all games shall be the Rose Bowl representative as in paragraph "A" above. If a tie remains, the team most recently appearing in the Rose Bowl shall be eliminated. If neither team has appeared in the Rose Bowl, determination shall be made by a vote of the conference's Men's Administration Committee.

C. Ineligible teams — Teams ineligible to participate in the Rose Bowl shall not be included in the tie-breaking formula.

D. Games in Hawaii and Alaska — Games in Hawaii or Alaska shall not be included in the point system if they are "12th games" permitted under NCAA legislation.

E. Kickoff Classic — Participation in the Kickoff Classic shall not be counted in the point system.

Washington's First-Team All-Americans

Jason Chorak, 1996

The Sporting News, Football News

Jason Chorak, a defensive end with Croatian heritage, had one of the most stellar defensive seasons in Husky history. He was named the Pac-10 Conference's most defensive player of the year after recording a team record and conference leading 14.5 sacks and a team record 22 tackles for loss. A third-team selection to the Associated Press All-American squad, Chorak returns for his senior season needing 12 sacks to equal Donald Jones (30.5) for top honors as career sacks leader and 8.5 tackles for loss to tie Ron Holmes (48) for the top spot on the Husky list. Chorak is a pre-season Playboy All-American and will be a candidate for the Lombardi Award and Outland Trophy.

Washington Awards

Guy Flaherty Award

The Guy Flaherty medal is awarded annually to the player voted "most inspirational" by his teammates, and is considered the top award given to a football player.

The medal was first awarded in 1908 to Guy Flaherty, whose sacrifices as a performer inspired the trophy. The senior class established the award with the help of former Dean of Faculty, Herbert Condon, to use up the $25 remaining in the class treasury. Flaherty was the unanimous choice of the squad and the Flaherty Medal was born.

Flaherty began his football career at Washington and played every minute of every game during the 1906 and 1907 seasons. A severe case of boils on his arm prevented him from playing in all but the first and last game of the 1908 season. But even while too handicapped to play football, Flaherty turned out every day with the squad, and actually performed manager and assistant manager duties while unable to play.

His willing service to Washington football was recognized by every member of the squad, thus the medal is named in his honor. The Flaherty Award is generally regarded as the first inspirational award offered in the country in intercollegiate athletics.

Annually voted the most scenic football structure in the nation, Husky Stadium has proven to be a monstrous opponent for visitors hoping to pin a loss on Washington's gridiron heroes.

Nestled high above Union Bay in Lake Washington, Husky Stadium has several characteristics that make it unique among stadia.

- A seating capacity of 72,500 allows Husky Stadium to rank as the nation's 15th largest on-campus facility. It is the largest stadium, college or professional, in the Pacific Northwest.

- With nearly 70 percent of the seats located between the endzones, Husky Stadium can be one of the loudest stadiums in the nation. During the 1992 Nebraska contest — the first night game in Husky Stadium history — ESPN sideline crews measured the crowd noise at 130 decibels.

- Tailgating takes on a whole new meaning at Husky Stadium. Boat moorings are available for fans to travel to Washington games via the water. Members of the Husky crew team shuttle fans back-and-forth between their vessels and the docks adjoining the stadium grounds.

- The north upper deck offers sweeping views of Mt. Rainier, the Olympic Mountain Range and downtown Seattle.

- Washington has won 39 of its last 44 games (one tie) in Husky Stadium, including a school record 17-straight home victories. The Huskies have won 70 percent of their home games in the stadium, posting an overall record of 304-126-21. Against the Pac-10, the Huskies have recorded an even more impressive 82-26-2 (.755) record at Husky Stadium.

Built in 1920 at a cost of $600,000, the stadium's initial capacity was listed at 30,000. The stadium was opened in the dedication game, November 27, 1920, when Dartmouth defeated Washington, 28-7. A student fund drive, in which students and businessmen sold plaques at $50 and $100 levels, provided the capital necessary to get the project off the ground.

Two members of the stadium committee were dispatched east to study an existing report on stadia. Their determination called for a seating capacity of 60,000 and be constructed in two units. One of the key factors in the layout of the stadium was "the establishment of the longitudinal axis." The goal was to "avoid as far as possible the glare of the sun in the stadium for the benefit of the players."

To accomplish this goal, the astronomical department figured the angle of the rays of the sun at 4 p.m., November 24, 1920. Based on those measurements, the axis of the stadium was approximately set at right angles to the rays which established the axis at 71 degrees 50 minutes west of north. The final components in figuring the stadium location were figuring the best views of the lake and mountains from the interior and working with the existing confines of the land.

Puget Sound Bridge and Dredging Company was contracted to build the structure. The original contract to begin construction was signed May 7, 1920 and called for work to be complete by November 27 for the Dartmouth game — a timetable of six months and 20 days. A unique method of excavation known as sluicing — in which earth is displaced by high pressure water — was used to clear the area. In all, 230,000 cubic yards of earth was moved using 687,000,000 gallons of water. The original crown on the playing field reached a height of 18 inches.

Plans for the stadium called for a four-lane track and the structural drawings called for stands that would allow patrons to "view the entire running track without rising or having his view obstructed by the person sitting adjacent to him." The study resulted in an elliptical form being adopted.

A "sunken passage" was built to separate the fans from the field while also providing drainage for the field and facility. Drainage was a major concern of construction since it was calculated that one inch of rain fall on the structural portion of the stadium would accumulate 36,000 gallons of water.

The aisles and seating patterns were planned so that the original capacity crowd of 30,000 could exit the stadium in seven minutes.

The stadium was completed on time despite 46 days of rain during the construction period. Final work was finished 12 hours before kickoff of the inaugural game.

The stadium experienced further growth in 1936 when 10,000 above-grade seats were added around the rim of the structure, upping capacity to 40,000.

In 1950, Husky Stadium was again expanded when roof-covered stands were added to the south side. Approximately 15,000 additional seats, at a cost of $1.7 million, offered excellent viewing between the goal posts.

A cantilevered steel roof partially covered all seats in the upper deck and approximately 6,000 seats in the lower stands. In the rear of the structure, two silo-shaped ramps provided access to the upper deck concourses.

The two-level press box and camera deck areas were also installed as part of the 1950 project. The view available for approximately 75 members of the press is 165 feet above the stadium floor. The south side elevator was also part of the 1950 construction project.

Stadium capacity jumped from 55,000 to more than 59,000 in 1968 when 3,000 seats were added to the north rim and portable bleachers were installed beyond the east end zone. AstroTurf replaced the old grass field in 1968, the same year an all-weather track was installed around the football playing field. Washington was the first major college to install an AstroTurf field. At the time, the Houston Astrodome was the only other facility to use the playing surface. Because of the lack of similar fields, the Huskies stocked over 200 pairs of shoes for opponents to use during games. The original artificial turf was replaced in 1972, 1977, 1987 and, mostly recently, in the summer of 1995.

In 1987, Husky Stadium expanded once again, adding 13,000 new seats. The $13 million project, performed by Lydig Construction of Spokane, brought the capacity to 72,500. The hallmark facet of the construction was a glass-enclosed reception area with a field view from goal line to goal line. Besides serving as an entertainment center on game days, the Don James Center has the capabilities to host major banquets or social events.

During the summer of 1990, the wooden bleachers in the north upper deck were replaced with new aluminum seating. The same process was repeated for the south upper deck in the summer of 1992.

The north deck seats are accessible by ramp or elevator. Husky Stadium possesses 49,580 sideline seats, or 68 percent of total capacity.

In 1989, all major construction in Husky Stadium was concluded with the replacement of the west stands. The $3.7 million facelift gives Husky fans better seating, more concession stands and restrooms, a new first aid room, police security area and photo deck.

In preparation for the 1990 Goodwill Games, Husky Stadium became the beneficiary of a brand new eight-lane synthetic surface track in the summer of '89. The $1.5 million gift from the Seattle Organizing Committee provides athletes with a world-class facility. Husky Stadium hosted the track and field competition and the opening and closing ceremonies of the 1990 Goodwill Games.

What They're Saying About Husky Stadium

"It's always loud, but this game was really loud, especially at crunch time. When they start stomping and clapping, you can feel the metal rattle in your helmet."

— David Richie, Washington defensive tackle on the 1995 Army game

"70,000 screaming, yelling and stomping — that crowd was probably the biggest difference. The acoustics here are amazing, a huge factor. I've been around C-130 transports a lot, and this almost felt like I was on a runway."

— Army defensive tackle Al Roberts

"Washington's ability to attract fans in an urban area speaks to the overall tradition, size, and influence of the university. Huskies are everywhere. It speaks also to the unique venue and experience that is Husky Stadium, the stroll down from the hill and through the campus, the mountains melting with the horizon, the boats, the lake, the rain, the chill, the thrill of old-fashioned football."

— John Owens, Seattle Post-Intelligencer

"I knew it would be a very, very difficult place to play. But I thought it was really a class atmosphere of Washington and I thought the fans, the administration, it was just a great environment. They were so rabid for their own team, but with real class. They didn't try to tear you down or anything else, but they cheered for their team and showed respect for Notre Dame and I think that is a very healthy environment."

— Notre Dame coach Lou Holtz after the 1995 Irish game at Washington

"The enthusiasm and intensity of the Husky crowd is unreal."

— Brady Brownlee, former Husky kicker.

Husky Hall of Fame

The University of Washington inaugurated a Hall of Fame in 1979 to "...honor and preserve the memory of those athletes, teams, coaches and members of the athletic staff who have contributed in a very outstanding and positive way to the promotion of the University of Washington athletic program."

Some 109 individuals and 12 teams have been inducted to the Washington Hall of Fame in an annual special ceremony. In 1994, the Hall of Fame Induction Ceremony was moved to the spring to coincide with the Purple-White game.

Huskies vs. The Heisman Winners

Bruce Smith - 1941 Minnesota 14, Washington 6

Smith accounted for both Minnesota touchdowns as the Golden Gophers outlasted Washington in Husky Stadium. Minnesota dominated the game, outgaining the Huskies 236 to 85, but did not put the game away until late. Smith's first touchdown came in the second quarter on a seven-yard touchdown run, followed later by a one-yard plunge to seal the game in the fourth quarter. Washington's lone touchdown came on a 14-yard run by Ernie Steele, but the kick failed.

Leon Hart - 1949 Notre Dame 27, Washington 7

Notre Dame ran its winning streak to 30 games with a 27-7 win at Husky Stadium in front of a record 41,510 fans. Washington scored first on a 45-yard touchdown pass from Don Heinrich to Roland Kirkby in the first quarter, but then watched the Fighting Irish rattle off 27 straight points for the win. Hart scored Notre Dame's first two touchdowns on a 27-yard second quarter touchdown catch and a 14-yard scoring run in the third quarter to put the Irish ahead 13-7 on the way to the victory.

Joe Bellino - 1960 Navy 15, Washington 14

Washington limited Bellino to 53 yards on 14 carries but lost the game with 2:14 to play when Navy converted a 32-yard field goal attempt. Neither team put on much of an offensive show as third-ranked Washington outgained the 17th-ranked Midshipmen 193-69. Bellino scored the first Navy touchdown on a one-yard plunge in the first quarter, but the extra point was no good, as was the two-point conversion try on Navy's next touchdown, leaving Washington ahead 14-12. The Huskies had scored on a 31-yard pass from Bob Schloredt to Don McKeta and a three-yard run by Ray Jackson, setting the stage for the game-winning field goal.

Terry Baker - 1962 Washington 14, Oregon State 13

Baker's all-around effort nearly lifted the Beavers to an upset of the seventh-ranked Huskies, but a missed extra point allowed Washington to pull out a 14-13 victory. Baker, who passed for 144 yards and two touchdowns and ran for 85 yards, accounted for both Beaver touchdowns as he connected with Vern Burke on six- and 10-yard scoring plays. Husky running back Junior Coffey racked up 113 yards, including a 43-yard touchdown run to tie the score at 7-7 in the second quarter. Later, with Oregon State leading 13-7 after the failed extra point, Coffey helped lead the Huskies downfield on the game-winning scoring drive, capped off by a Charlie Mitchell touchdown run. Baker rounded out his performance by punting seven times for 271 yards.

Mike Garrett - 1965 Southern California 34, Washington 0

The eighth-ranked Trojans rolled over Washington as 34-0 as Garrett gained a total of 175 yards on 31 carries. Washington managed just 130 yards in total offense, and crossed the 50-yard line on only two occasions. Trojan quarterback Troy Winslow completed all 11 passes he threw, for 105 yards, as he and Garrett led USC to 445 total yards against the unranked Huskies.

Gary Beban - 1967 UCLA 48, Washington 0

Beban had one of his finest outings ever as the fourth-ranked Bruins dominated Washington from start to finish. Beban passed for three touchdowns and ran for another in leading the Bruins to a 41-0 halftime lead. He threw 36 yards to Dave Nuttall for UCLA's fifth touchdown and then completed the first half scoring spree with a 42 yard touchdown pass to Harold Busby. The Bruins outgained the Huskies 500-84 in total offense, as Beban completed 14-of-22 passes for 289 yards. Washington completed just four-of-15 passes for 40 yards.

O.J. Simpson - 1968 Southern California 14, Washington 7

The top-ranked Trojans, led by Simpson, narrowly avoided a major upset in Los Angeles at the hands of unranked Washington before escaping with a 14-7 win. Simpson scored the game's first touchdown on a one-yard dive in the first quarter, on his way to a 173-yard, 33-carry performance. Washington tied the game in the third quarter when Buddy Kenamer scored from eight yards out, but missed two later opportunities as the Trojans tacked on another touchdown for the win. With the score tied 7-7, the Huskies took over at the USC 20 after a

Simpson fumble and drove to the one-yard line where they failed to convert a fourth-and-one play. Two plays later Simpson was nearly tackled for a safety but broke free and led the Rose Bowl-bound Trojans on the game-winning touchdown drive which he capped with a nine-yard scoring scamper. Washington responded by driving to the USC seven-yard line but fumbled the ball away.

Jim Plunkett - 1970 Stanford 29, Washington 22

Plunkett made a strong statement to Heisman voters by setting an NCAA record for career passing yardage, throwing for 268 yards and four touchdowns to bring his career total to 7,088 yards. Plunkett surpassed the old mark of 7,076 set by Steve Ramsay of North Texas State as he led the Indians to a 29-22 triumph in a see-saw battle at Stanford Stadium. Washington took an early 7-0 lead when Jim Krieg returned the opening kickoff 95 yards for a touchdown. Stanford then came back with three straight Plunkett touchdown passes in the first quarter to go ahead 21-7 before Washington quarterback Sonny Sixkiller brought the Huskies back, running for one touchdown, passing for another and completing a two-point conversion pass for a 22-21 lead. But the Heisman-bound Plunkett brought his team back in the fourth quarter with a touchdown and two-point conversion to seal the win for the sixth-ranked Indians and vault them into the Rose Bowl for the first time since 1952.

Charles White - 1979 Southern California 24, Washington 17

White showed his true Heisman form by marching all over the Huskies for 243 yards on 38 carries as the second-ranked Trojans pulled out a 24-17 win on their way to the Rose Bowl. Washington, which entered the game ranked 16th, staged a late rally to tie the game at 17 on a one-yard run by Tom Flick and a 12-yard touchdown pass from Flick to Paul Skansi. Flick finished with 245 yards on 18-for-28 passing. White led the Trojans to their final touchdown nearly single-handedly before Marcus Allen covered the final 10 yards for the score and the victory in one of the most exciting games ever played in Husky Stadium. Washington then drove to the Trojan two-yard line after a Mark Lee 40-yard punt return but could not score.

Marcus Allen - 1981 Washington 13, Southern California 3

Allen may have won the battle, pounding out 155 yards on 38 carries, but the unranked Huskies won the war by upsetting the third-ranked Trojans, keeping themselves in contention for a Rose Bowl berth. USC took a 3-0 lead in the second quarter but did not score again while Washington tallied 13 special teams points on a wet and windy day at Husky Stadium. Despite yielding 155 yards to Allen, the Husky defense stood tall and kept USC out of the end zone, the first time the Trojans had been denied a touchdown since 1967. The game was tied 3-3 in the fourth quarter until Chuck Nelson converted a 46-yard field goal and the Huskies recovered a fumble on the ensuing kickoff for a 13-3 lead.

Desmond Howard - 1991 Washington 34, Michigan 14

Washington's dominating defense overwhelmed Michigan's high-powered attack and Heisman Trophy winner Howard as the second-ranked Huskies defeated the fourth-ranked Wolverines 34-14 in the Rose Bowl to earn a share of the first national championship. Howard was limited to just one reception for 35 yards in his last game as a Wolverine as the Husky secondary frustrated him all day. Washington quarterback Billy Joe Hobert sparked the Husky offense by scoring on a two-yard touchdown run for the first of Washington's 34 points and threw for two touchdowns as Washington won its second straight Rose Bowl, capping a perfect 12-0 season.

Eddie George - 1995 Ohio State 30, Washington 20

Eddie George played a key role in the 10th-ranked Buckeyes' victory against the Huskies at Ohio Stadium. George rushed for 212 yards (a career high at the time) and scored a pair of touchdowns to spark Ohio State. His second score, a 16-yard run in the third quarter, gave the Buckeyes a commanding 30-7 lead. George rushed for 149 yards by halftime. His rushing total was the 10th best against a Husky team.

Glossary of Medical Terms

A-C Joint - Acromioclavicular joint; joint of the shoulder where acromion process (of the scapula) and the distal end of the clavicle meet; most shoulder separations occur at this point.

Abduct - Movement of any extremity away from the body.

Abrasion - Any injury which rubs off the surface of the skin.

Abscess - An infection which produces pus; can be the result of a blister, callus, penetrating wound or laceration.

Achilles Tendon - The tendon at the back of the heel.

Adduct - Movement of an extremity toward the body.

Adductor - Any muscle which moves a part toward the median axis of the body.

Adhesion - Abnormal adherence of collagen fibers to surrounding structures during immobilization following trauma or as a complication of surgery which restricts normal elasticity of the structures involved.

Aerobic - Exercise in which energy needed is supplied by oxygen inspired; required for sustained periods of hard work and vigorous exercise.

Anterior - In front of; the front surface.

Anterior Cruciate Ligament (ACL) - Ligament of knee attaching to anterior tibial plateau and posterior medial aspect of femoral condyle. It provides stability in keeping the lower leg from coming forward.

Anti-Inflammatory - Any agent which prevents inflammation.

Arthrogram - X-ray technique for joints using air and/or dye injected in affected area (to show torn cartilage or rotator cuff tears).

Arthroscope - An instrument used for visualization of the interior of a joint cavity; sometimes referred to as "scope."

Arthroscopy - Examination of the internal structures of a joint by means of surgical viewing apparatus (arthroscope) inserted into the joint.

Atrophy - To shrivel or shrink from disuse, as in muscular atrophy.

Auulsion - A tearing away forcibly of a part of structure.

Axilla - The armpit.

Bicep - Muscle on the front of the upper arm responsible for bending the elbow.

Bruise - A discoloration of the skin due to an extravasation of the blood into the underlying tissues.

Burner - Common term for brachial plexus trauma in the neck. Usually results in burning or tingling sensation into the shoulder or arm when the neck is forced beyond the normal range of motion.

Calcaneus - The heel bone.

Calf - Also known as gastrocnemius; muscle responsible for plantar-flexing, or pointing the toes down, the foot.

Capsule - An enclosing structure which surrounds the joint and contains ligaments which stabilize that joint.

Cartilage - Smooth, slippery substance preventing two ends of bones from rubbing together and grating.

Cellulitis - Inflammation of cellular or connective tissue.

Charley Horse - A bruise to the quadriceps resulting from a direct blow to the front of the thigh, characterized by intramuscular bleeding. No other injury should be called a charley horse.

Clavicle - The collar bone.

Collagen - A substance existing in commonly injured tissues of the body, including skin, cartilage, ligaments, and bone.

Concussion - Jarring injury of the brain resulting in disfunction. Can be graded mild, moderate or severe depending on loss of consciousness, amnesia and loss of equilibrium.

Congenital - Existing before birth; to be born with.

Contusion - An injury to the muscles and tissue caused by a blow from a blunt object.

Costochondral - The cartilage that separates the bones within the rib cage.

Cranium - The bony framework of the head composed of eight cranial bones, the 14 bones of the face and the teeth.

Dehydration - Loss of body water.

Disc - A flat, round-like, plate structure usually referring to cartilage between vertebrae.

Distal - Away from.

Ecchymosis - Bleeding into the surface tissue below the skin, resulting in a "black and blue" effect.

Efferent - Away from, pushing out from center.

Effusion - Accumulation of fluid, or the fluid itself, in various spaces in the body. Commonly found in the knee following injury.

Electrolyte - Ionized salts in blood, tissue fluids and cells including salts of sodium, potassium and chlorine.

EMG - Electromyogram test to check nerve function.

Epicondylitis - Inflammation in the elbow due to overuse of either the flexor or extensor muscles attaching to the medial or lateral epicondyle of the humerus.

Eversion - Turning outward.

Extensor - A muscle which upon contraction results in straightening a joint.

Extrinsic - From without.

Fascia - A connective tissue sheath consisting of fibrous tissue and fat which unites the skin to the underlying tissues.

Femur - Thigh bone.

Fibula - The smaller of the two bones in the lower leg, located to the outside.

Flexion - Bending a joint, as in flexing the arm or leg.

Flexor - A muscle which upon contraction flexes or bends.

Fracture - Breach in continuity of a bone. Types of fractures include simple, compound, comminuted, greenstick, incomplete, impacted, longitudinal, oblique, stress, or transverse.

Groin - Junction of the thigh and abdomen.

Hamstring - Muscle running from the buttocks to behind the knee. Often injured as a result of improper conditioning or lack of muscle of muscle flexibility. Muscle responsible for flexing the knee joint.

Heat Stroke - Condition of rapidly rising internal body temperature that overwhelms the body's mechanisms for release of heat.

Heat Exhaustion - Mild form of shock caused by loss of fluid and electrolytes from the circulation because of excessive sweating when exposed to heat.

Heat Cramps - Painful muscle spasms of arms or legs caused by excessive body heat and depletion of fluids and electrolytes.

Hip Pointer - Contusion to the iliac crest.

Humerus - Bone of the upper arm.

Hyperextension - Extreme extension, or straightening, of a limb or body part.

Inferior - Lower, beneath, toward the bottom.

Intrinsic - Inherent or inside.

Isokinetic Exercise - A form of active resistive exercise in which the speed of movement of the limb is controlled by a pre-set rate-limiting device, such as Cybex, Biodex, etc.

Isokinetic - A constant speed and consistent resistance exercise.

Lateral - To the outside of the body.

Lateral Collateral Ligament (LCL) - Ligament of knee attaching lateral femoral condyle and to fibula head. It provides lateral stability to the knee.

Ligament - Band of fibrous tissue that connects bone to bone or bone to cartilage and supports and strengthens joints.

Magnetic Resonance Imaging (MRI) - Provides highly detailed pictures of the body's interior, using highly magnetic fields.

Medial - Pertaining to or near the middle.

Medial Collateral Ligament - Ligament of knee attaching medial femoral condyle and to medial tibia. It provides medial stability to the knee.

Metacarpals - Five long bones of hand, just below fingers.

Myositis - Inflammation of a muscle.

Neuritis - Inflammation of a nerve.

Orthotic - Any device applied to or around the body in the care of physical impairment or disability, commonly used to control foot mechanics.

Parasthesia - Sensation of numbness or tingling, indicating nerve irritation.

Patella - The kneecap.

Patella Tendinitis - Inflammation of the patella tendon.

Pathology - The study of the nature and cause of disease.

Pectorals - Chest muscles beneath breast, leading up to shoulder.

Phlebitis - Inflammation of a vein.

Plantar Fascia - The tight band of muscle beneath the arch of the foot.

Plica - A fold of tissue in the joint capsule and a common result of knee injury.

Posterior - At the back part, or rear of the body.

Posterior Cruciate Ligament (PCL) - Ligament of the knee attaching to posterior tibial plateau and anterior lateral aspect of femoral condyle. It provides stability in keeping the lower leg from going backward.

Pronation - Moving of the forearm into a palm down position.

Quadriceps (Quads) - The four powerful muscles in the front of the thigh, responsible for extending the knee joint.

Radius - Forearm bone on thumb side.

Rotator Cuff - Comprised of four muscles in the shoulder area: supraspinatus, infraspinatus, teres minor, and subscapularis. Often irritated by overuse.

Scan - Injection of radioactive fluid (equal in radioactivity to about one x-ray) which may then be displayed on a computer/monitor or film (e.g. bone scan).

Scapula - The shoulder blade.

Sciatic Nerve - Largest nerve in body located in back of leg which controls most of its function.

Shin Splint - A catch-all syndrome describing pain either in the front of the lower leg or on the inner aspect of the leg.

Spasm - Sudden, violent, involuntary contraction of a muscle.

Spleen - Large, solid organ responsible for the normal production and destruction of blood cells.

Stinger - Common term for brachial plexus trauma in the neck.

Strain - A muscle injury. The pulling or twisting of a muscle or tendon.

Stress X-Ray - A continual x-ray taken when a portion of the body is stressed to its maximum to see if the ligaments are intact.

Stress Fracture - A hair-line type of break in bone caused by overuse.

Stretching - Any therapeutic maneuver designed to lengthen (elongate) pathologically shortened soft-tissue structures and thereby increase range of motion.

Subluxation - Partial dislocation of a joint. Term usually implies that joint can return to normal position without formal reduction.

Superior - In anatomy, the upper of the two parts; toward the top or above.

Supination - Moving the forearm into a palm-up position.

Tendinitis - Inflammation of the tendon and/or tendon sheath, often caused by chronic overuse and/or sudden injury.

Tibia - Larger of the two bones in lower leg; weight-bearing bone.

Trachea - The windpipe.

Trapezius - A flat triangular muscle covering the posterior surface of the neck and shoulder.

Turf Toe - Sprain of the metatarsophalangeal (MTP) joint of the great toe.

Ulnar Nerve - Nerve in the elbow commonly irritated from excessive throwing or repeated trauma.

Wrist - The junction between the two forearm bones (radius and ulna) and the eight wrist bones (trapezium, trapezoid, capitate, hamate, pisiform, triquetrum, lunate and scaphoid).

The Apple Cup

Dogs and cats.

Could there be a more natural rivalry?

Huskies and Cougars.

The annual matchup when Washington meets Washington State is definitely one of the best rivalries in college football today. Up for grabs each year is the Apple Cup, a trophy sponsored by the Washington State Apple Commission and presented by the state's governor.

This gridiron battle actually has two histories. The series dates back to 1900 when the teams played to a 5-5 tie in Seattle, but only since 1962 has the winner been awarded the Apple Cup. Washington holds a 57-26-6 record in the 89-game series, and is 25-10 in Apple Cup games.

Like most rivalries, each game is a new chapter with unpredictable results, regardless of records, momentum or history. It is a game based more on emotion and determination than scouting reports and talent.

Though the schools are on opposite sides of the state, creating a natural geographic split among fans, the annual meeting on the gridiron splits the state in so many other ways — sometimes between members of the same family. Such was the case in 1990 when Husky freshman Travis Hanson waged a personal kicking battle with his brother Jason, the Cougars' All-American place kicker.

But while individual stories give the Apple Cup its character, its enormity and magnitude come from the number of times the game has determined Rose Bowl fate for either team. In 1981 the two teams met in Seattle with a trip to Pasadena at stake along with the Apple Cup trophy — Washington prevailed 23-10.

Perhaps the most shocking upset in the series came in 1982 when the Huskies carried a 9-1 record and an eight-game Apple Cup winning streak into the contest, and needed only to defeat a 2-7-1 Cougar squad to make a third straight Rose Bowl appearance.

Washington, which had held the number-one national ranking for seven weeks earlier in the season, had knocked off two top-10 teams in its previous two games and appeared to be on a roll that would carry it to Pasadena. But the inspired Cougars, playing the Apple Cup at Martin Stadium for the first time since 1954, stunned the Huskies with a 24-20 defeat. The celebration in Pullman began immediately as jubilant Cougar fans poured onto the field to remove the goal posts, and carried them to the Palouse River for a trip downstream.

Washington seemed certain to take the lead and avoid the upset in the fourth quarter when All-American kicker Chuck Nelson set up for a 33-yard field goal with the Huskies trailing 21-20. But Nelson missed, halting his NCAA record for consecutive field goals at 30 as the Cougars went on to victory.

If the '82 game was the most shocking, the '85 game in Husky Stadium goes down as one of the coldest on record. Five days before the game it began snowing in Seattle and did not stop until there was more than a foot on the ground. The city was nearly paralyzed and the turf in Husky Stadium, while clear of snow, was frozen solid under the Arctic conditions. UW officials swept the snow from the seats and had to fill the toilets in the stadium with anti-freeze to keep them in working order.

The fans who braved the elements saw WSU running back Rueben Mayes skitter his way to 167 rushing yards as the Cougars defeated Washington 21-20.

The most impressive comeback in Apple Cup history belongs to the Huskies in 1975, when they turned a 27-14 deficit into a thrilling 28-27 victory in the final 3:01. The Cougars had the ball at the Husky 14-yard line and a chance to pad the lead, when they unexplainably put the ball in the air. Husky Al Burleson intercepted the ill-advised pass and returned it 93 yards for a touchdown. Washington then held the Cougars on their next possession and took over on their own 22-yard line with 1:56 remaining. One play later they led 28-27. On first down, Warren Moon passed the ball in the direction of a mob in the center of the field. It hit WSU's Tony Heath and ricocheted into the hands of Husky receiver Spider Gaines, who took it all the way for a 78-yard touchdown play. Two touchdowns in a little over a minute, and the Huskies were victorious in Don James's first Apple Cup.

The past two seasons have seen wild Apple Cup finishes. The 1995 affair was settled with just over a minute to play when John Wales booted a 21-yard field goal to give Washington a 33-30 victory. Rashaan Shehee ran for 212 yards and three scores for the Huskies while Cougar quarterback Ryan Leaf, in his first career start, passed for 291 yards and one score.

In 1996, in Pullman, the Huskies jumped out to a 24-point lead in the third quarter thanks to Corey Dillon's 155 rushing yards on 38 carries. Dillon recorded three TDs to cap his career. Cougar quarterback Ryan Leaf rallied WSU with 24 unanswered points and when Wales field goal was just left the game went into overtime. Brock Huard found Jerome Pathon for a three-yard score to give UW the lead. On fourth down, Leaf's pass to Chad Carpenter was caught just out of bounds to end the contest.

Since Washington's eight-game winning streak (1974-81), neither team has won more than three straight Apple Cup contests.

Apple Cup Barbs

There have been many zingers tossed out between the Cougars and Huskies over the years, regarding the Apple Cup and the cross-state rivalry. Here are a few of the most colorful:

"They've got a lot of great dancers on their team. Too bad they can't hit as well as they dance."

—WSU's Timm Rosenbach after a 34-19 loss, 1987

"There are four important stages in your life. You're born, you play the Huskies, you get married and you die."

—WSU guard Dan Lynch, 1984

"I've always felt being a Cougar prepares you well for life. You learn not to expect too much."

—UW coach Don James, 1983

"Nobody in the press box, no other coach made that decision. I made the choice. The kids thought we should try a pass. I stupidly agreed."

—WSU coach Jim Sweeney after miracle Husky comeback, triggered by an interception, 1975

"I thought they might give it to me. Those are good at home, but we weren't at home."

—Chuck Nelson after first miss in 30 tries, 1982

"Nothing in my job - not the Rose Bowls, not the holiday bowls, nothing - is more important than beating the University of Washington."

—WSU coach Jim Walden, 1982

"I'm a 2,000 word underdog."

—Don James on Jim Walden, 1985

"To just think about losing this game makes me want to puke. It would absolutely disgust me."

—UW guard Trevor Highfield, 1995

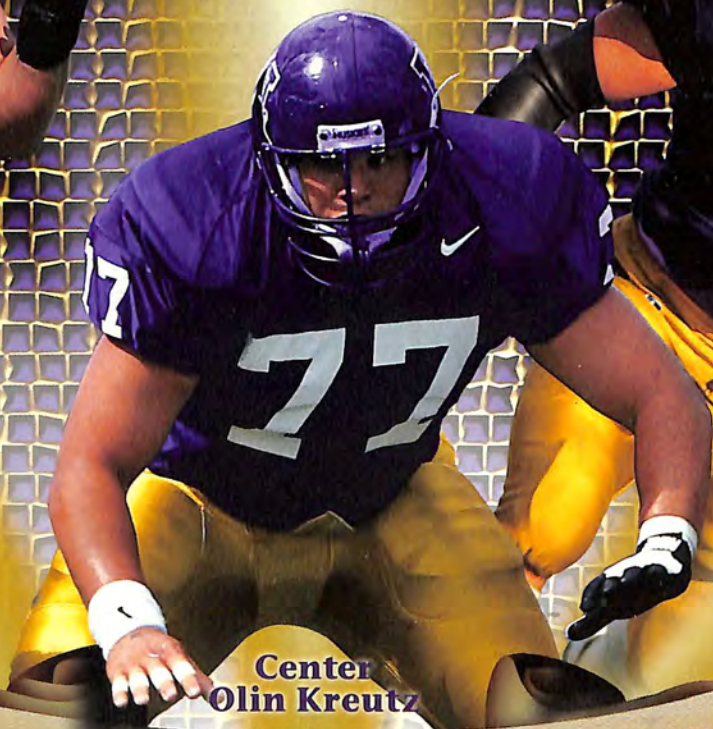

"When I don't feel like running that extra lap or doing the 20 extra reps on the bench press, the thing that motivates me is the Cougars."

—UW fullback Richard Thomas, 1995
